For three years British Columbia has been experimenting with forest jail camps as one phase of a program of penal reform.

This week the government opened the camps for a tour by newspapermen.

On Page 31 Times reporter Norman Cribbens begins a two-part article on the way the camps operate.

Merchants To Defy Closing Law

Open defiance of the Wednesday afternoon closing law was promised today by all Victoria City drug stores and some small retailers.

And at least one gas station owner announced he would stay open Sunday, also in defiance of the law.

Chief John Blackstock announced Tuesday the police would crack down on merchants who refused to obey the municipal by-law which calls for a five-and-one-half-day week.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said today the crack-down came on the insistence of the Six-Day Shopping Week committee, which represents merchants who wish the Wednesday closing law wiped off the books.

He said the committee, through spokesman Archie Wills, served notice at a finance committee meeting Sept. 8 that it would press for strict obedience of the law, if a six-day week was not tried for a year.

The mayor said city council had earlier agreed to review the closing law in September, and this review was now under way.

WANTS LAW AMENDED

Mr. Wills denied that the six-day committee was insisting on enforcement of the law. "We want the law amended, so all stores can stay open Wednesdays if they wish," he said. "The present law is on the books; it is not up to us to demand enforcement, that's up to the police commission."

John Weicker, president of the South Vancouver Island Retail Druggists' Association, said a poll of Victoria stores today showed that all would remain open.

"They will do so under a clause in the act which states goods may be sold in an emergency."

"The druggists have decided that such items as aspirin and cough syrup are bought in an emergency, whether or not there is a doctor's prescription."

(The act states that druggists may remain open Wednesday afternoon and Sunday only to fill prescriptions.)

PC Leader Doesn't Like Debate Rules

VANCOUVER (CP)—Deane Finlayson, British Columbia Conservative leader, has turned down an offer to debate the Social Credit government's financial policies with Premier Bennett because the premier's rules aren't acceptable.

Mr. Finlayson took up what he calls the premier's public challenge to debate the issue Saturday. But Mr. Bennett said Tuesday the debate must be in the presence of only a team of financial experts and must be limited to a comparison of Ontario's Conservative government financing and that of the B.C. Social Credit government.

Mr. Finlayson said Tuesday night that putting up a panel of experts would be like a man on trial appointing his own jury. Besides, public money is being spent and the public has a right to hear the debate, he said.

Premier Bennett has been quoted earlier as saying he would debate the merits of his debt reduction plan publicly with opponents.

Fliers Escape Crash

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—An Air Force C-124 Globemaster carrying eight men crashed while landing at Tinker Air Force base today. The $1,700,000 plane exploded on impact, a base spokesman said, but none of the eight was killed.

MURDER SUSPECT'S MOTHER TO APPEAR

Youth in Court This Week

A 16-year-old boy charged with murdering Charles Mudge, 38, 3460 Metcoshin, will appear in a juvenile court Thursday or Friday.

It was not certain today whether the court will be held in the Veterans' Hospital room where the youth has been under guard since Sunday, or in a regular court room.

Mr. Mudge was found shot to death after his 28-year-old wife Phyllis stumbled 75 yards to a neighbor's house to raise the alarm that ended in the accused boy's capture.

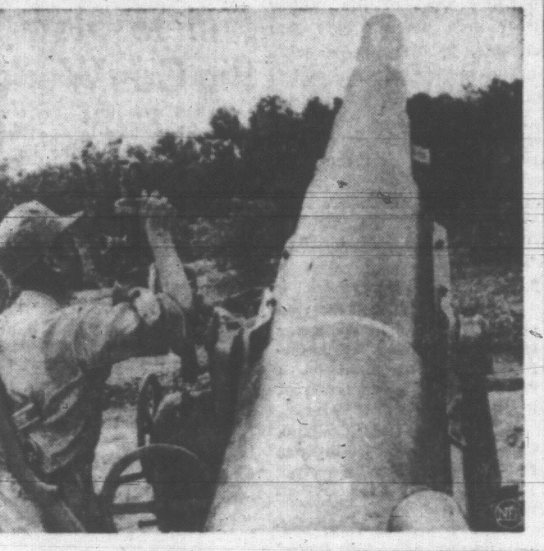

Mrs. Mudge's father, John Brand, 70, was also found shot to death in the bungalow home.

Phyllis Mudge, recovering in St. Joseph's Hospital from cuts and bruises inflicted when the killer attacked her, was reported in "good condition" today, but she is not allowed visitors.

Condition of the 16-year-old, the Mudgett foster-son, is "improving, although sometimes he is not coherent in speech."

The boy's mother is one of the witnesses notified to appear at the special court to be presided over by Magistrate A. L. Thomas. Another witness will be Miss Ruby McKay, superintendent of child welfare. The accused is a ward of her department.

Ford Workers Stage Walkout

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers at Ford plants across the country began walking off the job at the 11 a.m., EDT (8 a.m., PDT), strike deadline today even as the union and Ford agreed there had been a new offer which might solve the dispute.

ATOM SUB ON RECORD VOYAGE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The atom-powered submarine Seawolf apparently has eclipsed all undersea endurance records.

The Seawolf, second nuclear sub built by the U.S., left New London, Conn., Aug. 5 for extended undersea operations and the navy has made no announcement since on its progress.

That was 43 days ago. A high navy source said today it was a "good guess" the sub has been submerged the entire time.

There were indications the navy is shooting for a 60-day underwater record.

The previous record has been held by the Skate, which completed a run of 31 days five hours completely submerged last May.

UAW president Walter Reuther hurried from the meeting room 10 minutes before the deadline and told reporters that the company had added something new.

But, he said, the strike machinery was in motion and that the union had no way of holding its workers on the job past the strike hour.

Reuther indicated the union would take only a short time to consider Ford's latest offer and there was general belief it would be accepted, ending the strike.

RETROACTIVE PAY

Carl Stellato, president of the 50,000-man Ford Local 600, biggest unit in the UAW, said that the company proposed a settlement of the retroactive pay issue, one of the major points at issue in the long negotiations, by offering to make its contract effective as of July 1. Ford workers had been without a contract since the previous pact ran out June 1 and the union had demanded that any new agreement be retroactive to that date.

Stellato also said Ford had offered to increase its basic pension from $2.25 to $2.35 a month for each worker for each year of service. It also offered to continue the annual improvement factor which gives workers six cents an hour or 2 1/2 per cent of their hourly wage, whichever is greater.

Negotiations were in recess at the other two major auto makers, General Motors and Chrysler. Talks there will resume this afternoon with both sides obviously awaiting the outcome of the Ford talks. Any Ford settlement would set a pattern for the other two in the auto industry's big three.

'Pajamas' Ballot Decisive

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—For the second time in a year the government has been defeated in the Senate on a "pajamas and wheelchair" vote.

Labor today summoned its full strength, including Senator Donald Grant, who was convalescing from an operation, to defeat the government 30 votes to 29.

Grant, in pajamas, was brought from hospital in an ambulance and wheeled into the chamber.

In a similar situation a year ago Labor defeated the government's banking legislation.

Traffic Claims Two Victims In 12 Hours

Traffic accidents claimed two lives on Vancouver Island within 12 hours.

Mrs. Doris Nash, 40, was killed when the 1954 sedan she was driving went off Lake Cowichan Road this morning between Mesachie Lake and Lake Cowichan, and Chin Yuk Chun, 1722 1/2 Government, Victoria, was found fatally injured in the middle of Keating Cross-road late Tuesday.

TRAIN DRAGS CAR 300 FEET

ALBURNI—Driver of a car which was pushed the length of a city block along the E & N Railway tracks by a freight train at 8:15 a.m. today is reported to be in deep state of shock but otherwise unharmed.

Frank Ball, Jr., of 904 Ian Avenue, was driving to work when his small car was hit by the train at Latham railway crossing.

The auto was caught on the locomotive's cow-catcher, and carried down the track at least 300 feet before the train pulled to a screeching halt.

Grid Boss To Probe Grey Cup Issue

WINNIPEG (CP)—Football commissioner G. Sydney Halter of Winnipeg said today he would meet officials at Vancouver on Thursday to discuss rental terms for the Grey Cup final at Empire Stadium on Saturday, Nov. 29.

"No agreement has been reached yet, but I am flying to Vancouver for a meeting with Pacific National Exhibition directors or representatives on Thursday afternoon and I hope a satisfactory agreement will be reached," Halter said in an interview.

Halter denied an earlier report that he had written the nine professional clubs asking for permission to change the site of the classic to Toronto's Varsity Stadium. If a rental agreement could not be reached with Vancouver officials.

China UN Seat Believed Doomed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United Nations turned its attention today to the Far East situation after a resounding Western victory in the opening minutes of the 13th General Assembly.

Egypt Claims New UN Chief 'U.S. Agent'

CAIRO (AP)—The Egyptian press attacked today the election of Charles Malik of Lebanon as president of the UN General Assembly.

It charged that he is an "American agent" and was pushed for the presidency by United States "after he became jobless in Lebanon." Malik is foreign minister in the outgoing regime of President Camille Chamoun.

In Beirut, pro-government supporters were jubilant and opposition rebels glum.

In Damascus, Syrian newspapers bitterly attacked Malik. Ash Sham said: "Malik was elected neither as a representative of the Lebanon nor of the Arab states, but as representative of the American and imperialist powers."

Railway Strike Hinges On Bid for Rates Boost

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canada's major rail strike, asked for a 19 per cent increase in freight rates plus a 25 cent a ton boost on coal and coke.

The boosts, if granted, would provide the two railways, the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific, with an additional 60 million dollars revenue. This would in turn meet a conciliation board report recommendation of a 14-cent an hour wage increase for the two railways' 130,000 non-operating employees.

The 15 unions involved have prepared a strike ballot pending settlement of the conciliation board recommendation. Sources said that the board would push aside other business to open hearings of the application Oct. 6.

Both railway presidents, Donald Gordon of the CNR and N. R. Crump of the CPR, asked that the board give quick hearing to the application.

If both sides in the dispute stick to their guns, the board will be faced with the decision of whether to grant the increase or see a national rail strike similar to one in 1950.

The board granted the railways a 3.6 per cent increase in January, only to have their decision overruled by the federal cabinet in an unprecedented move.

Aid to Trading In Commonwealth

MONTREAL (CP)—Britain today dramatically stripped away a big chunk of her import restrictions on goods from Canada and the United States and Finance Minister Fleming called it a "statesmanlike stroke."

Britain's announcement, causing a new flurry of excitement in the Commonwealth trade conference, came less than 24 hours after Mr. Fleming bitterly attacked United Kingdom restrictions, calling them "divisive" and charging they split Canada from the rest of the Commonwealth.

Sir David Eccles, Britain's trade boss, calling a new tune for his country, announced an "almost clean sweep of the controls on dollars imports of industrial, agricultural and office machinery."

Removed also from import controls were newsprint and canned salmon, except salmon from the Soviet bloc.

Starting next year, Britain proposed to remove restrictions on imports of consumers goods and foodstuffs still restricted and set the stage for progressive removal of all other curbs.

Colonies Invited to Remove Curbs

Britain's colonies such as Zanzibar, Uganda, Tanganyika and the West Indies, were "invited" to remove curbs on a "wide range of dollar goods."

All this would mean that Britain was progressively opening her doors to a large flow of goods from Canada, the U.S. and meant she was willing to accept greater completion from Canada, a move that could influence prices and stimulate Canadian exports.

It also meant that Britain also was continuing on the path of complete convertibility of her sterling currency with dollar currency, following Mr. Fleming's urgent appeal Tuesday.

Any U.K. importer ordering unrestricted goods from Canada and other dollars-area countries would be able to convert his pounds into dollars in British banks to pay for these imports.

The announcement was totally unexpected. Canadian officials had hoped that Mr. Fleming's forthright attack would pay off in some partial elimination of Britain's curbs over a period of months or perhaps a year or two. But Britain's Board of Trade president indicated that perhaps complete convertibility would be accomplished within 18 months or so.

Action Followed Fleming Appeal

Sir David threw his blockbuster announcement into the morning session of the Commonwealth trade and economic conference, apologizing for what he described as a long speech. Finance Minister Fleming interjected that if he kept talking in that vein, he could continue speaking for the rest of the conference.

The announcement followed Mr. Fleming's appeal to Britain on Tuesday to remove import curbs on goods from Canada and take the final plunge toward complete convertibility of the pound with dollar currencies.

Sir David's dramatic statement was seen by observers as a victory for Canada and a great move by the Commonwealth towards freer trade.

He preceded his speech with a review of Britain's trade philosophy, maintaining that countries cannot work in isolation; that they had to get away from high, unjustified protection of

CHEST CHAIRMAN WARNS

'Let George Do It' Must Be Curtailed

Giving to the Community Chest is one of the best ways of maintaining a flourishing democracy, campaign chairman Justin Harbord told a luncheon meeting of the industrial-commercial division Tuesday.

"Democracy, like the Chest, was founded in the belief that we each have a share in accepting responsibility for the welfare and needs of our neighbors," he said.

"In these materialistic days there is an increasing tendency to 'Let George Do It' which must be curtailed if we are to keep our society healthy."

"This joint participation is the basis of democracy. Even more so, it is the foundation of the Community Chest. By supporting the Chest you are actually supporting democracy, too."

In other Chest news, the B.C. Government Employees Association has issued a statement pointing out that if payroll deductions for charity are made from civil servants' wages, payments will "not necessarily be restricted to the four major charities in this area."

Said an association official: "If PD is adopted following the vote by employees in October, other charities beside the Chest, Red Cross, Cancer Society and Salvation Army could request grants, too."

In campaign news, a pre-drive meeting of volunteer canvassers in the Odeon Theatre Sept. 28 will feature 20 girls carrying placards bearing the name of individual Red Feather agencies.

Mr. Rutledge said a girls drill team, maybe Victoria Girls Drill Team or the Chinese Girls Drill Team, will carry the cards. The $300,000 campaign drive officially starts the next day with a parade and launching of the Chest balloon near the Empress Hotel.

Meantime, $29,800 has filtered into Chest Headquarters at Spencerhouse so far. Included was one cheque for $950 received Monday.

SECOND BREAK

City Man Gets Jail Term Cut

VANCOUVER (CP) — The second break of the week came Tuesday for John Norwood Caird, 41, Victoria pipe-fitter.

Although his conviction on a drug possession charge was upheld, the Court of Appeal reduced his two-year sentence to six months to run from July 16.

The day before, in Nanaimo, Caird successfully defended himself against a charge of criminal negligence.

Caird was found guilty by Judge L. A. Hanna on the drug charge as a result of paraphernalia found in his clothing when he was taken to Duncan hospital after the March 5 accident which resulted in the criminal negligence charge. Mrs. William Wallace died in the traffic accident.

At the time of the accident, Caird said, he was taking codeine on the prescription of a Victoria doctor in an effort to break his habit and had had no drugs for four days. Codeine, he explained, relieves the withdrawal pains.

"I might have made it that time if it had not been for the accident," said the prisoner, assuring the court of his determination when he is released to keep away from heroin.

MERCHANTS ACROSS THE PROVINCE

nounced it will remain open to 9 p.m. every night as soon as it receives official notification of the Saanich bylaw.

City druggist, Michael Grant, Gran's Pharmacy, 1064 Pandora, said he plans to stay open in defiance of the crackdown.

"It's ridiculous," he said. "We don't hold ourselves above the law. But we have been open for years to serve the public and will continue to do so."

Mr. Grant said he would contest any prosecution laid against him.

Spokesmen for the tourist bureau, automobile club and small confectioners also lashed out at the early and Sunday closing enforcement.

George Warren, speaking for the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and Victoria Automobile Club, said: "We are absolutely in favor of having stores open every day of the week except Sunday. Last year tourists spent at least $5,000,000—that's a low estimate—here and they don't like it when stores are closed."

Service stations are not affected by 1 p.m. Wednesday closing but face prosecution under the Lord's Day Act for opening Sundays.

"Ridiculous!"

Mr. Warren and service station operator Vic Williams said it is "absolutely ridiculous" to deny the motoring public an opportunity to buy gas on Sundays.

"They may just as well legislate against the use of water, electricity and telephones on Sunday," said Mr. Williams.

Confectioner Ken Newbery, 1600 Bay, termed Wednesday 1 p.m. closing a "nuisance law—its purpose is hard to figure out."

He predicted the public would be confused as the bylaw allows confectioners to sell some goods and not others.

"Many of my customers can't shop until after 6 p.m.," he said. Some confectioners close voluntarily on Sunday but "they're not in favor of being told to do it."

Sunday and after 6 p.m. business is "substantial" added Mr. Newbery.

PRESSURE GROUP

He claimed a "pressure group" may be behind the crackdown.

"Independents have been getting a greater share of business in the last two years and the big stores don't like it."

Chief Constable Blackstock refused to say if extra men would be put on the enforcement detail.

Asked the minimum penalty for persons convicted of staying open, he said: "That's up to the magistrate."

One service station operator whose business is closed Sunday said the city prosecutor's department "must secure a fiat from the attorney-general's department before Sunday closing violations can be brought to court."

New Comet Airliner At Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Britain's new Comet IV airliner arrived in Ottawa from England at 1.58 a.m. today after completing its third trans-Atlantic flight.

The plane crossed the ocean twice early in August as it made a return trip from England to New York's Idlewild Airport on a proving flight.

The aircraft, Britain's hope in the race to beat the United States for trans-Atlantic jet airliner passenger traffic, left Hatfield, near London, at 3.21 p.m. Tuesday with a load of salesmen.

The aircraft stopped several hours en route at Gander, Nfld.

The Comet IV will visit Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver, New York and several South American cities.

their domestic industries and from the rigidities of barter and bilateral deals.

"But so far, the free world's work in this field hadn't been sufficient to make a concrete answer to the Communist trade offensive, to the way in which the Reds operated through force, building industries and producing goods often at high cost."

Members of the Commonwealth and other countries in the free world shouldn't try to get wealthy on a policy of "beggars neighbor."

They had to drop all forms of protectionism where possible. They had to give other partners in the free world a chance to survive.

JOB TO DO

And those countries which were striving to boost living standards also had a job to do. They had to drive ahead to expand trade, to find more markets.

It was only by obtaining more trade that they could find the necessary capital required for economic expansion.

Britain had made progress in post-war years toward removal of import restrictions. She had to be careful as she moved ahead because her reserves of dollars and gold were more vital to financial well-being.

There couldn't be a fixed timetable for removal of all remaining restrictions.

Effective immediately, "we propose to make almost a clean sweep of the controls on dollars imports of industrial, agricultural and office machinery. Only a limited range of comparatively specialized machinery will remain subject to control."

Numerous reefs and shoals make navigation difficult in the Torres Strait, between Australia and New Guinea.

Illegal Votes Elected Hoffa Witness Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate racket committee investigator testified today more than half of the votes that elected James R. Hoffa as president of the teamsters' international union, were cast illegally.

Pierre Salinger said he could prove—by the union's own constitution—illegality of 56.2 per cent of the votes for Hoffa at an international convention in Miami last October.

Salinger's testimony was given only a few hours after the teamsters' executive board called for a convention next February in an admitted move to rid itself of court-named supervisors.

The monitors promptly announced they will seek a court order to halt the move and to give them more authority in ordering what they consider needed reforms in the scandal-ridden union.

Hoffa, announcing the board's action early today, described it as an effort to end the monitoring.

He said he expects little or no opposition to his re-election as president.

TWO RESCUED FROM WRECKED FISHBOAT

SEATTLE (AP)—The Coast Guard and commercial fishermen co-operated in rescuing two occupants of the 55-foot fishing boat Hydah of Friday Harbor, which grounded Tuesday night on Cattle Point, San Juan Island.

While flares were dropped from a Coast Guard plane, crewmen of the fishing boat Denny M. took off the Hydah's owner, C. C. Vandersluys of Friday Harbor, and another crewman.

The Hydah was refloated later and escorted to Friday Harbor for repairs.

Terrorists Fail to Blow Big Gas Works

PARIS (Reuters)—Terrorists early today failed in an attempt to blow up one of the largest gas works in Paris.

They cut through a wire fence around the guarded depot at Courneuve, placed their charges under a gas tank and escaped.

The charge exploded but firemen quickly brought the blaze under control.

Terrorists also set fire to papers in the town hall at Cluzed, southeastern France. Records and furniture were destroyed before firemen mastered the blaze.

In St-Aubin-sur-Mer, northern France, four terrorists escaped after setting fire to a barn where wheat was stored.

KAMLOOPS—One man was killed and one injured Tuesday in a head-on collision of two big trucks about seven miles south of Kamloops.

Names of the victim and injured man have not been released.

OLDEST CITIZEN DIES

VANCOUVER—John Andrew Foley, Vancouver's oldest resident, died Monday night in Vancouver General Hospital at the age of 103.

His heart gave out following a minor bout of pneumonia and a cold he caught on his birthday, Sept. 6.

On his last birthday he offered a reporter the secret of his longevity:

"Just don't worry. You're no good for anything if you do."

U.S. Speeding World's Fastest Jets to Formosa

SOMEWHERE IN FORMOSA (Reuters) — American F-104 Star-fighters, the world's fastest and highest-flying interceptor, were arriving at this U.S. air base today at the rate of one every two hours.

They are being carried stripped down and crated in C-124 transports flying from the United States. Correspondents counted 13 F-104s on a field here today.

The planes belong to the 83rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron. The normal strength of the squadron is 25 planes. A spokesman said it was the first time F-104s have travelled outside the United States.

The jets are equipped with side-winder air-to-air missiles plus an array of six 22-millimetre cannons capable of firing 4,000 rounds a minute.

The aircraft have been flown at 1,404 miles an hour at a height of 91,249 feet.

Besieged Islands Receive Supplies

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists succeeded today in delivering two more shipments of supplies to the besieged Quemoy Islands through a hail of Communist fire.

The Nationalist defence ministry said two vessels unloaded all their cargo without suffering damage.

The ships were escorted across Formosa Strait by Nationalist warships and by vessels of the U.S. 7th Fleet which remained outside the three-mile limit.

HUGE CARRIER ARRIVES

The 65,000-ton American aircraft carrier Essex arrived in Formosan waters Tuesday after steaming one-quarter of the way around the world from the 6th Fleet off Lebanon. It joined the 7th Fleet, which the U.S. Navy calls the most powerful single naval force ever assembled.

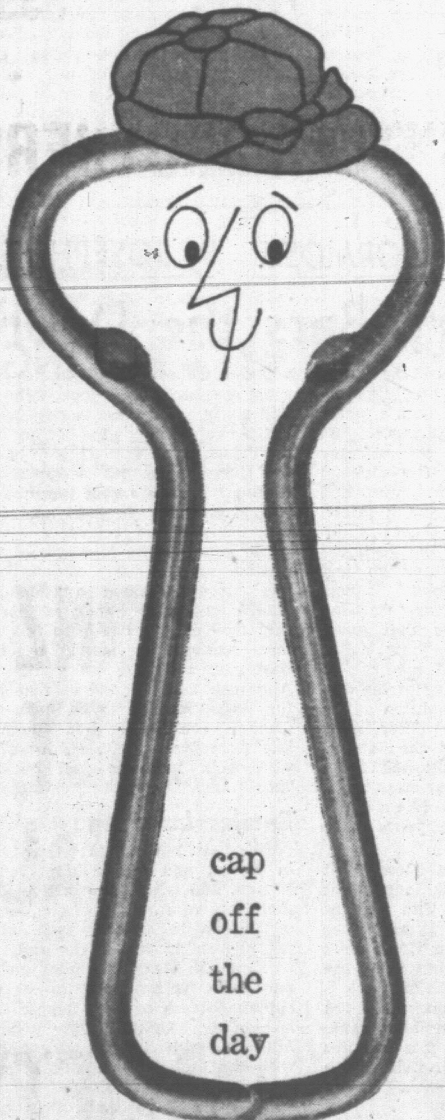

Red-shelling meanwhile went into its 26th day and apparently is aimed now at knocking out Quemoy's artillery, which has been trying to silence guns on the mainland.

The defence ministry said the 1,861 Communist shells that hit overnight were mostly of deeper penetration quality than the anti-personnel fragmentation shells used earlier.

Nearby Little Quemoy also received supplies from another parachute drop without fighter interference. The island gets some supplies by boat at night from Quemoy, two miles away.

MISSILE FIRED FROM SUB

WASHINGTON (AP)—The defence department Tuesday announced the first launching of a Regulus II missile from the deck of a submarine.

The missile was launched Tuesday from a surfaced submarine in the Pacific. It flew a prescribed course of 200 miles inland to Edwards air force base, California.

It caught fire and burned on landing.

The Regulus II has a speed of 1,400 miles an hour and a range of more than 1,000 miles.

AREAS FIRST TOWN PLANNER

Ex-Mayor Morley Dies Here at 96

Alfred J. Morley, a former mayor of Victoria regarded as the man who modernized the city's administrative system and the area's first town planner, died at the Royal Jubilee Hospital Tuesday.

He was 96.

English-born and an engineer by profession, Mr. Morley served five terms as mayor in the early 1900s.

He was the first proponent of amalgamation.

He established the Sooke water system and introduced a large scale street paving, widening and lighting program in Victoria.

He brought to the city the cluster lights still in use today, and started widening Pandora Avenue.

He had planned to widen the street from the E & N Railway station right to Oak Bay. Many homes were expropriated for the project but the widening of the street was never completed after his defeat at the polls.

He was a close friend of P. J. Sinnott, his solicitor and executor.

Mr. Sinnott, who worked for a time as Mr. Morley's secretary, described the former mayor as a "man of vision."

"His ideas for the planning of Victoria were resented by many and political battles were bitter," said Mr. Sinnott.

Mr. Morley had no relatives in Victoria or Canada. All are living in England.

He lived in California for a time before coming to Victoria at the turn of the century.

Let's Consider the Customer

IN ITS MOST RECENT "MONTHLY REVIEW," the Bank of Nova Scotia takes a look at Canada's pulp and paper industry.

The outline of what it sees is phrased in moderate language. This is no alarmist report. It does, however, reveal various developments and trends which are of direct concern to Canada and to British Columbia.

It is particularly the business of this province because British Columbia is swinging to pulp and paper from the lumber industry which made its forest resources B.C.'s chief money earner.

The bank's analysis outlines the unusual expansion which took place in pulp and paper making in Canada during the postwar years—years in which markets were readily available for countries which could produce pulp and paper.

And, as a complementary reference, it defines the increase in capacity in the United States, Canada's leading customer, as well as other countries where our pulp and paper products have been sold.

"In the past year and a half," says the review, "the pulp and paper industry has passed from a period of rising demand and emphasis on expanding capacity to one of much more competitive markets and excess capacity. Although the downturn in demand has been moderate, and will undoubtedly be reversed if the current pickup in U.S. business persists, users' inventories of pulp and newsprint on this continent remain relatively high and further new capacity has been completed during recent months."

This is not a new story. Producers in British Columbia have been pointing out the hard facts for some time. And producers in British Columbia are supplying information of vital concern to all people in this province.

Roughly half the wealth of British Columbia comes from the forests. Last year the money returns on pulp and paper ran to approximately 40 per cent of the amount yielded by all other wood products. By comparison, pulp and paper 10 years ago yielded only about 25 per cent of the amount returned on other wood products.

In other words, British Columbia, with its forest economy swinging heavily toward pulp and paper, is like other parts of Canada, facing very much tougher market conditions.

In many areas to which we shipped, our customers are producing more of their own pulp and paper. We can still produce a better quality than most of the world. But when potential buyers weigh quality against price, it is logical to assume that they will purchase where material is good enough for their purposes, though it may not be the best, if the price is right.

That is a practical consideration which is not obscured by forecasts of the Canadian pulp and paper industry that the long-term outlook for Canada is favorable. It is not hidden, either, by the assurance that woods resources are available for further growth and many of the natural advantages that have favored the development of Canadian industry in the past should continue to operate.

In blunt terms, we have the goods, but they could stay on the shelves if we failed to consider the customer's feelings on the matter of price. And the matter of price will hinge largely on the matter of production costs.

Light in the Shadow

IN A WORLD DARKENED BY increasing international strife and periodically on the brink of war it is refreshing to read of at least one forward step in man's efforts towards peace.

History has afforded few less likely prospects of international amity than the heretofore traditional relations between France and Germany. For generations theirs was a story of wars or preparations for wars, of territories conquered and regained, of distrust and enmity. It took the mutual destruction and chaos of the Second World War to bring to both sides a realization of the futility of further contention.

By gradual steps France and West Germany have since moved towards peace and co-operation. The age-old problem of Alsace-Lorraine was settled, the Saar question found an answer in joint coal and steel production arrangements. Diplomatic partnership was found within the NATO organization. The European common market provides a further unifying force in the economic field.

All these movements have now found expression in a joint statement by the leaders of the two countries, Premier Charles de Gaulle and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Hostility between their peoples, say these spokesmen, is finished "once and for all." From now on "Frenchmen and Germans are called to live in agreement and work side by side."

Their conclusion that constructive work in Europe is dependent on close co-operation between these two key nations is a true one, as true as that the chaos of Europe was largely due to the continuing enmity between them.

The enemies of yesteryear may be the allies of tomorrow. The opposite can also be true, but the present picture of these two "historic enemies" now working side by side for their common benefit is at once an example to others and a bright hope in a world where bright hopes have not been too prevalent in recent times.

Challenge on Mental Hospital

THE VICTORIA BRANCH OF the Canadian Mental Health Association has presented a direct challenge to Provincial Secretary Wesley Black and the Provincial Government.

The branch, deeply disappointed by the recent announcement that plans for a Vancouver Island mental hospital had been shelved, has asked the appropriate minister for a frank statement on the question.

This is the reaction to Mr. Black's explanation that: "We can't build a new hospital when it's impossible to find enough staff workers for Essondale as it is."

The mental health group is not favorably impressed by that statement. Nor is it by the explanation given to the Legislature last February by Mr. Black. At that time the Provincial Secretary reported a widespread shortage of people specially trained for mental hospital work. He said that the Provincial Government was in no position to join an auction for their services at salaries that would disturb to an unacceptable degree the whole pattern of civil service pay schedules.

The president of the Victoria branch of the mental health association asserts that "This implies an unwillingness to offer wages which will attract qualified staff. If there are reasons, not made clear, why the government cannot afford to offer adequate salaries, then surely a frank explanation is due."

That is a point of view doubtless shared by a large number of Vancouver Island residents informed on mental health problems. They may justifiably question the pride with which the Provincial Government has pointed to huge expenditures in other fields—notably highway construction—when it apparently cannot afford funds to attract adequate staff to institutions caring for mental illness.

The Government can scarcely ignore the human suffering entailed in failure to provide a mental hospital on the Island and the added cost such a deficiency imposes on families of mentally ill patients.

As far as the shortage of specially trained personnel is concerned, Mr. Black might profitably look to the general hospitals and note the policy they follow.

Hospitals train their own people—hence the nursing schools. Teachers are available to provide required instruction for mental hospital staffs.

The establishment of a mental hospital at no great distance from Victoria could, moreover, eventually provide facilities for students in the general nursing schools to learn specialized treatment for mental patients—a course which a limited number only of Victoria student nurses can take now by going to Essondale.

In the broader field, construction of such an institution on the island would furnish an appreciable amount of work for people now unemployed. That is an ancillary benefit that would come from such an establishment.

FUGITIVES FROM INJUSTICE

By B. A. TOBIN

Who's Side Ya On?

THE bandit (female, blue-eyed, blonde, age five) shouts "Come on horse, giddyap. I'm goin' to find a Good Guy—and kill him." The desperado gallops off across the lawn and disappears around the end of the house on her happily evil mission. She is no dead-end kid, no product of the city's tenement jungle, but a cheery little youngster without a mean thought in her head. In choosing to be a Bad Guy rather than a Good Guy she is merely conforming to the contemporary trend.

This is a direct reversal of the approved arrangements in my time. In any game of Cops and Robbers, or Cowboys and Indians, the preferred roles were on the side of Good.

The parts of Robbers and of Indians were played with a certain amount of reluctance, by actors acknowledged to be of second-rate distinction. The best shots, fastest runners, strongest wrestlers and loudest shouters in the neighborhood invariably pre-empted the Good Guy roles.

During the First Great War, of course, there was never any hesitation about choice. It was imperative for every boy to own at least a portion of khaki uniform, the semblance of a wooden gun, and such helmets, cartridge cases, belts and holsters as he could gather together.

Dividing Line

These arms were always employed for the benefit of Our Side. It was almost impossible to recruit anybody at all for Their Side, and wartime battles were perforce fought against an unseen, invisible, indeed non-existent, foe.

Throughout all the play of those and later days the same sentiment prevailed. The Good Guys were the ones you should want to be; the Bad Guys were something to avoid when sides were being chosen.

But now all this seems to have changed, and I would like to know why. There are several plausible reasons, but it might be difficult to pick the most important. One is the advent of grey-toned ethics and grey-toned heroes and villains in place of the old black-and-white standards.

In my Cops and Robbers days a Good Guy was a Good Guy and a Bad Guy was just that. There was no shading or averaging, no compromise or meeting halfway.

It is true we accepted Robin Hood, who robbed from the rich and gave to the poor. But even this was slanted in his favor, since for robbery purposes the rich were depicted as Bad and the poor as Good, and hence, even though Robin was a hood, he was a Good Hood.

There was William Tell, too, who gained a name as a repudiator of established authority, but was still considered a hero.

These men, however, were far away from us both in time and place. They were nebulous, almost in the fairy tale class, and did not appear in our games as concrete entities.

Ours were the days before the psychologists got hold of criminals and made them into social cases; the days before the Bad Guy could prove on the psychiatrist's couch that he was merely a victim of circumstances, an escapee from Momism, or a pawn of Freudian fortune.

Not content with revealing the dormant Good Guy in every Bad Guy, the psychologists reversed the process and showed to our amazement that there is a little bit of Bad Guy in every Good Guy. The Hero is a hero, all right, but he is, driven by Narcissism, or perhaps betrays evidences of compulsive exhibitionism, disruptive pre-natal influences, or even a slight disalignment of pro-social urges.

Hard to Tell

In other words the Good Guy and the Bad Guy are not as distinguishable as they once were. From the sociologist's standpoint they may even be brothers under the bandoleer, and I believe some of this thinking has penetrated to the six-gun and saddle seat which today raises the dust in many a grade-school corral.

Another powerful factor in the change, I believe, is the influence of TV drama. The Bad Guy has been found equally as indispensable to the story as the Good Guy; each must be preserved to the bitter end if the hour is to be filled without too many commercials.

Thus the eight-year-old horseman, female, when set upon by her 10-year-old brother, shouts, "Wait! Wait! I'm a Bad Guy. You can't kill me till the end of the story!"

Being a modern Bad Guy thus ensures a sort of temporary permanence, and the old fear of our Cops and Robbers days—that as a Bad Guy you would be eliminated early in the game and left to lie on the boulevard while the Cops enjoyed themselves—has been dissipated.

Made His Mark

Not the least influence in this field has been Zorro. I have not yet met this gentleman face to mask, but I have it on reliable authority that he is a Good Bad Guy, devoting his talents to assisting deserving citizens to outwit their evil Government.

It does little good to remark on occasion that such a preposterous unemployed employable, roistering over prison walls and making monkeys out of the authorities, would not last a moment in this country where the good old Mounties would soon have him under lock and key. Zorro rides on, dressed like a Bad Guy, doing ostensibly Bad Guy's deeds, but good, good, good inside.

No wonder it's hard to recruit a posse of respectable cowboys any more. Every toddler wants to be a kindly villain.

As Our Readers See It

Tithe

If a tithe it be, that $250,000,000 for needy countries of the Commonwealth, our government is to be commended for implementing a promise, made 2,000 years ago: "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse—and prove ye now, here-with, saith the Lord, if I will not open you the windows of Heaven, and pour you out a blessing that there will not be room to receive it." (Malachi, 3:10.) S. A. WHITFIELD.

614 Strandlund Avenue.

Labor and Advice

There are times when thoughtful persons could wonder how credulous or glib the general public can become to swallow statements, hook, line and sinker.

For instance, a Montreal labor leader states that the governments, federal and provincial, should introduce a public works program to take care of unemployment in various areas.

That is in keeping with his address last April in Winnipeg to a Congress of Labor gathering, where he told the federal government, the labor situation required two features: less taxes and more pay.

It shows how ill qualified he is as a labor leader. For instance, here in B.C. we have $2 million dollars worth of construction contracts held up by strikes, some unions being out since last March, the plumbers, electricians, teamsters, etc., the rut we seem to be laboring in and unable to get out of, being this annual revision of labor contracts, all for the purpose of increasing the pay cheque, and or, increasing fringe benefits, more holidays with pay, shorter hours, etc., etc., "ad lib."

Could I suggest, that the leaders of labor unions, if they tried to overcome labor problems, could advise their rank and file—to work, for if they wish to benefit from present day favorable conditions they simply cannot acquire anything by being idle, "only debt."

Any reasonable man knows that here in Canada there is no need for a single man to be idle, but why put this "unemployment baby" at the doors of the governments for them to assume responsibility. 1170 Chapman Street. H. WYER.

Vanished Fleet

Your paper carries the headline: "Job Campaign Urged for Shipyard Workers." Jobs to do what?

Some years ago there were 2,700 ships in the Canadian Merchant Marine. Today, with the sale of the Canadian National's fleet, the sole remaining residue of this one time great fleet is centered in the Great Lakes, which the several rapids on the St. Lawrence had rendered inviolate territory.

Now, with the opening of the new St. Lawrence Seaway vessels of foreign registry will swarm into the Great Lakes and wipe out the remnants of the Canadian mercantile service.

Great Britain is putting newly launched ships either into mothballs or selling them, whenever she can, because world shipping is at an all time low.

No ships, no cargoes, no cargoes no longshoremen, and so on and so forth. Now, in the name of common sense who is going to build new ships in the face of these conditions.

Artillery Bars the Door

THE best commentary on the President's great speech that this reporter can offer must begin with a pretty unimportant personal experience. At 2:30 a.m. Saturday, we set off for Quemoy, Keyes Beech of The Chicago Daily News, Jim Bell of Time and a mixed bag of others motivated by the good old rule: "Better go and have a look." It was one of those wartime departures that make you feel your age—haste and horribly early rising at the outset; distribution of tin hats and other mild drama at the airport; and then an interminable, weary wait followed by a bumpy takeoff in pitch darkness, in a raddled old C-46 that looked like a plain, dumpy woman whom the years have dealt with unkindly.

All the same, we were cheerful at takeoff and throughout the long flight across the Formosa Strait. The word at Taipei, wrong as the word in all higher headquarters, was that the Communist gunners were letting the airstrip on the Quemoy beach pretty much alone.

So it was a sharp surprise when the lanky veteran Chinese captain came back from the cockpit, a few minutes before our landing time, to tell us we had been ordered to turn back.

Heavy Bombardment

All the Quemoy beaches, he said, had been under heavy fire for the last 24 hours. Our destined beach was a honeycomb of shell holes, and Quemoy ground control guessed that 7,000 rounds had landed there in the past hour.

We all felt the mixed disappointment and relief that is best summed up by the old story of the respectable, mid-nineteenth century Lady Jersey. Staying once in a remote district in North England, she found she had to drive 12 miles to the small country church. When the big carriage arrived, there was no service. So Lady Jersey ordered the footman to leave her calling card under the church door, and directed the carriage homeward with the remark:

"Well, children, at least we've done the civil thing."

Here at Tainan, the last-minute effort to beef up the Chinese Air Force has abruptly increased the American contingent from 100 to 500 men. Hence facilities are a bit straitened. Yet the clear-eyed C-46 was received with the customary hospitality of American soldiers in wartime.

Coffee, strong and hot and by the gallon, is a remarkable restorative, even when you are feeling empty and let down and all too conscious of no sleep, no shave and no accomplishment.

After the coffee, came another interminable wait, in this case to hear course it is, and it will continue to get worse until Canadian workers waken up and realize that our shipping, and all industry, is dependent on foreign markets and the unions with their insane demands have priced us clean out of the world's trade.

The average worker, who has been gulled by his union leader's propaganda, entirely overlooks the fact that the buyers of our goods don't give one rap about how many hours per week we work or what we are paid, they look only at the selling price of our products.

I am afraid it is too late to do anything about it now because the constant picking at the foundations of our price structure has so weakened the foundation that the whole edifice has now started to crumble in ruins about our ears.

George Home of the B.C. Federation of Labor, says that there is no clamor for compulsory arbitration.

Either George is deaf or he doesn't get around much.

The union leaders tell us that so many thousands of workers are facing a bleak winter with their unemployment insurance benefits exhausted.

The workers have had ten lush years of unprecedented high wages, the highest in history, and yet they are broke, and being broke, are still striking for still higher wages than those that have brought them into this dilemma.

We cannot exactly blame the rank and file worker; he has been the sucker for the propaganda of the U.S.-controlled union leaders and, until this sinks into his head and he does something about it, both he and his family will suffer.

COMMON SENSE.

Wages and Prices

It is interesting to note that in the statement of the 1957 annual report of St. Joseph's Hospital salaries and wages accounted for 71 cents of each dollar spent, food and everything else costing only 29 cents.

Who said that wages do not affect prices? That's what Labor Unions have been foolishly trying to maintain for years.

Now we know why the hospital has to get approximately $15 per day for a ward bed.

FRANK H. PARTRIDGE.

Buy It Round the Corner

I see by your paper that the city police are going to crack down on Victoria merchants selling unauthorized articles on Wednesday afternoon.

I see also by your paper that Saanich is literally following the open shop routine.

Have we here a situation ideally suited to provide retired policemen employment opportunities as shop-keepers of the north?

CUSTOMER'S ALWAYS WRONG.

Musical Capsule

A short time ago Mr. Tobin delighted us with a philosophical discussion of that nonsense song which a group somewhere placed in a time capsule to inform future generations of our culture.

Is it possible that a much earlier generation had the imagination to use for the same purpose another song with the impressive and prophetic words: "Tara-rara boom-deeay"?

Coffee, strong and hot and by the gallon, is a remarkable restorative, even when you are feeling empty and let down and all too conscious of no sleep, no shave and no accomplishment.

After the coffee, came another interminable wait, in this case to hear

whether we could try Quemoy again or must go back to Taipei. (The wait is still going on as these words are written, but the captain says the betting is 99 to 1 on Taipei, since the artillery barrage on the Quemoy beaches is apparently continuing.) But this wait has not been so weary, because the C-46 load is pretty well composed of veterans.

So here, in the idle talk of the men waiting on the dusty airstrip, we have had bloody Tarawa and bloody Iwo Jima—those place names so glory-gilded, that they all but dazzle to this day. We have had the Normandy beaches, and Bastogne, and the story of a brash American reporter who tried to make the exceptionally tough but dignified Chinese commander on Quemoy talk like Gen. MacAuliffe. (Chinese charged with high missions just do not say "nuts" under any circumstances.)

Battles Long Ago

We have had the first chancy months in Korea, and the brilliant landing at Inchon, and what came after. "By God, there was an army!" said one good judge, of the battle-hardened men who were not allowed to win in the end.

From an American pilot on training duty here, we have had the story of the superb success of the Chinese Nationalist pilots, fighting the Communist MIG-17's with their obsolescent F-86's with the tactics Chennault invented for P-40's against Zeros.

And we have had other tales, all of them stirring, all of them comforting, except for the unheroic and macabre story of American policy in China in wartime, contributed by this reporter.

On the surface, it has been a wasted day following an aborted mission. But has this day been really wasted?

Not altogether, is the answer. In the first place, the failure of the mission revealed the key problem out here—the blockade of Quemoy, which is not a simple naval blockade but a very rough artillery blockade.

Blockade Holds

The Chinese Nationalists, who are enormously out-gunned, cannot break this artillery blockade. If Secretary Dulles cannot secure a cease-fire by diplomacy, President Eisenhower will almost surely have to make a hard choice. He will either have to break this blockade with American power or accept failure in this final test of America's strength of will, which he has so nobly expressed.

And this day has not been wasted in another way, too. Often in the past, one has wanted to write the President, "Mr. President, how much you can do, if you will only use your powers and the power of your office!" But the talk on the airstrip has suggested another letter, "M. President, how much the country that you lead can do, if you will only summon up its powers!" (Copyt 1958, N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.)

New Flag For Ottawa?

LONDON—It is up to the Governor-General to decide whether Canadians will be seeing a flag they've never seen before flying from Rideau Hall when the Duke of Edinburgh is there in October.

The flag is Prince Philip's personal standard and there is an interesting angle to it as far as his Canadian visit is concerned.

Wherever he travels in England apart from the Queen his own standard is hoisted at whatever place he is staying.

But, this doesn't apply in Canada.

The Governor-General, as the Queen's representative, takes precedence over Philip and it is correct for his Canadian standard to fly and not Philip's.

Philip was granted the coat of arms on his marriage to Elizabeth in 1947.

The standard is divided into these four quarters:

- (1) The three blue lions and nine hearts of Denmark.
- (2) The Greek flag, a white cross on blue.
- (3) Black and white vertical stripes.
- (4) Edinburgh Castle, on a silver, background.

The first two quarters signify that he was a Prince of Greece and Denmark.

The black and white stripes are a Mountbatten emblem, his mother being a Mountbatten.

And Edinburgh Castle—well, that's pretty obvious.

Why not fly both flags in Ottawa next month—the Governor-General's and Philip's? This is never done.

The standard of the top-ranking person in residence is the only one on display and at Rideau Hall—that means the Governor-General.

Only when the Queen stays there, as happened recently, does his come down in favour of another one—the Royal Standard.

But it is probable that when Prince Philip is his guest the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey will not follow strict protocol.

No doubt, out of courtesy, the Prince's personal standard will be on view on Rideau Hall.

But not only there will you be able to see it.

It will fly at the front of any car he rides in and if it had been the right time of year for him to have a sail it would have been up there on a mast, as it is when he takes to the water at Cowes.

I thought you'd like to know the significance of the various emblems on it.

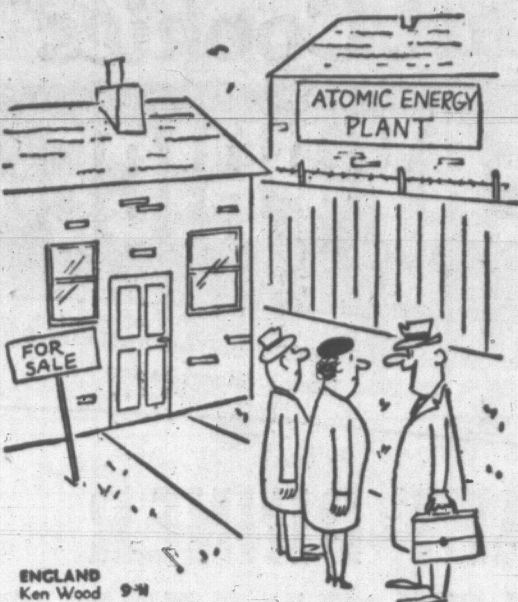

A simple matter to find out, so I imagined.

But no.

The Court is on holiday. The Queen is up in Scotland relaxing and the Court is dispersed.

So when I contacted the College of Arms, who designed the standard and should know what it's all about, I found that, after being handed around to numerous people, nobody would take it upon himself to explain Philip's standard to me.

The Day YOU Were Born

Donna "Smiles" Miles, 3845 Merriman Drive, is a cheerful girl who loves horses. She attends Lansdowne School, grade 7, and has ambitions to be an artist some day.

On the day she was born: Trouble blew up between allies, Russia and U.S., at Templehof airdrome over two American-held prisoners claimed by the Russians as traitors. The Soviet soldiers were held at bay by a U.S. lieutenant-colonel, and the Russian lieutenant told the Americans that they were unworthy of being allied with the Russian army.

Saskatchewan farmers issued a strike call to 35,000 members of the United Farmers of Canada, in support of Alberta's non-delivery strike action.

Fish-smuggling was under investigation. Higher prices were being paid for fish-livers in the U.S. and Victoria fishermen were smuggling their catch past Canadian customs. One man already caught was fined $400. Saanich schools were being operated in shifts while new buildings were under construction.

A visitor to Victoria wrote home suggesting that 100 pounds of good prairie soil would be the best Christmas present for a gardener here.

Hon. Herbert Anscomb, provincial Progressive-Conservative leader, complained of the apathy of the people in voting. Only 42 per cent of the voters went to the polls in the last by-election he said to a meeting of the Oak Bay Tories. He also remarked on the increasing mining activity in the Peace River area, and that the PGE should be extended into this country.

The date: Tuesday, Sept. 17, 1946.

Red China Top Issue For Churchmen

OTTAWA (CP)—Some 600 ministers and lay leaders were expected for the United Church's 18th biennial council meeting opening here today.

A highlight of the gathering—expected to last at least nine days—is a report on Canada's international relations Thursday by the international affairs committee.

It includes resolutions on China, disarmament, technical assistance, trade and immigration, refugees, world food needs and the United Nations.

The question of disarmament and nuclear weapons was expected to produce the session's heaviest debate. The council in 1952 adopted a motion favoring recognition of Red China.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker is to address the council Friday. Churchmen will be here from all 10 provinces as well as from missions in West Africa, India, Japan, Rhodesia and Trinidad.

Threatened SIU Strike Averted On Great Lakes

MONTREAL (CP)—An agreement was reached Tuesday night in negotiations aimed at heading off a strike by the Seafarers' International Union (SIU) against the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Company.

A strike deadline had been reported set for noon today.

A joint statement by Jack Leitch, president of the transportation company, and Hal C. Banks, Canadian vice-president of the SIU, announced an agreement had been reached giving the union a five-per-cent pay increase retroactive to last June, with an additional five per cent effective next year.

Essay Contest on Cancer Cure

High school students throughout B.C. have been invited to play a role in the fight against cancer by entering an essay contest sponsored by the B.C. division of the Canadian Cancer Society.

Students in grades 9 to 12 can compete for 33 prizes ranging from $50 to $100. Subject of the essay is "Cancer—The Search for a Cure."

The contest will focus attention on the work being done by the Cancer Society to support vital research work aimed at finding a solution to Canada's No. 2 killer disease.

A variety of literature will be provided for students to thoroughly research their subject and increase their general knowledge about cancer.

The contest is part of the society's education program which seeks to increase public awareness and knowledge of cancer and to stimulate early diagnosis and treatment when chances for a cure are good.

The contest is organized with the co-operation of high school principals who will screen entries from their schools for the best three to be entered for final judging.

Rays Helpful in Cancer

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

At a recent medical meeting in Houston, Dr. Gilbert Fletcher reported that some of the new super-voltage X-rays and other forms of radiation have been giving excellent results in the treatment of certain cancers. In a series of 74 cases in which the patient had a cancer either in the back of his throat or in his mouth, 70 per cent of the lumps were destroyed, whereas with the old type of treatment, only 33 per cent were destroyed.

Already, the two-year survival rate of patients has almost doubled. Quite a few patients with cancer of the bladder or with an inoperable cancer of the neck of the womb have been saved with the new powerful rays.

At Harvard, a team of doctors has discovered a new and possibly very fruitful method of studying the influence of cholesterol and other fat-like substances on arteries. They have grown cells from the human aorta (the large artery that comes out of the heart) in cultures, and then have modified these cultures by adding cholesterol to the nutrient medium. This cholesterol did much harm. Then linolenic acid, such as is found in vegetable oils, was added, and the culture became almost normal again. When stearic acid, which is found in animal fats, was added, there was a deposition of much fatty substance among the growing cells.

The results of these experiments tend to reinforce the clinical studies which indicate that unsaturated linolenic acid, added to a diet, tends to lower the amount of apparently harmful cholesterol in the blood. The only objection to the addition of liquid vegetable oils to the diet is that, recently, some observers have found that, after some weeks, the level of the blood cholesterol goes up to where it was. Again, I must say, before we doctors prescribe strict diets I suspect we had better wait until more research workers are in agreement.

In a recent article, Drs. H. I. Russek and B. L. Zohman, of New York State, made a study of 100 persons who, early in life, had a coronary heart attack, and compared them with another 100 persons who did not have any such trouble. The persons studied were all between the ages of 25 and 40. The doctors concluded that there were three main predisposing factors which led to the coming of a heart attack early in life.

One was a diet rich in fat. More than half of the men who had had a heart attack loved to eat large amounts of fat, while only 20 per cent of the control group were similarly inclined. Heredity was a definite factor, as all insurance men know. A history of disease of the heart and arteries in one or both parents was obtained in 67 per cent of the patients with heart disease as compared with 40 per cent in the control group. But the doctors go on to say that a man is not necessarily doomed because there is much heart disease in his family. There are other factors which are under his control. Interestingly, in the cases of 17 per cent of the patients with early heart disease, both parents were living and in good health, in their later years—this suggesting that their arteries were good.

Severe emotional strain of occupational origin, was recorded in 91 per cent of the patients with heart disease, and in only 20 per cent of the normal controls. Usually the patient with a heart attack was found to be an aggressive, ambitious person who had lived hard, and up to limits of his strength. This is probably why heart attacks are more common in top executives than in clerks.

A first-rank plant for the busy, or lazy, gardener is the peony.

Not particularly the early, double red Peonia officinalis which admittedly drops its petals rapidly, but the mid-season and later beauties which develop more slowly and last longer.

Once planted, and given additional bone-meal fertilizer spring and fall together with an ample supply of water all summer, peonies may remain in the same spot without division for 15 or 20 years.

Apart from the showy flowers which may be single with clusters of golden stamens, anemone-centred, or fully double, the peony foliage alone is worth a place in the border.

All summer it is a handsome green background to other lower-growing perennial flowers, but at the approach of fall the leaves take on every tint of the season from yellow and dull pink to bronze and deep scarlet.

Peonies have a short period of dormancy, or rest, compared with most other fleshy-rooted plants. For about a month from the time their foliage assumes fall tints, the roots are inactive, and it is during this period, approximately Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, that they may be moved if necessary.

It is a day's work to dig even a few peony plants which have become established for several years.

The leaves may be cut off first. When out of the ground, wash the soil from the tubers with a strong jet of water.

Tubers with pink growth buds at the necks may be separated from the clump with a sharp knife and planted individually if you wish to increase the number of plants.

Plant firmly in soil enriched with well rotted compost or old manure, with no more than two inches of soil over the growth buds.

B.C. Telephone Chief to Meet Area Committee

The Greater Victoria inter-municipal committee Tuesday decided to meet the president of the B.C. Telephone Company before deciding whether it will take action to fight the firm's application for increased rates.

The meeting will take place at the City Hall Friday at 2.30 p.m.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said that C. H. McLean, phone company president, had asked to meet the committee to explain the company's reasons for seeking increased rates.

The meeting had been specially called to discuss plans to fight the application.

The company has announced it will ask the federal Board of Transport Commission for permission to increase its rates so that it can raise its revenues by about 12.6 per cent.

Earlier this year the company was granted increases averaging 2.94 per cent.

Mayor Scurrell said he was against the increased rates and felt the matter should be discussed by the Union of B.C. Municipalities meeting in Nanaimo next week.

But the mayor said it was up to the committee to decide whether it wanted to hear Mr. McLean before taking any action to oppose the company's application.

Reeve George Chatterton said he had been instructed by his council to request that the matter be submitted to the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

Reeve A. C. Wurtelle of Esquimalt, said he wanted first to hear the company's case from its president.

"I don't see any harm in hearing Mr. McLean," he said. "I think we should hear the company's explanation and facts before we take any action."

Stamp Collection Worth $1 Million Opens at Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—A stamp collection valued at more than $1,000,000 is to open here Thursday.

It is said to be the largest and most valuable ever to be held in Canada and is part of a three-day convention held by the Society of Philatelic Americans to honor the 25th anniversary of Montreal's Philatelic Union.

During the meeting, which ends Sunday, Canadian and U.S. philatelists will meet with government officials to complete arrangements for a special Canadian-U.S. stamp series to commemorate the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The plan, if agreed upon, will bring about the first occasion Canada and the U.S. have ever issued identical stamps.

TRAFFIC FINES

Party Rebuilding Talks in November Set by Liberals

Reconstruction of the national Liberal Party and a possible re-drafting of policies will be undertaken at a meeting of 260 leading party representatives at Ottawa Nov. 17 to 19.

Meeting at Chateau Laurier, under banner of Advisory Council of the National Liberal Federation of Canada, will be 10 members from each provincial association.

Provincial women's organizations will send five members each, provincial Young Liberals five members each, Canadian Universities Liberal Federation one each, and the Mackenzie-Yukon section will send one member for each of the above groups.

All provincial party leaders, all members of the national executive and all members of parliament and senators will attend.

COX GOING

The list automatically includes B.C. leader Arthur Laing, Victorian Arthur H. Cox (member of the national executive), Sen. Sidney Smith (president of the B.C. provincial association), and Mrs. Anna Spratt, Vancouver alderman and president of the B.C. women's group.

It is expected additional representation of provincial associations, women's, Young Liberals and university groups, will be by executive appointment.

Announcement of the national advisory meeting follows a mainland newspaper report that a main movement within the B.C. section of the party will support an anti-labor ticket in the next B.C. election.

The paper also states there will be a move to replace present leader in B.C., Mr. Laing, with Victoria MLA George Gregory.

The latter prediction was discounted by a spokesman for the party here. He said the suggestion of a leadership wrangle originated in a letter circulated among defeated Liberal candidates by R. J. Harvey, defeated candidate for Cowichan-Newcastle.

GREGORY'S PARTNER "Mr. Harvey is Mr. Gregory's partner and obviously is campaigning for him," the spokesman said.

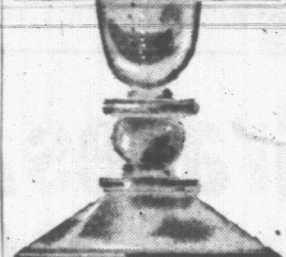

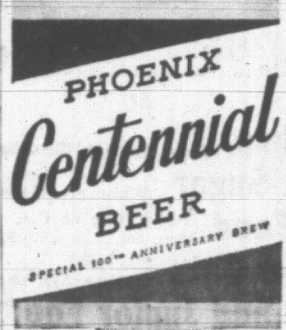

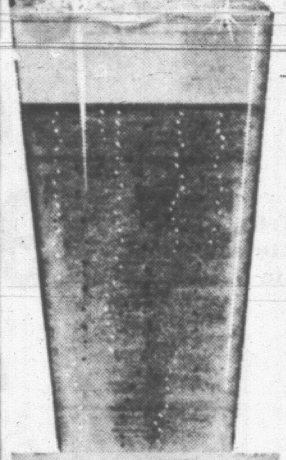

"You can't say there is a strong movement because one person writes a letter," he said. Mr. Harvey's letter is alleged to have called for labor policies which would guarantee the right to strike except where "... the public interest transcends the interest of the disputing parties."

NO UNION SHOPS

It proposes abolition of union shops, but requires workers who do not wish to join unions to pay union dues.

It calls for implementation of a strike vote within 72 hours, instead of the 90-day waiting period now permitted.

This would mean a striking union which had completed the conciliation board stage would be faced with the choice of immediate acceptance of the

'BIG BROTHER' IN FISH WAR

LONDON (Reuters) — The Icelandic gunboat Hermadour warned the British trawler Lincoln City, fishing inside Iceland's 12-mile limit, that she will "get him" when "big brother" — a British naval escorting frigate — has left the area, the admiralty said today.

8 HOURS IN WATER TUNNEL

Worker Clung for Life

COUGAR, Wash. (AP) — A rock some 400 feet inside the tunnel at the Swift-hydro-electric project on the Lewis River when he was washed into the tunnel Tuesday morning. He was one of three workers who fell into the swift current of the 2,900-foot tunnel when their rigging collapsed. One of the workmen, William Earl Snodderly, 31, was killed. The other, Henry Frank Moser, grabbed a rope and was pulled from the water. Two men were injured in an attempt to rescue McGee. Their raft capsized 200 feet inside the tunnel and the current carried them through. One was severely hurt.

FEAR OF NEW VIOLENCE GRIPS CYPRUS BRITONS

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — New fears gripped Cyprus Tuesday as Greek-Cypriots renewed charges of British brutality and Britons braced themselves for an expected outburst of terrorism. Greek-Cypriot leaders reiterated accusations that British troops ill-treated villagers and caused wanton damage in weekend search operations in Western Cyprus.

Industrials, Oils Ahead Against Trend

Industrials and western oils pushed ahead today on the Toronto Stock Exchange but the remainder of the market was lagging in moderately active mid-afternoon trading.

Base metals showed little change from Tuesday's close and golds lost some ground. A few lightly-traded industrials gained in a range of more than

Eight Provinces Fight Increase In Phone Rates

OTTAWA (CP)—Eight provincial governments got permission Tuesday to intervene in a telephone case before the board of transport commissioners, claiming the issue could affect freight rates.

The provinces—all except Ontario and Quebec—were allowed by the board to take part in a hearing on a $16,000,000-a-year phone rate increase proposed for Ontario and Quebec by Bell Telephone Company.

As the telephone and freight rates cases got tangled up, the board also received an application from British Columbia Telephone Co. for higher rates. Bell was seeking an increase of an average five per cent on its annual $326,000,000 from Ontario and Quebec subscribers.

B.C. Telephone asked for an average 12.6-per-cent hike worth an estimated $754,000.

The eight provinces dived in against the Bell application on the contention that a board ruling granting the increase could set a precedent that would follow through in freight rate cases involving much more money.

The railway freight rate increase case will involve about $60,000,000 a year immediately, to cover what the railways say they need to meet present and prospective wage increase demands by employees.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices of trade but September soybeans showed considerable irregularity and generally were easier at the close today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Commercial demand was limited during the quiet trading. Small export interest showed in barley, with business believed for the United Kingdom. Oats trade was domestic. Flax displayed hesitancy as selling found support thin. A flurry of selling in rye was attributed to American sources.

Overnight export wheat loadings included: United Kingdom 460,000 bushels, West Germany 260,000, India 115,000, Nepal 35,000, Belgium 25,000 and Venezuela a small lot.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were down 1/4 cent from Tuesday.

The Gowanda mining district of Northern Ontario was named from an Indian word meaning "porcupine home."

AT MONTREAL prices followed a mixed pattern in active trading on the stock exchange today, with changes generally confined to fractions.

Crown Zellerbach led paper trading, up a point at 96. Consolidated was up 1/2 at 37 1/2, Bathurst was off 1/4 at 43, Bathurst "B" 1/2 at 26. Great Lakes was off 1/2 at 35 1/2 and Bathurst "A" down a point at 46.

Utilities were active.

AT LONDON a generally cheerful atmosphere was apparent on the stock market today, virtually all sections recording gains.

Renewed strength of industrial was the main feature. Gilt-edged securities were in demand.

Dollar stocks were higher.

AT VANCOUVER the market was fairly active but trading saw little change in prices.

Beaver Lodge Uranium sold 12,000 shares at 30, Premier Border sold 10,000 at 16, Imperial Oil-traded 9,000 at 30, Imperial Investments sold 800 at $13.50, and Trans-Canada Pipe Line traded 235 shares at $35.50.

Court Boosts Sentence

VANCOUVER (CP)—A penalty of 30 days plus a $500 fine for an indecent assault on a young girl was increased by the Court of Appeal Tuesday to four years.

"Crimes of this nature are far too prevalent these days," Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay told Raymond Horst Galloway, 26, when the court sent him to the penitentiary.

Galloway pleaded guilty July 31 to assaulting a 13-year-old Vancouver girl at Haney July 4. He was given 30 days by Magistrate William Hope, but has been serving the nine months imposed in lieu of the $500 fine. The sentence was appealed by the Crown.

Galloway was convicted of a similar offence against a 14-year-old girl in Vancouver 2½ years ago and was sentenced to two years and a five-stroke whipping.

'THINK IT OVER'

Auditorium Proposal Revived

The proposal to build a civic auditorium for the cultural and economic development of Greater Victoria was revived at an inter-municipal committee meeting Tuesday.

Esquimalt Councillor G. K. Sammon gave notice of motion to have the question of building an auditorium discussed at some later date on an inter-municipal level.

Plans for an auditorium became a "dead issue" last year because of lack of funds.

"I would like to suggest that Greater Victoria municipalities sponsor a civic auditorium," said Coun. Sammon. "The proposal was popular with Victorians when it was suggested, last year."

He said plans for an auditorium should be discussed first by the inter-municipal committee and later submitted to the various councils for approval.

Ratepayers of Greater Victoria, he said, could be asked to vote on the project.

"I'm making a notice of motion so that we can think the matter over before discussing it at our next meeting," he said.

Entire B.C. Economy to Change

The projected Wenner-Gren development of B.C.'s interior will change the entire provincial economy, Premier Bennett said Tuesday in an address to the Canadian Education Association in convention here at the Empress Hotel.

He said "the government has entered into an agreement of such magnitude that it may change the map of northern B.C., bring a new way of life to the north, new revenue and a change in the entire provincial economy."

Swedish industrialist Wenner-Gren plans hydroelectric control of the Peace River, with an estimated 4,000,000 horsepower of energy to back, quoting the premier, "the world's largest power plant."

Mr. Bennett told the educators that when they had met here nearly a half century ago, the education budget for B.C. was close to $1,000,000, compared with today's $88,000,000.

He illustrated other changes: Population in B.C. grown more than 90 per cent since 1940; employees in industry since 1940 increased by 120 per cent; a 164 per cent increase in lumber production during the past 10 years, and increase of 173 per cent in weekly wages in the last 15 years.

The provincial government, said the premier, is applying a "pay-as-you-go" policy, and is using surplus revenue "set aside in previous years of its administration" to reduce the public debt.

"This will mean that millions of dollars of tax monies now used annually for the purpose of serving the debt will soon be freed for application to current service."

He said the net debt has been reduced from $191,000,000 in 1952 to $32,000,000 in August this year, "and that it is planned to retire the entire provincial debt by 1960."

SPORTSCRIPT

BY ERNIE FEDORUK

Names make news, they say, and some of today's best examples are:

Archie McKinnon, veteran YMCA swim coach who must also be considered an excellent example of an outstanding public relations officer.

In a business where one must make a phone call at any hour in order to scrape up a scribble of news, Archie is appreciated. Call him at any hour of the day or night, and he provides the information in a matter of minutes, if not seconds.

His YMCA publicity handouts are delivered at your convenience—not his. Moreover, he refuses to bother a busy newspaperman at the height of the rush hour. When he does request a dab of ink, Archie quietly walks into the office, deposits his information and, just as quietly, takes his leave.

In contrast, we give you the assistant secretary-treasurer of the Kumquat Birdwatching and Marching Society. He walks in 15 minutes before deadline time and spends 40 minutes announcing the fact that his group is meeting tomorrow. The next day he storms into the office and angrily demands to know why his announcement did not get into the paper.

He is politely informed that his announcement did get into print. The Kumquat man is shown same and then he indignantly suggests that his organization deserves more than they received—like an eight-column headline, four inches deep.

That's why it is nice to know men like Archie McKinnon are still with us. Archie appreciates anything he gets in the way of space. More often than not, it's less than he deserves. I hope, Archie, your next swim class produces 14 Olympic champions.

Herm Reich, San Francisco Giants' scout in the Pacific Northwest who intends to stage a baseball school in Victoria next summer.

Reich has been a regular visitor to Vancouver Island for the past few years. He made his annual fishing trip to Qualicum last week and announced tentative plans for the baseball school.

Herm probably believes in mixing business with pleasure. After school, I suppose, we'll go fishing.

Lt.-Cmdr. Graham Mann, skipper of the British Yacht Sceptre which will challenge the United States' entry, Columbia, for the America's Cup.

He laid in two cases of cognac—and I'm volunteering for sea duty... Iced cognac is good for sea-sickness.

Sgt. Jim Smart, one of Esquimalt's finest who also serves his township as an executive member of the Esquimalt Anglers' Association.

Nothing that Oak Bay municipality has placed a ban on the use of their boat-house ramp between the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m., Sgt. Smart believes it would be wise if all Esquimalt anglers took heed.

"We haven't had any complaints... yet. Some of our anglers, especially those with husky voices, would be wise to eliminate unnecessary shouting in the early morning."

After all, an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure.

AROUND TRAINING CAMPS

Territorial Battle Brewing in Big Top

(From CP Dispatches)

A state of war exists between Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League on the minor hockey level, says George Imlach, new Leaf assistant manager.

He said at Toronto's training camp Tuesday the Canadiens were tying up all the Quebec junior clubs except in one small area.

"We're going to fight them on their own grounds," he said. "We can't afford to let Canadiens sew up Quebec..."

Imlach contended that although the Canadiens are allowed only one sponsored club, they'll dole out money to every team except those sponsored by Chicoutimi Saguenéens, the Leafs' Quebec League farm club.

"Those teams will then release their best men to the Canadiens' farm system," he claimed.

Joe Chips: The Blair brothers, Chuck, 30, and Dusty, 29, will be back with Calgary Stampede again after making their debut in the WHL last year... They were purchased in 1957-58 from Buffalo Bisons... Chuck, a rightwinger, fired 25 goals and 23 assists last year with Stampede while Dusty collected 11 goals and 31 assists.

GREY CUP IN TORONTO?

Big Holdup By Stadium

TORONTO (CP)—The 1958 Grey Cup final, scheduled for Vancouver's Empire Stadium on Saturday, Nov. 29, may be moved to Toronto unless football commissioner G. Sydney Halter of Winnipeg can agree on rental terms, it was learned today.

The Toronto Star says that Halter has been unable to reach an agreement with "the Vancouver stadium people" and he "has written the nine professional clubs asking for permission to change the site of the game to Varsity Stadium in Toronto unless an agreement can be reached speedily."

"This permission has been granted by a majority of the clubs, it is learned," the paper says.

The paper adds: "One executive, who declined to be quoted, said a decision must be reached within the next 10 days. Unless a contract is signed with the Vancouver stadium by then, he said football has no choice but to move the game back to Toronto."

"The operators of the government-owned stadium in Vancouver demand a rental of $40,000. The last time the game was played in the west coast city (1955), the stadium was offered rent-free to the Canadian Rugby Union. The tab was picked-up by the British Columbia government."

"Last year a rental of $20,000 was paid Varsity Stadium. Presumably a similar deal could be worked out for the 1958 final."

New Sports Palace Urged for Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—A new sports palace seating 13,000 for hockey and more for basketball is being considered in the preliminary planning for the Century 21 Exposition, the Northwest's 1961-62 world's fair.

A group of sports leaders, meeting Tuesday with fair officials, urged that one of the exposition structures be planned so it can be converted into the desired sports centre after the international show.

BURKE ON HAND

Marvin Burke, president of the syndicate which now operates the Seattle Hockey Club, was meeting chairman. He emphasized that present civic facilities here will seat only about 4,000 for hockey and 5,000 for basketball.

The Western Hockey League probably will attain major league status in the early 60s, Burke said. At that time, Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco will be ready with arenas seating more than 10,000. Spokane can handle more than 6,000 in its Coliseum, and Tacoma will have similar accommodations.

CANADIANS GO SHOPPING

Late Cuts Appear Choicest

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Several of Canada's nine professional football clubs had new imports today in the annual race to sign players cut by the National Football League.

The U.S. teams are trimming their rosters to 33 players, as NFL rules require two weeks before the opening of the season.

Canadian teams, particularly those with major problems, are especially interested in the latest list of cuts since, unlike most players previously released, they have just missed making the grade in the United States—and might be expected to do well in Canada.

Excels Only 'Sure Thing' On Sandown Track Today

Defending Champions Take Stranglehold in Junior Set

Brampton 6, Shamrocks 2
By ERNIE FEDORUK

Brampton Excelsiors, eastern Canada's hopes in the Minto Cup playoff, were due for a well-deserved day off today, a sightseeing tour and, among other things, a trip to the races at Sandown Park.

And if there was any sign of a "sure thing" at the race track this afternoon, it would be Brampton team itself.

The big eastern squad displayed enough of their capabilities before 1,404 fans at the Memorial Arena Tuesday night to become odds-on favorites to wrap up the best-of-seven Canadian junior lacrosse championship series with Victoria Shamrocks in straight games.

Brampton's 6-2 victory gave them a 3-0 stranglehold on the title they won last year by defeating the same Shamrock squad in five games.

Fourth game of the series is scheduled at the arena Thursday night.

Excelsiors enjoyed an edge over their smaller rivals in almost every department. It was the east's defence, however, that stuck out like a sore thumb. They threw up such a strong barricade in their own zone that Victoria's "fast break" seemed more like a slow boat to China.

Coach Peewee Bradshaw's Junior Rocks took as many shots as their deliberate-playing rivals. Most of Victoria's 23 shots, however, were from well out.

When Rocks did manage to work in close, they found Brampton goalie Pat Baker difficult to solve. Baker fanned only on goals by Tommy Wyatt and Bob Bateman and looked exceedingly good on other shots by Jim McNeill, Jack Showers, Bob McKee and Russ West.

Little Man Proved Biggest Gun

Forward Bobby Davidson, the smallest member of the Brampton squad, sparked the Excelsiors with three goals, including the first two while his team enjoyed a man advantage through penalties. Centre Gary Moore, the Ontario Junior League's leading scorer who was picked up by Excelsiors for the series, added two more goals on long shots. Bruce Wanless fired the other goal for the winners.

Brampton coach George Thompson had little to say about his team's performance. "They played good, sound lacrosse, but I think our weight was the telling factor," he said.

In the quiet of the Victoria dressing room, Bradshaw beamed the fact that his charges "just can't seem to find the net."

"That's been the story of the series," he added. "We've moved in for our share of shots, but just can't score. Sure their defence is good, but it's not that great."

Bradshaw, incidentally, first travelled west as a member of the same Brampton organization when they won the Minto Cup in 1952 at Vancouver. Jack Bionda, Inter-City Senior League scoring king, also was a member of the Brampton club then.

It's More Than Test of Speed

By JACK V. FOX

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—The men who sail them, as much as the trim ships themselves, will win or lose when Britain's Sceptre meets America's Columbia for the world's sailboat championship.

For yachting, even more than for racing, it is far more than a test of the pure speed of two thoroughbreds.

It is a test of cunning and nerve and, in the 107 years since the United States, grabbed and held the America's Cup, the mettle of men has more often proved vital than that of hull and sail. The races beginning Saturday prove the point poignantly.

At the helm of Columbia will be the 63-year-old Cornelius Shields, veteran yachtsman and investment banker from Larchmont, N.Y. Shields has been warned by his doctors that he undertakes the excitement of the races at the risk of his life. Shields suffered a heart attack two years ago and gave up bowling; but he was lured back to the Columbia, and the moment he came aboard it became the aggressive, winning ship its owners and designers had expected.

Now "Corny" Shields has decided to take the wheel against Sceptre.

That could make the difference. A comparison of the boats tells why. At 70 feet, Sceptre is only three inches longer than Columbia. Their weight and sail yardage is about the same. Both are built for heavy seas.

Research, Hard Work Part of Game

Their encounter may hinge on a good friend of Britain's Prince Philip. Her professional skipper is cagey Stanley Bishop, whose father (in Shamrock) and grandfather (in Valkyrie) raced in vain for the cup.

Her navigator is Joe Brooks, a navy submarine officer who lost both feet while swimming as a frogman in mining exercises three years ago. But he is nimble. Before the Sceptre was towed across the Atlantic to the races, Brooks put on his frogman's mask and dived overboard to have a look at why seaweed was catching on her bottom.

As on Columbia, Sceptre's total crew is 11.

Columbia's Cost Over $300,000

Skipper on Columbia is Briggs Cunningham, a wealthy sportsman whose recent experience has been more with racing motor cars and playing golf, but who may take over the wheel should Shields falter.

Navigators on the American boat is Henry Sears, a banker from Greenwich, Conn., who formed the syndicate which had Columbia built for the race at a cost estimated to exceed $300,000.

The navigator, helmsman and skipper man the cockpit in the stern. Forward on the sails and winches are the eight working hands whose speed in changing

Challenger Said 'Jet-Propelled'

One of the technical criticisms of the British boat is its huge open cockpit, which could become filled with water in heavy seas. The Sceptre, however, carries a big manual pump to discharge such excess water through its hull—leading an American wit to suggest that meant the challenger was jet-propelled.

Island Boxing Plans

Victoria will host the Vancouver Island silver gloves championship in February. It was decided at the annual meeting of the Island Boxing Commission recently.

Cheminus was awarded the golden gloves tourney in January and Salt Spring Island will stage the bronze glove championships in December.

Al Dyer of Cheminus was elected chairman of the VIBC for the second straight year and Nick Lystar of Cheminus was returned as secretary-treasurer.

Also appointed to the commission were Howard Curling of Victoria, Mickey Weatherbee of Ladysmith and Bob Ackerman of Salt Spring Island.

Most Wins, Most Hurts Is Plight of 'Peg Club

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers won two weekend games to go to the top of the Western Football Conference standings, but they came off second best in injuries.

Manager-trainer Jim Ausley reported Tuesday that the club is most concerned about quarterback Kenny Ploen, who suffered a bruised shoulder Saturday at Calgary, and end Keith Pearce, who suffered a pinched lining of the knee cartilage.

Even Ol' Case Can't Recall That Far Back

By Associated Press
Even Casey Stengel was a pup in 1916. Which should give you an idea of just how long it's been since any pitcher beat the New York Yankees seven times in one season.

That's what Frank Lary, a losing righthander against the rest of the American League, has done. The seventh win came Tuesday when he beat the champs 4-2 at Detroit with a three-hitter.

Only two others ever have done it, both righthanders for Chicago White Sox. But neither did it against a pennant-winning Yankee team.

Big Ed Walsh did it twice. He set a still-unbeaten major league record for victories from one club when he had a 9-1 record against the Yankees in 1908—the year he finished with 40 victories. Walsh did it again in 1911, when he was 7-3 against the Yankees.

CICOTTE WAS 7-1

Ed Cicotte was 7-1 against New York in 1916.

Then along came Lary, who's only 9-13 against the rest of the league for the season. He's 16-5 against the Yankees in an over-all 62-58 lifetime record.

Chicago's second-place White Sox beat Baltimore 4-3 and Cleveland tied Boston for fourth by beating Washington 5-1 on rookie Gary Bell's two-hitter. Boston was rained out at Kansas City.

Low Burdette nailed his 18th Tuesday night—as Milwaukee Braves whipped San Francisco 4-1 and cut their magic number for a second straight National League pennant to three.

Burdette, a betroubled world series hero at the all-star game, now has a shot at 20 victories and his best season in the majors.

HOT AS FIRE

The big righthander had only a 6-7 record in early July, and has won 12 of 15 decisions since, including seven of his last eight.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh chopped its magic number for second place to two, beating St. Louis 3-1 after wrapping up a 21 victory in the completion of a game suspended Aug. 3. Cincinnati took a two-night pair from Los Angeles, 5-3 and 7-5 in 10 innings. The Chicago Cubs beat Philadelphia 10-8 in 10.

Burdette gave up seven hits, one a fifth-inning homer by Will White. He didn't walk a man, struck out four.

The Braves beat Johnny Antonelli (15-13) with three in the seventh. The Pirates, six games behind Milwaukee, won their scheduled game with Dick Stuart and Bob Skinner driving in all the runs. Each had three hits, with Skinner twice bringing Stuart home with singles.

SURE, WHY NOT BRING FENCES INTO INFIELD?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Believe it or not, Los Angeles' disappointing Dodgers think they'll be pennant contenders next year. Authority for this view is general manager Buzzy Bavasi, who can't reconcile himself to the transplanted Brooklyn Bums being mired in sixth place.

The cure: Shorten the right field fence and add new fences.

"That deep right field killed us this year," says Bavasi. "Our pitching obviously was disappointing, but the thing that hurt us most was losing the right-field power of our top left-hand hitters, Duke Snider, John Roseboro and Norm Larker."

"We erred badly in our layout of the Coliseum and we'll shorten right field next season to conform with those of other clubs."

TV IN 125 OF 200 HOUSES BUT BATHTUBS IN ONLY THREE

BLACKPOOL, Eng. (Reuters)—A survey of 200 houses at Morley, Yorkshire, showed 125 had television sets—but only three had baths.

Four of the houses had separate toilets and some Yorkshire houses share back-garden lavatories and six had running water.

This was revealed Tuesday by Frank Sugden, Morley's chief public health inspector, at a conference here.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE CATCHES UP

'Impaired' Probation Violator Jailed 3 Months, Fined $250

John Rothery, of Sidney, was in jail for violation of a six-month probation imposed last court Monday to three months week.

In addition he was fined $250 and $8.50 costs, or a concurrent month in jail, on a charge of impaired driving Saturday near Sidney.

Rothery was given a suspended sentence on another charge last week, and conditions for his probation, including interdiction, were imposed.

Rothery received internal injuries and two passengers were treated for less serious injuries after the car driven by Rothery plunged into a ditch early Saturday.

The car went into one ditch, came out, then into another at Patricia Bay Highway and Lochside, and was written off as wrecked, police said.

FLAT-ROOF LINE on all 4-door hardtop models is a trend-setting feature of the 1959 Buick, expected to be on view in Victoria Friday. This model in the LeSabre series features a curved rear window that encompasses the entire of the rear passenger compartment.

First of 1959 Model Cars —Buick to Be Shown Friday

By HAL MALONE

Times Business Editor

Like a group of expectant mothers, the staff of Empress Motors from president David Lawson to the lowest car jockey awaits the arrival of their 1959 baby, the new Buick.

The General Motors' stork, carrying the sparkling Buick triplets, is expected to make a four-point landing at 9 a.m. Friday.

General Motors spokesmen have flushed the dictionary and left no adjectives unturned in their efforts to describe the 17 new models.

Essentially they feature more glass, are lower and wider and bear new names.

First to show in Victoria, Buick boasts of being first with a new kind of air ride, a combination of air springs in the rear and coil springs in front. This equipment is optional on the low-priced LeSabre, medium-priced Invicta and the luxury-the sales leader in its price Electra series.

Local dealers are still unaware of the exact prices of all models. Traditionally, this is worked out in the final hours before presentation and is as closely guarded as the Wells Fargo vault.

New Lutheran Group to Retain U.S. Affiliation

WINNIPEG (CP)—Lutherans of the Missouri synod in Canada have formed their own organization but will remain in affiliation with the parent body in the United States, a spokesman said Monday.

Rev. L. W. Koehler of Winnipeg, a district president of the Canadian group, said the Canadian districts have formed a Canadian Lutheran Church but still are partly dependent on the parent church for trained pastors, funds and materials used in religious education programs.

The Canadian Press erroneously reported Friday, Sept. 12, that the Canadian districts had withdrawn from the parent body.

DI LOCKED OUT

He Broke in

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Disc jockey Don North early Tuesday had about as harrowing an experience as one of his calling can have in line of duty.

North was alone on the all-night stint at North Vancouver's radio station CKLG. Deciding to check the weather, he put on an LP record and went outside.

The front door slammed behind him, automatically locking. Outside it was raining heavily.

While North hunted around the building looking for a way to get back in, the record inexorably approached its end. Eventually he was able to break a chain catch on a window and climb back into his studio, just in time to hear the final bars of music.

LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING?

Then wake up the liver!

You know that sour, sunk, constipated feeling? It may be caused by the liver. If your liver doesn't pour out up to two pints of bile a day you'll feel it. You may not digest properly, and you feel that life's just not worth living. That's when the liver needs mild gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills. These vegetable pills help stimulate the flow of liver bile. Soon your digestion starts functioning properly and you feel that happy days are here again! Don't ever say sunk. Always keep Carter's Little Liver Pills on hand.

NO WIND NOISE

In following the trend to extensive use of glass, Buick features a huge compound windshield curving back into the roof. Spokesmen say this eliminates wind noise. Four-door hardtops have a giant curved "picture window" in the rear.

LeSabre and Invicta are mounted on a 123-inch wheelbase and are just over 18 feet long. Hardtop models are under 55 inches high. Headroom remains about the same as last year. Electra and Invicta models have a new V-8 engine with 401 cubic inch displacement and a four-barrel carburetor. Compression ratio is 10.5 to 1.

Standard on all models are aluminum front-wheel brake drums, pioneered successfully by Buick last year. Air-cooled brakes are offered for the first time on the rear. New brake rear drums have 60 fins designed to increase air turbulence for smoother stopping and longer lining life. Improvements in power steering result in only two and one-half pounds of pressure required to turn the wheels.

Times Honor Carrier

Each day this month The Times honors one of its "junior merchant" carrier boys who have demonstrated qualities of leadership and application to their endeavors. Today's candidate is:

DAVID WATSON

David, aged 12, lives at 1640 Cedar Avenue and is in Grade 7 at Lansdowne School. His ambition is to be a scientist. Meanwhile, he keeps busy collecting stamps and rocks, likes swimming and belongs to the Boy Scouts.

During his nine months as a Times carrier he has saved about $30 and is saving the money with the object of going to university.

He attends Emmanuel Baptist Church.

His father, Keith Watson, is employed with B.C. Forest Products Ltd. He has a brother, Ian, aged nine, and a sister, Susan, 15.

Bear Facts

I'm Volksing along in top gear just past Cassidy, up-Island, and I'm all by myself... talking to myself... now if I had my movie camera out of the zippered case on the seat beside me, I might get some interesting shots. Odd things happen along the highway... then I think I'd have to pull over and stop, to get the thing out of the case, so I forget the whole idea, while busy myself, changing gears in my tiny cockpit and I excite to her... "you better phone the Mounties, there's a big black bear... right on the road... and she shares at me, and says, "OK, Mister... I'll tell Mama," but all she does is go back and talk to her boyfriend in the Merc. I get going again, with my camera in my right hand, but all I saw was a girl on a white horse, with her red shirt flying out behind. I took a pot shot, but I sure wish I had of got that bear, 'cause I'm beginning to wonder if I ever DID see Bruin at all.

Red Cedar Boom Say Lumbermen

QUALICUM BEACH—Western red cedar—warm, beautiful "problem child" of the Pacific coast lumber industry—is rapidly taking its rightful place as a valuable product through the efforts of the Western Red Cedar Lumber Association.

Cedar can be difficult. It is not a good pulp wood, is not as structurally strong as fir, nor resistant to wear.

But on the credit side it can boast high resistance to rot and weather, freedom from pitch, a high degree of "paintability," high insulation value, light weight that makes it easy to handle and easy to work, and—best of all—dimensional stability.

That is defined by William Black, Seattle, president of the Western Red Cedar Lumber Association, as the quality of retaining its exact size whether wet or dry.

Man Jailed For Assault

CHEMAMUS — A Crofton millworker, 38-year-old Montague Harry Renard, was sentenced by Magistrate W. H. Bryant to two years less one day in Oakalla prison when he appeared in police court on a charge of indecent assault involving a 13-year-old girl.

Strikers Clear Shore of Lake

CHEMAMUS — Longshoremen on strike here have spent their spare time clearing the shore of Fuller's Lake, recently declared a park by North Cowichan municipality.

The municipality has provided tools for the work, which has been going on for two weeks, and Chemainus Chamber of Commerce gives the men lunch each day. Work parties have consisted of from 10 to 15 men daily.

B.C. Legion President Visits Ganges

GANGES—Activities and objects of the Canadian Legion were reviewed by Robert McNicol, Victoria, provincial president, at the regular meeting of the local branch.

B. C. Greenough, branch president, was chairman at the meeting, and host at a dinner given by executive members for Mr. McNicol at the Harbor House before the meeting.

Ike Waiting for Public Outcry to Open Schools

SURVEY SET ON STUDENT DRIVING PLAN

The Canadian Education Association will make a survey of driver education programs in schools across Canada, the association in convention here decided Tuesday.

On the question of student-driver training, "there appears to be a sharp division of opinion between professional educators and the general public," said Dr. H. L. Campbell, association president.

The CEA survey will gather data on school driver training programs now in operation.

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower hopes public pressure will force re-opening of closed schools in Arkansas and Virginia—and has ordered federal legal action withheld "at this time."

His position in the school shutdown controversy over racial integration was set forth Tuesday.

After a 40-minute meeting with Eisenhower, Attorney-General William Rogers told a press conference:

"I think it is clear to anybody that to just try to solve this problem by legal methods alone, just by law suits, is not very satisfactory."

For that reason, Rogers said in a prepared statement, the administration "is withholding a decision as to appropriate legal moves at this time."

WILL ACT LATER

Rogers made it clear there is likely to be federal legal action later if the schools closed in protest against the Supreme Court go-ahead on integration are not opened.

Arkansas Governor Orval E. Faubus ordered four Little Rock high schools closed shortly after the Supreme Court last Friday called for integration to proceed without delay at Central High. One Virginia school also has been shut down as a result of the court decision.

Rogers, reflecting the hope that public pressure will bring about reopening of the schools without legal intervention by the federal government, said in his statement:

"It seems inconceivable that a state or community would rather close its public schools than comply with the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States. The reports received from the communities involved indicate that the serious impact of what it means to have the public schools closed is beginning to be keenly felt and its significance more fully appreciated."

New Secretary Named By Ucluelet Trustees

UCLUELET—Gordon D. Ross has been appointed by trustees as secretary-treasurer of the board of School District 79. He replaces S. W. R. Horwood.

INSURANCE SCHEME

Hospital Wins If Patient Loses Life

WINNIPEG (CP)—A British Columbia hospital administrator has outlined circumstances under which a hospital could hold a life insurance policy on a patient and stand to gain if that patient died.

Gordon Frith, administrator of Nanaimo Hospital, Tuesday was explaining methods of fund raising for hospitals during an address to the Western Canada Institute for Hospital Administrators and Trustees.

He said it is possible for a person wishing to help a hospital to insure his life, naming the hospital as the beneficiary. If the person went to hospital and could not continue to pay premiums, hospital authorities could decide whether he was expected to live only a short time and, if so, take over the payment of premiums.

Mr. Frith said the public has become apathetic to the fate of hospitals since the introduction of government hospital schemes. It no longer considered itself obligated to donate to local hospitals.

He said this could be remedied in two ways—high pressure and low-pressure selling of the hospital.

High-pressure selling consisted of calling in a fund-raising expert to conduct a short, intensive appeal for funds. The low-pressure method consisted of courting the good opinion of the public all the year round, and one of the chief ways of doing this, he said, was to co-operate in every possible way with all news media.

SPLISH-SPLASH! 3.35 INCHES IN 24 HOURS

TOFINO — One of the heaviest rainfalls of the year occurred between 8 p.m. Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday, when 3.35 inches were recorded on the rain gauge at Tofino lifeboat station.

Water Project Future Need For Comox

COURTENAY (CP)—Soaring population of the Comox Valley will eventually require a $1,000,000 water supply project, says a government report just released.

In a number of years an estimated 18,500 people will be using a billion gallons of water per year—triple the present consumption—hydraulic engineer P. J. Leslie predicts in his preliminary report on a valley water survey.

The population now is 7,200. Water supply is "more than adequate" to meet the need but storage and distribution systems will have to be expanded, says Mr. Leslie.

The report, approximately 18 months in preparation, was presented to Courtenay city council Monday night. Copies also have been forwarded to Cumberland and Comox village commissions, and Royston and Arden improvement districts.

However, the chief purpose of the association is to maintain and expand the market for bevelled siding.

CONTINENT COVERED
The marketing area already covers all of Canada, and the United States, members said.

It is important to the timber industry generally to have an improved market for cedar, since it is traditionally "soft" economically and the first to feel a waver in prices.

Western red cedar grows west of the Cascades and between the Columbia River and Alaska and constitutes about 25 per cent of total timber production in that area.

"This area is the only one in the world that has it," Mr. Black said. "We feel that when its advantages are fully known that we will have an extremely valuable product."

Mr. Black was re-elected president of the association. Others re-elected with him were Gordon Douglas, vice-president; John McCrory, treasurer, and Arthur Elsworth, secretary-manager. All are from Seattle.

Father Shares Blame In Shooting of Son

'As Guilty' as Man Who Pulled Trigger

A bereaved father today shouldered half the blame for the death of his 14-year-old son, Timothy Wayne Heal, killed Saturday at East Sooke in the first hunting fatality of the year here.

The boy died instantly when shot in the head by his brother-in-law, William Fluskey, 558 Old Esquimalt Road, who mistook him for a deer.

"It's not only my son-in-law," W. Hugh Heal, 821 Vernon, said at an inquest into the death. "I'm as guilty as he is. I should have been right along with Timmy."

His voice wavered and he shook slightly as he accused himself, then went on. "The boy was packing a gun pointed upward, and wearing a rain hat. I can see that he would look like a spike deer."

Asked by a jurymen if it had not been a mistake to go hunting wearing a dark hat, he said: "Yes, it was. It's my fault, I should have been with him."

He later said he had been wearing a red hat, and Const. D. A. Knight, RCMP, showed as evidence a bright red corduroy shirt the boy had been wearing.

ACCIDENTAL
Verdict returned by the jury was of accidental death, although Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart had said earlier that he would accept such a verdict but "would not agree with it."

Alternative verdicts, he said, were of death through culpable neglect, or manslaughter. Circumstances of the shooting were described by both Heal and Fluskey.

It had happened at about 2:45 p.m. when the lad set off through a patch of ferns four to six feet high. His father was watching his progress from a rock bluff, and Fluskey also was stalking through the ferns.

HEARD RUSTLE
"I saw dad and Timmy on the rock," he said. "It was agreed I'd go through the patch, and we'd meet on the road. I remember looking to the right of the fern patch, and saw nothing. I heard a rustle and spun around to the left to see what looked like a spike and the top of a deer's head."

He had trouble speaking as he said "I saw it plain, so I aimed just below the horn, and fired."

He stopped talking, tears in his eyes, and identified his gun with only a nod. "It is a lamentable thing that year after year these cases turn up," Dr. Hart said at the conclusion of the hearing. "I have been acquainted with these woods for years, and cannot remember a season when we did not have one. No matter how much publicity is given them, someone does something silly again the next year."

TOO YOUNG?
"In this case it is questionable to me whether a boy of 14 should be in a hunting party with grown men, and no man should fire at something he does not see clearly."

This venture was the boy's first trip in the woods with a gun, his father said, although he had accompanied hunting parties on other occasions. Scene of the fatality was near the CNR tracks and Gillespie Road, about one quarter mile from Grouse Nest Lodge.

Murder Suspect Flies to Oakalla To Await Hearing

Towboat man Leo Anthony Mantha, 31, was flown to Vancouver today to be taken to Oakalla jail while awaiting preliminary hearing Oct. 6 in the fatal knifing of a 23-year-old naval seaman Sept. 6.

Mantha is charged with the murder of Aaron H. Jenkins, who died in RCN hospital of stab wounds received as he lay in his HMCS Naden barracks room.

The accused had been in the city jail since his arrest about eight hours after the knifing, and during the week has been given medical tests at hospital.

$5,000 Bail Set for Second Man Charged in Cheque Forgery Case

Second man to be charged in connection with a forged cheque-cashing spree at 18 Greater Victoria banks July 24 appeared at a special sitting of Saanich police court today.

Robert J. Wilson, about 30, of 1035 West 10th Ave., Vancouver, was remanded for election to the regular Saanich court sitting at 2 p.m. Thursday.

As in the case of William Black, 32, of Vancouver, who is committed for trial by judge and jury at the Fall Assizes, he is charged with attempting to deal with a forged document at the Saanich branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Police said Wilson was brought to Victoria Tuesday night after his arrest by Saanich and Vancouver detectives in Vancouver Monday.

The specific charge against Wilson is for a Government of Canada income tax refund cheque for $263.15 which a man tried to cash at the Saanich bank at 2:15 p.m., July 24.

At about the same time a flood of cheques totalling $4,763 was reported cashed at banks all over the city and surrounding municipalities during the 3½ hours previous.

Black was arrested a short time after an automobile chase from the bank on Quadra as he drove up the Malahat near Shawnigan Lake cutoff.

$7,500 BAIL
Bail for Black has been set by Mr. Justice J. G. Rutan, of the Supreme Court, at $7,500, two property sureties, and his lawyer James Proudfoot said Black would be released from Oakalla jail today.

Mr. Proudfoot, also representing Wilson, requested bail for him from Magistrate H. C. Hall today, and it was set at $5,000, two property sureties.

Prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie told the court at Black's preliminary hearing there was evidence indicating a $500,000 forged cheque ring had been stopped before it got further than Victoria.

A Dynamic Canadian

Claxton likes to look ahead. Now, in fact, he's looking exactly nine years ahead. He wants Canada to have a spectacular birthday party in 1967, when we celebrate our national centenary.

To primp for the birthday, Claxton feels each community should have these objectives:

1. Get our roads in top shape.
2. Clean out slums, create new parks.
3. Have all the schools and teachers we need.
4. Build auditoriums, galleries, concert halls.
5. Make 1967 "a Year of Jubilee, a giant series of major festivals."

Let's do it!

LOOKIN' FER TROUBLE, STRANGER? Any one of these tough-looking hombres is ready to oblige — that is if you feel like going agin 'em at Western Horsemen's Club annual riding show next Sunday at Saanichton Fair Grounds. In addition to western games, there will be English riding and jumping

'Take Tip From Industry' In Picking School Leaders

School authorities must take a tip from industry in recruiting personnel, a leading Canadian educator said here today.

Industry selects its leaders early in the educational system, and teachers should be selected in the same manner, said Dr. K. F. Pruefer, of Toronto.

Dr. Pruefer is chief education officer of Etobicoke County, a suburb of Toronto, that has

MONTE ROBERTS

This is the season of the year when pictures of dead fish in the papers gradually begin to give way to pictures of dead animals.

Or dead birds, such as grouse and their kinfolk. Not that pictures of dead fish ever disappear completely from the papers, at least not in these parts.

In this, the fairest area of them all, dead fish pictures can be seen in the paper from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, inclusive.

But basically, we can now expect more pictures of dead animals than we can of dead fish, because the hunting season is upon us.

Now, it is a well-known fact I am not in favor of pictures of dead animals.

But let there be no misunderstanding about my attitude toward hunters and hunting.

I am all in favor of hunters, and I am all in favor of hunting.

If one has strength, stamina, endurance and inbred love of the great outdoors, let him be a hunter, and all power to him.

As for the sport of hunting, I have nothing but the highest regard for it.

The getting up long before the crack of dawn; the trek to the edge of the woods; the hike uphill, down dale, along ridges, through swamps; the making of camp; the coffee boiling over into the camp fire; the ashes flavoring the underdone bacon; the companionship of the fellow hunter; the silent stalking of game; the dogs sniffing a long-dead trail; the stark battle of man against nature.

All these aspects of hunting I admire.

So never let it be said I dislike hunting. I think it is a fine sport, one of the greatest.

The only trouble with hunting is, some hunters insist on carrying guns with them.

Which results in pictures of dead animals appearing in the papers, and I am not in favor of pictures of dead animals. Nor of dead animals.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Parking meters will be patrolled on Wednesday afternoons during the winter. Norman Worsley today warned that throughout the year parking meters will be patrolled on Wednesday afternoons. This will be carried out regardless of strict closure of all shops Wednesday afternoons.

Federal minister Eric G. Taylor today entered his fourth day of joint talks in Vancouver with striking longshoremen and shipping federation officials in an effort to end B.C.'s dock strike.

The strike, now in its 27th day, has stopped all deep-sea shipping through six B.C. ports. Mr. Taylor met with the disputants Tuesday until 9 p.m. While he would not comment on progress, the mediator said the dispute is complicated by some 20 issues. The main issue is a union request for a pension plan.

Calls are being received every day for help. Persons wishing to donate may contact Mrs. Harper at 3-9874.

The most extensive and comprehensive report ever prepared on the development of the Greater Victoria area has been completed by the Capital Region Planning Board.

The report known as the "Master Plan for the Capital Region" is now being published and will be released within a few weeks.

It took three years to complete and takes in every phase of planning a development in the capital region.

Three technical experts, Brahm Wiesman, John Wright and Tony Parr, all planning engineers, assisted by hundreds of citizens, compiled the report.

Winners of the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club session held Tuesday when over 50 players took part were: Lil Tattersall, Les Stewart; Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Duprau; Hildegarde Rundquist, Walter Dancock; Jim Duprau, Eric Ware; Molly Collins, Bill McConnell; Stan Trickey, Bert Jorgensen; Muriel Ford, Marjorie Beale, and Dorothy McConnell, Fred Hallett.

24,000 children under 42 school principals.

"Industry is interested in executives, so education should act likewise," he said.

Some of the most "valuable" teachers have come from industry, he stated. They have a background of knowledge and understanding, and "a maturity — they bring something with them."

He said the "older" type teacher is welcome in the profession. Age of personnel has little bearing on ability to impart educational information.

"With the rapid expansion of our school system we can no longer wait for natural selection — we must recognize the 'natural' teacher early and provide training for him or her."

Dr. Pruefer said he was "more interested" in teachers interested in the humanities as compared with the scientific outlook, but added "there must be a balance."

PROFESSIONAL
He also said the school principal today is no longer the "wielder of the stick" but a community leader and a professional man in the strictest sense.

Age groups in schools up to 14, women teachers can give better leadership to students. Ridicule and sarcasm in the classroom is a thing of the past, though paramount at one time.

Teaching can be a call for "later life" as the more one knows the easier it is to impart the information.

Dr. Pruefer said education today is "teaching children, compared with teaching subject matter to children."

20TH CENTURY 'MATH' URGED

Kids will like this! Present-day teaching of "math" is off-base — too complicated.

A. E. Evenson, associate director of curriculum of the Alberta education department, told the Canadian Education Association in panel discussion here that "basic reconstruction" of the mathematics program is called for.

It's outdated, he said, and is based on a formula used more than 300 years ago.

Ripple 'Checkup' All Set

Final echoes of last April's famed Ripple Rock explosion will be heard near Albert Head next Monday and Tuesday.

The giant underwater upheaval designed to remove the Seymour Narrows navigation method was seized upon by seismologists to add to their knowledge of the earth's crust, and of the velocity of earthquakes.

Starting at 8 a.m. Monday, a series of seismic explosions will be set off as a double-check on the data accumulated during the Ripple blast.

William Milne, seismologist at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Saanich, said the Albert Head tests are mainly to establish the velocity of earthquake shocks.

'SPEEDOMETER'
An accurate "speedometer" for these shocks will aid in spotting the exact location of quakes, he said. Studies during and after the Ripple Rock blast indicates this velocity is 18,000 feet per second.

Next week's tests will complete the study, and a paper will be released shortly.

The seismological study is part of Canada's contribution to the International Geophysical Year.

Petty Irritations Can Affect Our Health and Appearance

We seldom stop to think how much fatigue is produced and what a large amount of energy is consumed by the small irritations of everyday life. These add up to an important total and have a devastating effect on our health and appearance.

These irritations may be so petty that we fail to realize how drastically they affect us. Maybe you are irritated by a squeaky door in your house, by the blaring of a neighbor's radio or television, by the constant yapping of a neighbor's dog, by constant interruptions when you are trying to complete a task, or life may become hectic because you never can find anything you need.

Perhaps a member or members of your family may have the diabolical habit of never putting anything back where it belongs after using it. There's usually one in every family. Your life may be a constant search for nail files, scissors, tape measure, comb, the telephone directory or car keys.

It really would give us a pick-up in energy if we could solve some of these petty annoyances. For instance, we could lock our cosmetics and grooming aids in a drawer, we could chain telephone directories in place, and

Choir Sings At Nuptials

Choir of St. Nicholas Ukrainian Church preceded Miss Shirley Elaine Conarroe up the aisle for her recent marriage to John Harry Yarmie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Yarmie of Empress Avenue. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Conarroe of Fairview Road.

Rev. S. Chehovsky officiated at the evening ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white lace over net. The tiny jacket of lace had lily point sleeves. A bead and rhinestone tiara held her lace and net veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses and gardenias.

As matron of honor, Mrs. W. Varcoe wore a yellow lace and net gown. Her headress was beaded and she carried yellow roses. Mrs. G. Kirker and Miss Elsie Conarroe were in similar dresses in blue and yellow respectively. They carried bouquets of roses. Sandra Fyke, flower girl, wore a pink nylon frock and carried a basket of pink carnations.

William Varcoe was best man and ushers were Steve Yarmie and Gerald Kirker.

Robert Watson proposed the bridal toast at a reception in the Golden Slipper supper club. A three-tier cake surrounded with fall blooms centred the bridal table.

For a honeymoon to Portland, the bride donned a pale blue dress with matching coat. Her picture that was in the same shade and her corsage was of pink rosebuds and white gardenias.

The newlyweds are now living in Victoria.

Business Women's Week Celebrated In Early October

At meeting of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club plans were discussed for participation in Business Women's Week, Oct. 5 to 11.

Celebrated in both Canada and the United States, the week is designed to honor business women.

Miss Ruth Adams is convener. Announcement was made by Mrs. Lillian Smith that Miss Margaret Salmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Salmond, 1638 Pinewood Avenue, had been awarded the club's Bay Wigley Scholarship of $150, which is presented annually. Miss Lillian Henderson presided and brief talks were given on the visit of the Princess Margaret to Victoria by Mrs. Bessie Smith, president of St. John Ambulance Cadet Corps, and Miss E. L. Forbes. The speakers were introduced by Miss Verna Beek, vice-president and program convener.

Reception Gives Art Lovers Chance To Inspect New Wing in the Gallery

It was an exciting evening! A steady stream of guests crowded the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, Tuesday night, to set seal of approval on the new fire-proof wing, opened last Saturday. Occasion was a reception arranged by the president, the board of directors and the women's committee of the Gallery.

Special guests were members of the board of directors of the Victoria Symphony Society.

Adding a final note of excitement and a sense of accomplishment was the presence of the chairman of the Canada Council, Hon. Brooke Claxton, who spoke briefly to the gathering. He was accompanied by Mrs. Claxton.

Refreshments were served from the newly decorated tea-room, gay with orange walls, parchment toned table covers and chintz curtains en 'one. Floral arrangements which picked up the color tones of the room were in charge of Mrs. T. Housser.

Miss Sara Spencer and Mrs. Patrick Birley presided at the refreshment table.

Among those attending were Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Johns, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Senior, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Abbott, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Stark, Miss Alma Russell, Mrs. P. R. Brown.

Vows Spoken In Vancouver

Canadian Memorial Chapel, Vancouver, was decorated with tall standards of gladioli, chrysanthemums and dahlias in autumn tones when Dr. J. G. Gorwill officiated at the wedding of Yvonne, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan O'Sullivan, Vancouver, and Thomas A. Toynbee, son of Mrs. Toynbee and the late Richard Toynbee, S.I. Spring Island.

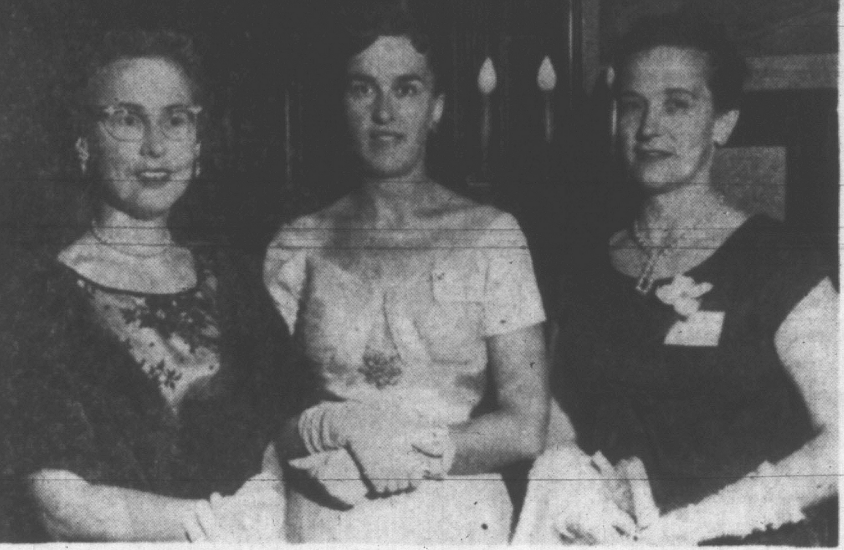

The bride is a radio and television artist in Vancouver and Toronto, and her groom is a graduate of University of British Columbia.

The bride wore a gown of white silk faille with full skirt cascading to train length in the back from a large bustle bow. Front was of panelled lace matching the bodice, and the sabrina neckline, high in front and low at the back, was enhanced by braided Chantilly lace. Her veil of French illusion was caught by a jeweled tiara, and she carried a bouquet of white gardenias with stephanotis.

Mrs. William Inglis, Vancouver, was matron of honor, and Mrs. Harry Mossfield, brides-matron. Bridesmaids were Miss Betty Anne Rogers, Abbotsford, and Miss Louise Mouat, Miss Darlain McCabe was junior bridesmaid. Attendants' gowns were of mint green taffeta in bouffant style, with matching bow headresses. All carried bouquets of chrysanthemums.

Best man for his brother was Richard Toynbee, Terrace, and ushers were C. D. McCabe, J. P. Madill, N. Mouat and W. Ratcliffe. Donald Meester was ring bearer. W. S. Rogers proposed the bridal toast at a reception in Brock Hall.

Newlyweds are now on a wedding trip to the western provinces and the United States. They plan to make their home in Vancouver.

GOVERNMENT HOSTS CONVENTION DINNER

Mrs. J. F. K. English, top left, wife of British Columbia's deputy minister of education, greeted out-of-town members and their wives attending a dinner hosted by the Provincial Government Tuesday evening in connection with the Canadian Education Association convention. Pictured with her are, centre, Mrs. W. J. Dunlop, wife of the Ontario minister of education, and Mrs. J. G.

Allhouse, who is to present the Allhouse award, outstanding in Canadian education, in memory of her late husband, at ceremonies later this week. In the lower picture is Mrs. Leslie Peterson, wife of the B.C. minister of education, who assisted in welcoming guests. With her are Miss Gene Morison, Halifax, at left, and Mrs. Stewart McLean, wife of the Manitoba minister of education.

Newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Parker Making Home at Britannia Beach

Making their home at Britannia Beach, B.C., are newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. David Parker.

Bride is the former Patricia Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Roy Tidman of Brentwood, and her groom is the son of Mrs. George Parker of Qualicum Beach and the late George Parker.

The wedding took place in Brentwood United Church with Rev. William Buckingham officiating.

Mrs. Harold Marshall, organist, played traditional wedding music and Miss Heather Pope sang "Wedding Prayer."

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was a picture in her portrait model gown of white silk organza. The floor-length dress was posed over taffeta and featured a fitted bodice ending in a sweep of bustle and train at back. Hand embroidered lace appliques adorned the neckline and waist of the lovely gown. Her forehead cap of rose-point lace and fine tulle was accented with iridescent paillettes. It held a veil of hand rolled illusion net. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honor Miss Janet Tidman wore a dress of lace over taffeta. The bouffant skirt in the sky blue gown swept to waist-length. Her petal headpiece was in matching tone and she carried a cascade of yellow marguerites and ivy. Miss Dorothy Simpson, bridesmaid, wore a blue taffeta dress with overskirt of flocked nylon. She carried a nosegay of yellow marguerites and ivy. Misses Nancy Tidman and Wendy Brown, junior bridesmaids, wore identical gowns to senior attendant in yellow and green, respectively. They carried same flowers.

Gordon Parker was best man and ushers were Reg Smythe and Ronald Tidman.

Rowland Brown proposed a wedding toast at the reception in Brenta Lodge. The bridal table was centred with a three-tier cake surrounded by white tulle.

A mustard wool dress in modified chemise style was worn by the new Mrs. Parker for a wedding trip to Banff. She had a tiny brown Breton sailor hat and matching accessories.

New Guide Commissioner Appointed for Victoria

Provincial headquarters, Girl Guide Association, has announced appointment of Mrs. A. Gosling as area commissioner for Greater Victoria. Formerly deputy dominion commissioner, and later provincial commissioner for Newfoundland, Mrs. Gosling has had 36 years of experience in every phase of Guiding.

She has also been commissioner for training, cadet captain for the memorial university, and has attended girl scout conferences and camps in the United States.

Mrs. Gosling holds the medal of merit and was awarded the Bronze Beaver by the Canadian Council for work with the Newfoundland Girl Guide Association.

Although guiding has ranked first in public service, Mrs. Gosling has also been president and co-founder of Newfoundland Natural History Society. During the war she organized the Avalon Nursing Corps of St. John Ambulance Brigade, and was made a serving sister in recognition of her work.

Her work for Church of England has been in connection with Church of England Orphanage, Church Lads' Brigade, Ladies' Auxiliary, and mission work. She is also a member of the IOOE, and a fellow of the Royal Commonwealth Society.

Printed Corduroy

Corduroy, once a staple of the school girl's wardrobe, now goes around the clock for sophisticated women. For daytime, the fabric comes in various textures, such as tweed and houndstooth checks. Designer Mildred Orlick shows printed corduroy in Empire silhouettes for evening. Mr. Gee uses shocking pink corduroy for skinny pants and matching painter's smock.

Frozen coffee mousse is the perfect dessert for an afternoon coffee party. It's deep flavored, light and creamy, and a marvelous "sweet" companion for fragrant, hot-coffee.

A Dream of a Dessert For a Coffee Party

Now that the hot summer months are gone, coffee parties are in full swing again. It's time to bring out your best chiffo, fill the coffee pot to the brim and entertain a few of your closest friends. For something very special and, incidentally, very French, why not try this simple recipe for frozen coffee mousse.

Here's a perfectly delicious dessert that has a deep coffee flavor and is just as creamy as a mousse should be. The nicest part is you can make it in the morning, pour the coffee-cream mixture into fluted muffin cups and freeze it in your refrigerator. Then, whenever you are ready, simply turn out your individual desserts and serve them with chocolate sauce. This is the way to entertain—with little effort and quite a bit of glamor!

For a coffee party, of course, you'll want plenty of your best, freshly-brewed coffee. Be sure to make enough for seconds and thirds to go with leisurely chatter.

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beat in sugar. Add salt and coffee. Cook over hot water, stirring until mix-

'Long-Woman' Silhouette

NEW YORK (UPI)—Yves, Mathieu St. Laurent, the only Paris designer who lowered the hemline this fall, said recently he doesn't care whether other designers follow his lead.

"Other designers make what they want; I make what I want," said the 22-year-old designer, successor to the late and great Christian Dior.

Will he continue to show mid-calf length in his American and Paris collections.

St. Laurent said he did not know. "Hems are a matter of proportion; it is necessary to make the long woman," said St. Laurent, whose knowledge of English is limited.

"I don't know what I shall do next season," he said in an interview on his arrival at Idlewild airport.

DEAR ABBY . . .

RUN RAGGED!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been a sales person in women's dresses for 22 years and I still want to know what the customer means when she says, "That is not what I had in mind?" I show them dresses that are the latest fashion and when they try them on they look simply beautiful, and still they look in the mirror and turn around and say, "Sorry—that is not what I had in mind." If they want a dress of a certain color or style, I bring it. I never misfit anybody. Now, if they don't want to buy a dress, what are they doing in a dress shop? Can YOU tell me what they had in mind?

SALES PERSON: They are probably just killing time—and the only thing they had in mind was to drive you out of yours.

DEAR ABBY: When a boy calls me up and asks me to go somewhere and I don't want to go with him, I never know what to say. I usually stutter a little and make an excuse like, "We're having company." My father says I should just tell them I don't want to go out with them, but that's too embarrassing. What is your advice?

STUMPED: DEAR STUMPED: It is too unkind to tell a boy bluntly that you don't want to go out with him. An excuse (like the one you offer) is more gentle. After you've turned down a boy three or four times, he will catch on and give up. In the meantime, he's salvaged his pride.

DEAR ABBY: May I answer "Mother of Seven" who was all for Grandma's hard, natural child-bearing method who said, "Brave the pain and like it!" Your reply was superb and correct. I can never stop grieving for a lovely school teacher mamma who bore her 11 babies in a farmhouse. She screamed loud enough so that we children were terrified. At 47 she died, her last attempt to bear a child. She buried six. Thank God today we are enlightened and Medical Science has made child-bearing practically painless.

THANKFUL

DEAR ABBY: One of our neighbors is really a terrific person when it comes to handling children. She has a wonderful disposition and nothing bothers her. All the neighborhood children love to go to her house because she plays games with them and tells them stories and they adore her. Our problem is this: She can leave dishes in her sink for a week and never trouble to make her beds or sweep up. Her kitchen is always a mess and she insists on feeding our children. I get sick when I think that my children eat over there. How can I tell her not to feed my children from her filthy kitchen without hurting her feelings?

TACTFUL: DEAR TACTFUL: First, instruct your children that they are not to eat "between meals" and if they get hungry to come home. Then tell your neighbor that your children have promised not to eat between meals and she could help by not offering them anything.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Name calling office etiquette: When my superior introduced me to my co-workers, he referred to me as "Mrs.," but called them "Jean Smith," "Jack Brown," etc. I told him that my name is Marilyn, which he used for the remaining introductions, but he did not tell me his first name. I have been there a month now and am still calling him Mr. Louise Davis Allen, even though he calls me Marilyn. Everyone also calls him Ted. I feel that I should be using his first name too, so I feel it is his place to tell me so.

I had a painful experience when I was a high school senior. I worked after school and referred to my superiors as "Mrs."

I overheard a girl make unkind remarks about this formality of mine. Do you think that Mr. Allen is pleased with the respect I am showing him? Or is he too embarrassed to set me straight?

Louise Davis answers: "Familiarity breeds contempt." Be on the safe side by calling your superior "Mr. Allen." It is wise to assume nothing and when the time comes for first names, you will know without guessing. I'm sure that your superior isn't too embarrassed to tell you. Your experience when a high school senior shouldn't have been painful at all. The girl who made the remark was presumptuous and ill-bred. You were right in calling your superiors "Mr." It is always advisable in business to be impersonal, especially with superiors, unless they encourage informality in first-name calling.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 26-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Mary Ann Yuen, aged 13, of San Francisco, Calif., for her question:

How Did They Discover the Speed of Light?

The early astronomers thought that light whisked across space in no time at all. But the great Galileo decided to test this theory. He used a lantern to clock a beam of light between two hilltops and the answer seemed to be that light required no time to travel. Galileo's answer was wrong. Little did he dream that light did have speed, and is fast enough to circle the equator seven and a half times in a second. However, other work he did led to discoveries about the speed of light.

In 1850 Foucault, another French scientist, made a better instrument. He used an arc lamp and a distant mirror, but in this case the mirror revolved to reflect back the beam at a certain angle. Foucault's invention was later refined to give us the most accurate figures we have on the speed of light. The scientist knew now that light does not whisk across space in no time at all. It is a speedy traveler, but it does need time to travel. The job now was to find its exact speed and this required years of painstaking detail.

Spent Lifetime on Problem

The American scientist A. A. Michelson gave 50 years of his life to working out the exact figures of the speed of light and, even so, the final figures were not completed until after his death. Like Foucault, he used a rotating mirror. For five years he worked with a beam of light between Mount Wilson and Mount San Antonio in Southern California—a distance of 45 miles. But the result did not satisfy the careful scientist. He thought that particles of atmosphere might be disturbing the speed of his light beam.

Later, he worked on an instrument to overcome this handicap. He built a tunnel three feet wide and one mile long. He had all the dust and a good deal of the air removed from this tunnel. Then he set up his are-lamp at one end and a mirror at the other. The light beam was clocked as it reflected back and forth down the tunnel ten times, a distance of ten miles. The results of this tedious experiment were given to the world in 1933 by Michelson's assistants.

These most accurate of all the figures we have, give the speed of light as 299,774 kilometers a second. In rough, round figures this comes to 186,000 miles a second—fast enough to whip around the waist of the world twenty times while you count to three.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Patty Kime, age 11, of Shreveport, La., for her question:

Where Do Hummingbirds Go in Winter?

Hummingbirds are summer visitors. They leave us when the flowers fade. For hummers feed on the small, pesky insects that hide in flower petals. So, come fall, off they fly to where flowers are to be found in more abundance. No hummer winters in North America. They fly to Central America and some fly way down over the equator to South America.

A full-grown hummer weighs less than an ounce, feathers, wings, beak and all. Yet this tiny mite migrates over great distances. The ruby-throated hummer, who summers in the east, winters in Central America. This feathery mite fuels up on insects and nectar and takes off over 500 miles of open water to his winter home. Andy says this is a good thing to remember next time you feel too tired to do the dishes.

RECOGNIZING a neighbor's work, Brooke Claxton pauses on a tour of the Centennial Wing at Victoria Art Gallery to admire Albert H. Robinson's "Moonlight Street, Tite-des-Caps." With him are Mrs. H. R. Turner, president of the Gallery Committee, and Cmdr. P. F. Fairfull, president, board of directors.

B.C. Moved Quickest of All To Get Canada Council Aid

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Once the Canada Council foundation was set up, British Columbia lead all Canada in the speed, efficiency and "rapacity" with which advantage of the system of grants was taken up, council chairman Brooke Claxton told a large audience at the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria Tuesday night.

He was speaking briefly and informally in the gallery's new centennial wing which he described as a "great achievement and major contribution to the artistic life of the community."

The former minister of national defence was deeply impressed with the specially designed lighting arrangement.

"SUPERB"

"It's superb," he declared; "I've never seen anything like it."

The method of hanging pictures without puncturing the Japanese grasscloth covered walls, devised by curator Colin Graham, also caught his eye.

He told officials he intended to copy it.

Indication that the Victoria Art Gallery could look for continued assistance from Canada Council was contained in a reference to what the council has given and "may give."

So far, the gallery and Victoria Symphony are the only two local organizations that have had council grants.

Gallery and symphony members, guests of the gallery women's committee at Tuesday's reception, heard from Mr. Claxton details of how the original funds are invested and administered by a small committee of retired financiers.

"Of course, I'm a reformed lawyer," he commented dryly. "And a retired politician—voluntarily retired that is."

A pause. "And just in time too," he added amid laughter.

He told his audience that profit of $2,500,000 was realized on the original investment in the first year.

"LEVERAGE"

In administering the two $50,000,000 funds for the propagation of arts, humanities and social sciences through grants to universities from the one, and individuals and organizations from the other, Council's object is what Mr. Claxton described as "leverage."

"We expect those organizations receiving the grants to raise as much themselves and to increase their activity," he explained.

As an example, he pointed out that while $105,000 had been given to Canadian symphony orchestras during the year, the symphonies themselves had raised $840,000, while giving many more free concerts for children.

MORE TALKS

In a tour of the gallery, Mr. Claxton showed acute interest in all aspects and an appreciative familiarity with many of the pictures contained in the Two Centuries of Canadian Painting exhibition in the main room of the fireproof wing.

During a week's visit to Victoria and the Island, Mr. Claxton will have further conferences with Gallery and Symphony directors.

New Constitution

For Jazz Society

Studied Tonight

Ratification of a newly-prepared constitution will be asked at a general meeting of Victoria Jazz Society at 8:30 tonight in Club Tango, Oak Bay.

A recent meeting of the year-old group instructed the executive to draw up a permanent constitution through which the affairs of the society could be conducted.

Persons interested in joining VJS can contact treasurer Bob Keziere, 1299 Oakmount, 4-7705, or attend the general membership meeting.

BB (Worthwhile)

C (To put in time)

(A) "THE NAKED AND THE DEAD" (Capitol)—As a war drama Warner's adaptation of Norman Mailer's best seller is very good indeed, capturing many of the ingredients that war brings out in men: brutality, fear, courage and, in everyone, something of the beast.

However, there is a feeling that much of what the book had to "say" was somewhere omitted. Therefore, what the picture lacked, in the end, was reason—if there can be any reason given for legalized murder.

Although all are generally excellent in the many roles it is Aldo Ray as the vicious platoon sergeant who will be longest remembered. When the men of General Vincent Massey invade the Japanese-held Pacific Island it is Ray who shoots his unarmed prisoners and takes the gold from the teeth of the dead presumably to be traded for cash at the first opportune moment. It is Ray who deliberately leads his men into ambush because he is jealous at having to take second place to Lieutenant Cliff Robertson.

IN THE SECONDARY roles it is Massey who scores with the characterization of a general who but for the grace of God would have been God. His doctrine of leadership, as he explained to his aide Robertson when that young man voiced his displeasure over the fact, that officers received more benefits than did enlisted men, was that if the men feared their officers more than they did the enemy then their fighting qualities would be all the better for it.

Indeed, he waxes so angry with Robertson, the son of one of his best friends, that he deliberately details him to Ray's platoon in a special assignment that he must have known in his heart was tantamount to suicide.

Yet another weakness to "The Naked and the Dead" is Robertson himself. As the picture advances and he spouts his philosophies, especially toward the end, one begins to grow weary of him, caring less and less whether he lives or dies. For all these faults in characterization, however, "The Naked and the Dead" emerges as a first class war drama so long as the plot concentrates on action. It is when it tries to explain the reason for it all that it fails to measure up.

ONE-TREE FRUIT STAND IN HIS OWN BACKYARD

MOUNT BRYDGES, Ont. (CP) — If Caradoc Township Fire Chief Ray Northcott wants an apple he picks one from a tree in his backyard. If he wants a pear he can also pick one—from the same tree. In fact the tree is virtually a growing fruit stand. At last count, four kinds of apples and two varieties of pears were dangling harmoniously from its branches. Ten years ago the original pear tree was cut to a three-foot-high stump. Then Mr. Northcott started experimenting. He grafted branches from various kinds of apple trees on the stump. Then he tried various pear tree twigs.

Next year the chief says he may add peaches and plums.

$1,213 in Cash Found on Suspect

Police Tell of Recovering $3,119 After Safe Looted at City Store

Money turned up at practically every hand when Victoria detectives investigated a $3,000 safe robbery June 14.

At the trial of three suspects in city police court Tuesday, detectives said they discovered $3,119.23 in the pockets or property of the Vancouver men charged with the burglary of Spencer's Stores Ltd., 1420 Douglas.

David William Hargraves, T. A. W. McNaughton and Kenneth Leonard Wallden were remanded to 3 p.m. Friday by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

RCMP detectives and crime laboratory experts from Regina gave lengthy testimony.

Det. William Andrews said he took $1,213.03 from Wallden's pockets and another $1,036 from a suitcase found near his right hand when questioned at Patricia Bay airport the early morning of June 14.

He said Wallden admitted ownership of the suitcase.

$234 ON HIM
Hargraves also was questioned at the nearly-deserted airport building, Det. Andrews said, and a sum of $234.50 was found on his person. At city police charge office, another $7.20 in dimes dropped from his pocket, the detective said.

McNaughton was found lying across a bed at a Victoria address later the same day, and when he asked detectives what they wanted and they said "the rest of the cash," he was quoted as replying:

'FREE TO LOOK'
"I don't know what you are talking about but you are free to look."

They did and discovered $629 in a handkerchief and from a table.

Crime lab experts Cpl. Hugh Van Deusen and Cons. William Picton gave evidence concerning tools and impressions left on parts of the building and safe.

Auxiliary Donates To Youth Training

CHEMAINUS—Legion Ladies' Auxiliary at its regular meeting approved a donation of $5 to the B.C. Command youth training program.

Mrs. O. Reid was named convener for the poppy committee. Canvassers will begin contacting stores and service clubs for wreath orders this week. All orders for poppy wreaths must be placed before the end of September.

Annual party for the "Old Vets" will be held in the Legion hall Oct. 17. Entertainment will be provided by the Legionettes.

More Bodies Recovered From Train

PARIS (Reuters) — Terrorists third coach of a Jersey Central Railroad train that plunged into Newark Bay Monday was recovered from the water here today.

The bodies of three men and a woman were taken from the coach, while divers found two other bodies floating nearby.

Recovery of the six bodies brought the known death toll from the disaster to 27. The railway estimates the final toll may go as high as 40.

The train's engineer, Lloyd Wilburn, 63, died in the accident. An autopsy report said a weak heart contributed to his death.

Medical officials said, however, that the exact cause of death will not be known until further tests are made.

Meanwhile, the New York Journal-American reported that a search was being made for a super-secret guided missile mechanism believed lost when an army courier died in the wreck.

The newspaper said the missing device was reported to be a tiny transistor radio capable of beaming signals from a baby moon in outer space, and that it probably was imbedded in silt on the bottom of the bay.

massive protest against loss of the right to vote in city elections.

The economic squeeze has forced about 12 small stores to close and has sent other merchants into neighboring communities in search of business.

By contrast, the cluster of Negro stores here are prospering. A new supermarket operated for Negroes has drawn much of the trade away from the shops in town where Negro housewives once bought groceries.

NOT MUCH CHANGE
Mayor Phil Lightfoot and president B. D. Cohn of the Tuskegee Chamber of Commerce say there has been evidence of some letup in the boycott in recent weeks, but Lightfoot added, "I can't see much change."

Negro spokesmen had little to say. They have been reluctant to talk since Attorney-General John Patterson tried to break the boycott with a court injunction.

Patterson accused the Tuskegee Civic Association of promoting the boycott and asked for a permanent court order prohibiting TCA members and followers from using force or threats to keep other Negroes from trading at white stores.

Judge Will O. Walton granted a temporary injunction but ultimately threw it out with the declaration that "thus far in this land, every person has a right to trade with whomever he pleases, and therefore the right to not trade with any particular person or business."

NOW STATIONED at Picton, Ont., Lieut. Kenneth Hickford, 1303 Bay, was recently promoted to his present rank with the Royal Canadian Artillery. Lieut. Hickford was formerly with the artillery reserves here, both in non-commissioned and commissioned ranks.

Trial Ordered In Shooting

PORT ALBERNI—Billy Sam, 35, was committed Monday for trial at the next assizes on a reduced charge of criminal negligence in the shooting of 29-year-old Harry Fred two weeks ago on the Uchucklesit reserve at Kildonan.

Originally charged with manslaughter, Sam faced the lesser charge at his preliminary hearing here.

Testimony was that Sam was showing his .22-calibre rifle to Fred, a visitor to the Sam home, when the gun went off and a bullet struck Fred in the eye.

Sam now is free on bail of two sureties of $1,000 each.

Committee Named to Show Gov't Mental Hospital Staff Available

First step to convince the government that sufficient trained personnel can be made available to staff a new mental hospital on Vancouver Island, was taken by the Greater Victoria inter-municipal committee Tuesday.

It appointed a committee composed of Saanich Reeve George Chatterton and Esquimalt councillor G. K. Sammon to prepare a brief to show that sufficient nurses can be trained for a mental institution.

The brief will also show the need for such a hospital in this area.

The two members were also empowered to appoint any number of persons to the committee to assist them in preparing the brief which will be submitted to the provincial government.

The inter-municipal committee's action follows a recent announcement by the government that plans for the construction of a $1,000,000 mental hospital had been shelved for lack of trained personnel to staff it.

Reeve Chatterton said he could not accept the government's reasons for cancelling its plans.

"If there is need for such a hospital, and I believe the need is great," said the reeve, "it should be built without delay."

The reeve won the strong support of Coun. Sammon.

"The proposed brief will show that we can adequately staff the hospital," said the councillor.

Coun. Sammon warned that if the government's excuse was accepted it could raise the same argument for cancelling all plans for construction and additions to all hospitals.

"It is just as easy to say we can't build any more hospitals in the province because we haven't the staff," he pointed out. "In my opinion this is no argument."

Group to Dismantle Park Playground

CHEMAINUS — Summer activities will end officially at the Kinsmen park playground this week.

Kinsmen will hold a work party at the playground to dismantle park and playground equipment and lock it up for the winter months. The park then will be given a final cleaning.

Kraft's PARKAY Margarine offers

FREE POWERS MODEL NYLONS

Send no money — just yellow end flaps from 10 lbs. of Parkay (either 1 lb. or 2 lb. packages)

60-gauge — s-t-r-e-t-c-h style or regular style

- Choice of two flattering shades: Honolulu—a tropical suntone, Hollywood—a warm, flattering medium beige
- Certified first-quality by the United States Testing Company, Inc.
- Sheer—yet long-wearing
- Worn by millions of well-dressed women in Canada and the U.S.

Ordinarily you'd expect to pay at least $1.65 a pair for nylons like these—but now you can get a pair absolutely free!

These are the nylons created by John Robert Powers for the famous Powers Models. They're beautifully sheer—but also practical and long-wearing. Millions of cash orders have already been filled. Now for the first time you can get a pair without sending in money.

Be sure to serve fresh-flavored fresh-tasting Parkay regularly, so you can take advantage of this special limited-time offer on Powers Model Nylons.

SAVE THE YELLOW END FLAPS

Just clip the yellow end flaps from each package of Parkay you buy. To get your free nylons you need yellow end flaps from 10 lbs. of Parkay, either 1 lb. or 2 lb. packages.

Convicts Change in Forest Camps

This is the first of two articles by Norman Cribbens, Times staff reporter, after a visit to B.C.'s forest jail camps on the mainland. The idea of the camp originated in the report of a penal commission set up in 1930 under the chairmanship of the late Col. Eric Pepler, then deputy attorney-general. The first of these camps was built three years ago.

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

NO. 1 FOREST JAIL CAMP, NEAR CHILLIWACK
—If I should ever commit a legal crime (as distinct from the petty crimes most of us commit), I hope they will send me to one of the B.C. Government's forest jail camps in expiation of that crime.

Here in this beautiful Chilliwack River Valley, where the trees grow tall and the silvery torrent boils over stones and boulders, there are two such jail camps—each with its own swimming pool, a pleasant community of sleeping cabins and some of the choicest fishing places a millionaire could wish for.

What is more, each camp has its own dining and recreation hall where the prisoners have their meals, play games and watch TV during off-duty hours.

So this is punishment? you say. This is how we coddle men who have been sentenced for breaking the laws of our land? But wait a minute—it isn't as simple as that.

In the first place, the prisoners sent here are finishing their sentences and have earned their freedom by good behavior. Secondly, everything in these camps has been built by the prisoners themselves. Thirdly, any luxuries they have— including TV—have been purchased out of the 75 cents a day they earn by hard back-breaking work in the forests. The swimming pools, too, have been built by them.

maintain them in these camps. This is indeed a man's world. Rarely if ever do you see a woman in these camps, for the wives of these prisoners (if they should still be interested in their jail-bird husbands) are not allowed to visit them.

As to work, the 121 men now resident in Nos. 1 and 2 forest jail camps, are building a 23-mile highway from Vedder Crossing, near Camp No. 1, to Chilliwack Lake. And this will help open up the country for logging operations.

HEAVY WORK DONE

So far, since the camps were opened early in 1957, the prisoners have cleared 14 of the 23 miles and are busy constructing bridges and culverts and working on re-forestation projects along the route.

By the end of 1958, says Mr.

Stevens, there will be six such camps operating in British Columbia—the only province in Canada which builds them.

There will be three in the Chilliwack River Valley—a third being now under construction—in addition to similar camps now in operation at Haney, at nearby Gold Creek and at Wells Gray Park at Clearwater, north of Kamloops.

"These forest camps are part of a movement," said Mr. Stevens, "in the same way that the Borstal system was a movement. We are moving forward in our methods of rehabilitating criminals and, at the same time, we are lessening the burden on the taxpayer."

The second article in this two-part report will appear in Thursday's Times.

GANGES GIRL WINS BURSARY

GANGES—Provincial Canadian Legion bursary of $200 has been awarded to Miss Donna White, Ganges, now enrolled at Victoria College.

She also received a Salt Spring Island PTA bursary of $100, and the local Legion ladies' auxiliary bursary.

Sagging Blimp Comes Down

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP)—A huge blimp, free of the shackles of man and of its 10-man crew, floated freely for six hours Tuesday, a menace to planes travelling one of the busiest air-line routes in the United States. Then, as the navy considered shooting it down, the blimp settled easily to the ground some 25 miles east of its naval air station base here.

The craft's helium bag was sagging as it landed. The navy presumed a helium escape valve, which the crew had pulled out, emergency landing.

How to Shrink Your Swollen, Painful Piles

Relieve Itching, Soreness and Pain

without ointments, pile pipes or suppositories

Here is a safe, clean, easy way to shrink or reduce swollen, painful piles without the inconvenience of ointments, pile pipes or suppositories. The secret is in taking just one small Hem-Roid Tablet, with water, two or three times a day. By effective INTERNAL action this mild but gently persistent medicine causes congestion, helps break up and smoothly pass of hardened internal waste, relieves itching, soreness and pain, helps shrink piles and permits them to heal. Hem-Roid is so easy to use, so pleasant and satisfying

System Proves Easier on Taxpayer

Another consideration is that it is cheaper for us, the taxpayers, to keep these men in forest jail camps than in the Oakalla penitentiary, where they serve the main part of their sentence.

Then there is the consideration of the prisoners themselves. Few are vicious criminals. The majority, I am told, are men who commit foolish larcenies or behave violently under the influence of alcohol—and very often as the result of "wife trouble."

Truce, some of them are second and third-time offenders. Yet, as H. Miles-Pickup—chief officer of the two camps—remarked:

"Life in the forest has a softening influence on the toughest of men. They respond to the lure of the wilderness and feel they are part of a joint enterprise to create better conditions for themselves and others."

ENVIRONMENT WORKS

"You can see it in their faces. When they come here they may look surly and resentful. When they have been in the forest a while their expression changes. You can see what a natural outdoor life has done for them."

"My chief fear is that, when they return to life outside, other influences will undo what the forests have done."

ADVENTURERS AT PORTLAND

PORTLAND (AP)—A former merchant seaman and a one-time cab driver, both Britons, rested here Tuesday after a 23-day kayak voyage along the Pacific coast from Victoria, B.C. The two are John Braggins, 24, from Wales, and Peter Edwards, 25, of London.

Eventually the pair plans to edge down the coast by kayak, to South America.

Then there is the very persuasive argument of Ernest G. B. Stevens, the B.C. government's director of correction.

"It costs 10 times as much," he says, "to provide accommodation and equipment for 60 men in a formal jail setting, such as Oakalla, as it does to

Times Man Tours Forest Jail Camps

For three years British Columbia has been experimenting with forest jail camps as one phase of a program of penal reform.

This week the government opened the camps for a tour by newspapermen.

Merchants To Defy Closing Law

Open defiance of the Wednesday afternoon closing law was promised today by all Victoria City drug stores and some small retailers.

And at least one gas station owner announced he would stay open Sunday, also in defiance of the law.

Chief John Blackstock announced Tuesday the police would crack down on merchants who refused to obey the municipal by-law which calls for a five-and-one-half-day week.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said today the crack-down came on the insistence of the Six-Day Shopping Week committee, which represents merchants who wish the Wednesday closing law wiped off the books.

He said the committee, through spokesman Archie Wills, served notice at a finance committee meeting Sept. 8 that it would press for strict obedience of the law, if a six-day week was not tried for a year.

The mayor said city council had earlier agreed to review the closing law in September, and this review was now under way.

PC Leader Doesn't Like Debate Rules

VANCOUVER (CP) — Deane Finlayson, British Columbia Conservative leader, has turned down an offer to debate the Social Credit government's financial policies with Premier Bennett because the premier's rules aren't acceptable.

Mr. Finlayson took up what he calls the premier's public challenge to debate the issue Saturday. But Mr. Bennett said Tuesday the debate must be in the presence of only a team of financial experts and must be limited to a comparison of Ontario's Conservative government financing and that of the B.C. Social Credit government.

Mr. Finlayson said Tuesday night that putting up a panel of experts would be like a man on trial appointing his own jury. Besides, public money is being spent and the public has a right to hear the debate, he said.

Premier Bennett has been quoted earlier as saying he would debate the merits of his debt reduction plan publicly with opponents.

Fliers Escape Crash

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — An Air Force C-124 Globemaster carrying eight men crashed while landing at Tinker Air Force base today. The $1,700,000 plane exploded on impact, a base spokesman said, but none of the eight was killed.

MURDER SUSPECT'S MOTHER TO APPEAR

Youth in Court This Week

A 16-year-old boy charged with murdering Charles Mudge, 38, 3460 Metcoshin, will appear in a juvenile court Thursday or Friday.

It was not certain today whether the court will be held in the Veterans' Hospital room where the youth has been under guard since Sunday, or in a regular court room.

Mr. Mudge was found shot to death after his 28-year-old wife Phyllis stumbled 75 yards to a neighbor's house to raise the

NEW OFFER STUDIED

Ford Workers Stage Walkout

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers at Ford plants across the U.S. began walking off the job at the 11 a.m. EDT (8 a.m., PDT), strike deadline today even as the union and Ford agreed there had been a new offer which might solve the dispute.

ATOM SUB ON RECORD VOYAGE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The atom-powered submarine Seawolf apparently has eclipsed all 'undersea endurance records.

The Seawolf, second nuclear sub built by the U.S., left New London, Conn., Aug. 5 for extended undersea operations and the navy has made no announcement since on its progress.

That was 43 days ago. A high navy source said today it was a "good guess" the sub has been submerged the entire time.

There were indications the heavy is shooting for a 60-day underwater record.

The previous record has been held by the Skate, which completed a run of 31 days five hours completely submerged.

UAW president Walter Reuther hurried from the meeting room 10 minutes before the deadline and told reporters that the company had added something new.

But, he said, the strike machinery was in motion and that the union had no way of holding its workers on the job past the strike hour.

Reuther indicated the union would take only a short time to consider Ford's latest offer and there was general belief it would be accepted, ending the strike.

RETROACTIVE PAY
Carl Stellato, president of the 50,000-man Ford Local 600, biggest unit in the UAW, said that the company proposed a settlement of the retroactive pay issue, one of the major points at issue in the long negotiations, by offering to make its contract effective as of July 1. Ford workers had been without a contract since the previous pact ran out June 1 and the union had demanded that any new agreement be retroactive to that date.

Stellato said the offer offered to increase its basic pension from $2.25 to $2.35 a month for each worker for each year of service. It also offered to continue the annual improvement factor which gives workers six cents an hour or 2 1/2 per cent of their hourly wage, whichever is greater.

Negotiations were in recess at the other two major auto makers, General Motors and Chrysler. Talks there will resume this afternoon with both sides obviously awaiting the outcome of the Ford talks. Any Ford settlement would set a pattern for the other two in the auto industry's big three.

Mrs. Mudge's father, John Brand, 70, was also found shot to death in the bungalow home. Phyllis Mudge, recovering in St. Joseph's Hospital from cuts and bruises inflicted when the killer attacked her, was reported in "good condition" today, but she is not allowed visitors.

Condition of the 16-year-old, the Mudgetts' foster-son, is "improving, although sometimes he is not coherent in speech."

'Pajamas' Ballot Decisive

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — For the second time in a year the government has been defeated in the Senate on a "pajamas-and-wheelchair" vote.

Labor today summoned its full strength, including Senator Donald Grant, who was convalescing from an operation, to defeat the government 30 votes to 29.

Grant, in pajamas, was brought from hospital in an ambulance and wheeled into the chamber.

In a similar situation a year ago Labor defeated the government's banking legislation.

Traffic Claims Two Victims In 12 Hours

Traffic accidents claimed two lives on Vancouver Island within 12 hours.

Mrs. Doris Nash, 40, was killed when the 1954 sedan she was driving went off Lake Cowichan Road this morning between Mesachie Lake and Lake Cowichan, and Chin Yuk Chun, 1722 1/2 Government, Victoria, was found fatally injured in the middle of Keating Crossroad late Tuesday.

TRAIN DRAGS CAR 300 FEET

ALBURNI — Driver of a car which was pushed the length of a city block along the E & N Railway tracks by a freight train at 8:15 a.m. today is reported to be in deep state of shock but otherwise unharmed.

Frank Ball, Jr., of 904 Ian Avenue, was driving to work when his small car was hit by the train at Latham railway crossing.

The auto was caught on the locomotive's cow-catcher, and carried down the track at least 300 feet before the train pulled to a screeching halt.

Grid Boss To Probe Grey Cup Issue

WINNIPEG (CP) — Football commissioner G. Sydney Halter of Winnipeg said today he would meet officials at Vancouver on Thursday to discuss rental terms for the Grey Cup final at Empire Stadium on Saturday, Nov. 29.

"No agreement has been reached yet, but I am flying to Vancouver for a meeting with Pacific National Exhibition directors or representatives on Thursday afternoon and I hope a satisfactory agreement will be reached," Halter said in an interview.

Halter denied an earlier report that he had written the nine professional clubs asking for permission to change the site of the classic to Toronto Varsity Stadium if a rental agreement could not be reached with Vancouver officials.

She is believed to have died instantly and her son, about 13, was seriously injured and taken to King's Daughters' Hospital in Duncan. Full extent of his injuries was not known at press time.

A witness identified only as Mr. Maitland saw the accident as he was driving in the opposite direction, and summoned aid.

Mrs. Nash is survived by the husband, John R. Nash, at Honeycomb Bay. Arrangements are being made for an inquest.

Discussing the Central Saanich fatality, police said it is possible Chin could have suffered a collapse on the road, then have been hit. The car they seek is described as a black English model, probably an Austin. The driver of a second car seen in the vicinity and earlier sought by police came forward today and was released after questioning.

Chin, who wore dark clothing, was pronounced dead on arrival at Sidney's Rest Haven Hospital. Police said he suffered head injuries.

He had been found by 30-year-old Metro Zabraick, 1102 Empress.

"I was going along," he said, "when all of a sudden there was a body in the middle of the road."

"I don't know whether I hit him or not."

"FAIR SPEED"
Mr. Zabraick told police two cars passed him before he arrived at the scene, "and they were going a fair speed."

Chin was a man who liked to take long walks. Police at both Saanich and Central Saanich, as well as Sidney, said they had picked him up several times and taken him home. He made a habit of walking in the road, sometimes close to traffic.

Funeral arrangements still to be announced will be made by Sands funeral home.

Aid to Trading In Commonwealth

MONTREAL (CP) — Britain today dramatically stripped away a big chunk of her import restrictions on goods from Canada and the United States and Finance Minister Fleming called it a "statesmanlike stroke."

Britain's announcement, causing a new flurry of excitement in the Commonwealth trade conference came fewer than 24 hours after Mr. Fleming bitterly attacked United Kingdom restrictions, calling them "divisive" and charging they split Canada from the rest of the Commonwealth.

Sir David Eccles, Britain's trade boss, calling a new tune for his country, announced an "almost clean sweep of the controls on dollars imports of industrial, agricultural and office machinery."

Removed also from import controls were newsprint and canned salmon, except salmon from the Soviet bloc.

Starting next year, Britain proposed to remove restrictions on imports of consumer goods and foodstuffs still restricted and set the stage for progressive removal of all other curbs.

Colonies Invited to Remove Curbs

Britain's colonies such as Zanzibar, Uganda, Tanganyika and the West Indies, were "invited" to remove curbs on a "wide range of dollar goods."

All this would mean that Britain was progressively opening her doors to a large flow of goods from Canada, the U.S. and meant she was willing to accept greater competition from Canada, a move that could influence prices and stimulate Canadian exports.

It also meant that Britain also was continuing on the path of complete convertibility of her sterling currency with dollar

Action Followed Fleming Appeal

Sir David threw his blockbuster announcement into the morning session of the Commonwealth trade and economic conference, apologizing for what he described as a long speech.

Finance Minister Fleming interjected that if he kept talking in that vein, he could continue speaking for the rest of the conference.

The announcement followed Mr. Fleming's appeal to Britain on Tuesday to remove import curbs on goods from Canada and take the final plunge toward complete convertibility of the pound with dollar currencies.

Sir David's dramatic statement was seen by observers as a victory for Canada and a great move by the Commonwealth towards freer trade.

He preceded his speech with a review of Britain's trade philosophy, maintaining that countries cannot work in isolation; that they had to get away from high, unjustified protection of

China UN Seat Believed Doomed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — The United Nations turned its attention today to the Far East situation after a resounding Western victory in the opening minutes of the 13th General Assembly.

In advance of the meeting it was generally conceded that the eighth attempt for UN recognition in the nine years since Communist forces took control of the China mainland would be no more successful than its predecessors.

This attitude was bolstered by the assembly's election Tuesday of Lebanon's Foreign Minister Charles Malik as assembly president for the coming weeks of debate.

Both the Arab and Soviet blocs were voted down sharply in their move to have Foreign Minister Mohammed Maghoub of the Sudan elected in Malik's place—a move interpreted as an attempt at condemnation in the UN for the American Middle East position.

Egypt Claims New UN Chief 'U.S. Agent'

CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian press attacked today the election of Charles Malik of Lebanon as president of the UN General Assembly.

It charged that he is an "American agent" and was pushed for the presidency by United States "after he became jobless in Lebanon." Malik is foreign minister in the outgoing regime of President Camille Chamoun.

In Beirut, pro-government supporters were jubilant and opposition rebels glum.

In Damascus, Syrian newspapers bitterly attacked Malik. Ash Sham said: "Malik was elected neither as a representative of the Lebanon nor of the Arab states, but as representative of the American imperial powers."

Both sides in the dispute stick to their guns, the board will be faced with the decision of whether to grant the increase or see a national rail strike similar to one in 1950.

The board granted the railways a 3.6 per cent increase in January, only to have their decision overruled by the federal cabinet in an unprecedented move.

CHEST CHAIRMAN WARNS

'Let George Do It' Must Be Curtailed

Giving to the Community Chest is one of the best ways of maintaining a flourishing democracy, campaign chairman Justin Harbord told a luncheon meeting of the industrial-commercial division Tuesday.

"Democracy, like the Chest, was founded in the belief that we each have a share in accepting responsibility for the welfare and needs of our neighbors," he said.

"In these materialistic days there is an increasing tendency to 'Let George Do It' which must be curtailed if we are to keep our society healthy."

"This joint participation is the basis of democracy. Even more so, it is the foundation of the Community Chest. By supporting the Chest you are actually supporting democracy, too."

In other Chest news, the B.C. Government Employees Association has issued a statement pointing out that if payroll deductions for charity are made from civil servants' wages, pay-restricted to the four major charities in this area.

Said an association official: "If PD is adopted following the vote by employees in October, other charities beside the Chest, Red Cross, Cancer Society and Salvation Army could request grants, too."

In campaign news, a pre-draw meeting of volunteer canvassers in the Odeon Theatre Sept. 28 will feature 20 girls carrying placards bearing the name of individual Red Feather agencies.

Mr. Rutledge said a girls drill team, maybe Victoria Girls Drill Team or the Chinese Girls Drill Team, will carry the cards. The $300,000 campaign drive officially starts the next day with a parade and launching of the Chest balloon near the Empress Hotel.

Meantime, $29,800 has filtered into Chest Headquarters at Spencerhouse so far. Included was one cheque for $350 received Monday.

At the time of the accident, Caird said, he was taking codeine on the prescription of a Victoria doctor in an effort to break his habit and had had no drugs for four days. Codeine, he explained, relieves the withdrawal pains.

"I might have made it that time if it had not been for the accident," said the prisoner, assuring the court of his determination when he is released to keep away from heroin.

MERCHANTS ACROSS THE PROVINCE

nounced it will remain open to 9 p.m. every night as soon as it receives official notification of the Saanich bylaw.

City druggist, Michael Grant, Grant's Pharmacy, 1064 Pandora, said he plans to stay open in defiance of the crackdown.

"It's ridiculous," he said. "We don't hold ourselves above the law. But we have been open for years to serve the public and will continue to do so."

Mr. Grant said he would contest any prosecution laid against him.

Spokesmen for the tourist bureau, automobile club and small confectioners also lashed out at the early and Sunday closing enforcement.

George Warren, speaking for the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and Victoria Automobile Club, said: "We are absolutely in favor of having stores open every day of the week except Sunday. Last year tourists spent at least $5,000,000—that's a low estimate—here and they don't like it when stores are closed."

Service stations are not affected by 1 p.m. Wednesday closing but face prosecution under the Lord's Day Act for opening Sundays.

"RIDICULOUS" Mr. Warren and service station operator Vic Williams said it is "absolutely ridiculous" to deny the motoring public an opportunity to buy gas on Sundays.

"They may just as well legislate against the use of water, electricity and telephones on Sunday," said Mr. Williams.

Cr.itioner Ken Newbery, 1606 ay, termed Wednesday 1 p.m. closing a "nuisance law" its purpose is hard to figure out.

He predicted the public would be confused as the bylaw allows confectioners to sell some goods and not others.

"Many of my customers can't shop until after 6 p.m.," he said. Some confectioners close voluntarily on Sunday but they're not in favor of being told to do it.

Sunday and after 6 p.m. business is "substantial" added Mr. Newbery.

PRESSURE GROUP He claimed a "pressure group" may be behind the crackdown.

"Independents have been getting a greater share of business in the last two years and the big stores don't like it."

Chief Constable Blackstock refused to say if extra men would be put on the enforcement detail.

Asked the minimum penalty for persons convicted of staying open, he said: "That's up to the magistrate."

One service station operator whose business is closed Sunday said the city prosecutor's department "must secure a fiat from the attorney-general's department before Sunday closing violations can be brought to court."

OTTAWA (CP)—Britain's new Comet IV airliner arrived in Ottawa from England at 1.58 a.m. today after completing its third trans-Atlantic flight.

The plane crossed the ocean twice early in August as it made a return trip from England to New York's Idlewild Airport on a proving flight.

The aircraft, Britain's hope in the race to beat the United States for trans-Atlantic jet airliner passenger traffic, left Hatfield, near London, at 3.21 p.m. Tuesday with a load of salesmen.

The aircraft stopped several hours en route at Gander, Nfld.

Second Child Vanishes Near Prince George

(From CP Dispatches)

PRINCE GEORGE — Large-scale search for the second child to disappear in the Prince George district in a week began at dawn today.

Missing is Tony Richard Beauchamp, 2, son of Gilbert Beauchamp. His home is in the Bonnet Hill area, six miles east of Prince George and about 10 miles west of the Willow River area where Cindy Lou MacLaine, 2, disappeared without trace Sept. 9. She still is missing.

Little Tony was last seen when he left his brothers and sisters to meet his father, who left work at a nearby lumber mill at 3 p.m. Tuesday.

The RCMP tracker dog Niki from Kamloops was taken to the scene.

Members of the Commonwealth and other countries in the free world shouldn't try to get wealthy on a policy of "beggar your neighbor." They had to drop all forms of protectionism where possible. They had to give other partners in the free world a chance to survive.

And those countries which were striving to boost living standards also had a job to do. They had to drive ahead to expand trade, to find more markets. It was only by obtaining more trade that they could find the necessary capital required for economic expansion.

Britain had made progress in post-war years toward removal of import restrictions. She had to be careful as she moved ahead because her reserves of dollars and gold were more vital to financial well-being.

There couldn't be a fixed timetable for removal of all remaining restrictions.

Effective immediately, "we propose to make almost a clean sweep of the controls on dollars imports of industrial, agricultural and office machinery. Only a limited range of comparatively specialized machinery will remain subject to control."

Numerous reefs and shoals make navigation difficult in the Torres Strait, between Australia and New Guinea.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate rackets committee investigator testified today more than half of the votes that elected James R. Hoffa as president of the teamsters' international union were cast illegally.

Pierre Salinger said he could prove—by the union's own constitution—illegality of 56.2 per cent of the votes for Hoffa at an international convention in Miami last October.

Salinger's testimony was given only a few hours after the teamsters' executive board called for a convention next February in an admitted move to rid itself of court-named supervisors.

Hoffa, announcing the board's action early today, described it as an effort to end the monitoring.

He said he expects little or no opposition to his re-election as president.

TWO RESCUED FROM WRECKED FISHBOAT

SEATTLE (AP)—The Coast Guard and commercial fishermen co-operated in rescuing two occupants of the 55-foot fishing boat Hydah of Friday Harbor, which grounded Tuesday night on Cattle Point, San Juan Island.

While flares were dropped from a Coast Guard plane, crewmen of the fishing boat Denmy M. took off the Hydah's owner, C. C. Vandersluis of Friday Harbor, and another crewman.

The Hydah was refloated later and escorted to Friday Harbor for repairs.

Terrorists Fail to Blow Big Gas Works

PARIS (Reuters)—Terrorists early today failed in an attempt to blow up one of the largest gas works in Paris.

They cut through a wire fence around the guarded depot at Courneuve, placed their charges under a gas tank and escaped.

The charge exploded but firemen quickly brought the blaze under control.

Terrorists also set fire to papers in the town hall at Cluzes, southeastern France. Records and furniture were destroyed before firemen mastered the blaze.

In St-Aubin-sur-Mer, northern France, four terrorists escaped after setting fire to a barn where wheat was stored.

KAMLOOPS—One man was killed and one injured Tuesday in a head-on collision of two big trucks about seven miles south of Kamloops.

Names of the victim and injured man have not been released.

U.S. Speeding World's Fastest Jets to Formosa

SOMEWHERE IN FORMOSA (Reuters) — American F-104 Star-fighters, the world's fastest and highest-flying interceptor, were arriving at this U.S. air base today at the rate of one every two hours.

They are being carried stripped down and crated in C-124 transports flying from the United States. Correspondents counted 13 F-104s on a field here today.

The planes belong to the 83rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron. The normal strength of the squadron is 25 planes. A spokesman said it was the first time F-104s have travelled outside the United States.

The jets are equipped with side-winder air-to-air missiles plus an array of six 22-millimetre cannons capable of firing 4,000 rounds a minute.

Besieged Islands Receive Supplies

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists succeeded today in delivering two more shiploads of supplies to the besieged Quemoy Islands through a hail of Communist fire.

The Nationalist defence ministry said two vessels unloaded all their cargo without suffering damage.

The ships were escorted across Formosa Strait by Nationalist warships and by vessels of the U.S. 7th Fleet which remained outside the three-mile limit.

HUGE CARRIER ARRIVES

The 65,000-ton American aircraft carrier Essex arrived in Formosan waters Tuesday after steaming one-quarter of the way around the world from the 6th Fleet off Lebanon. It joined the 7th Fleet, which the U.S. Navy calls the most powerful single naval force ever assembled.

Red shelling meanwhile went into its 26th day and apparently is aimed now at knocking out Quemoy's artillery, which has been trying to silence guns on the mainland.

The defence ministry said the 1,861 Communist shells that hit overnight were mostly of deeper penetration quality than the anti-personnel fragmentation shells used earlier.

Nearby Little Quemoy also received supplies from another parachute drop without fighter interference. The island gets some supplies by boat at night from Quemoy, two miles away.

MISSILE FIRED FROM SUB

WASHINGTON (AP)—The defence department Tuesday announced the first launching of a Regulus II missile from the deck of a submarine.

The missile was launched Tuesday from a surfaced submarine in the Pacific. It flew a prescribed course of 200 miles inland to Edwards air force base, California.

It caught fire and burned on landing.

The Regulus II has a speed of 1,400 miles an hour and a range of more than 1,000 miles.

Ex-Mayor Morley Dies Here at 96

Alfred J. Morley, a former mayor of Victoria regarded as the man who modernized the city's administrative system and the area's first town planner, died at the Royal Jubilee Hospital Tuesday.

He was 96.

English-born and an engineer by profession, Mr. Morley served five terms as mayor in the early 1900s.

He was the first proponent of amalgamation.

He established the Sooke water system and introduced a large scale street paving, widening and lighting program in Victoria.

He brought to the city the cluster lights still in use today, and started widening Pandora Avenue.

He had planned to widen the street from the E & N Railway station right to Oak Bay. Many homes were expropriated for the project but the widening of the street was never completed after his defeat at the polls.

He was a close friend of P. J. Sinnott, his solicitor and executor.

Mr. Sinnott, who worked for a time as Mr. Morley's secretary, described the former mayor as a "man of vision."

"His ideas for the planning of Victoria were resented by many and political battles were bitter," said Mr. Sinnott.

Mr. Morley had no relatives in Victoria or Canada. All are living in England.

Let's Consider the Customer

IN ITS MOST RECENT "MONTHLY Review," the Bank of Nova Scotia takes a look at Canada's pulp and paper industry.

The outline of what it sees is phrased in moderate language. This is no alarmist report. It does, however, reveal various developments and trends which are of direct concern to Canada and to British Columbia.

It is particularly the business of this province because British Columbia is swinging to pulp and paper from the lumber industry which made its forest resources B.C.'s chief money earner.

The bank's analysis outlines the unusual expansion which took place in pulp and paper making in Canada during the postwar years—years in which markets were readily available for countries which could produce pulp and paper.

And, as a complementary reference, it defines the increase in capacity in the United States, Canada's leading customer, as well as other countries where our pulp and paper products have been sold.

"In the past year and a half," says the review, "the pulp and paper industry has passed from a period of rising demand and emphasis on expanding capacity to one of much more competitive markets and excess capacity. Although the downturn in demand has been moderate, and will undoubtedly be reversed if the current pickup in U.S. business persists, users' inventories of pulp and newsprint on this continent remain relatively high and further new capacity has been completed during recent months."

This is not a new story. Producers in British Columbia have been pointing out the hard facts for some time. And producers in British Columbia are supplying information of vital concern to all people in this province.

Roughly half the wealth of British Columbia comes from the forests. Last year the money returns on pulp and paper ran to approximately 40 per cent of the amount yielded by all other wood products. By comparison, pulp and paper 10 years ago yielded only about 25 per cent of the amount returned on other wood products.

In other words, British Columbia, with its forest economy swinging heavily toward pulp and paper, is like other parts of Canada, facing very much tougher market conditions.

In many areas to which we shipped, our customers are producing more of their own pulp and paper. We can still produce a better quality than most of the world. But when potential buyers weigh quality against price, it is logical to assume that they will purchase where material is good enough for their purposes, though it may not be the best, if the price is right.

That is a practical consideration which is not obscured by forecasts of the Canadian pulp and paper industry that the long-term outlook for Canada is favorable. It is not hidden, either, by the assurance that woods resources are available for further growth and many of the natural advantages that have favored the development of Canadian industry in the past should continue to operate.

In blunt terms, we have the goods, but they could stay on the shelves if we failed to consider the customer's feelings on the matter of price. And the matter of price will hinge largely on the matter of production costs.

Light in the Shadow

IN A WORLD DARKENED BY increasing international strife and periodically on the brink of war it is refreshing to read of at least one forward step in man's efforts towards peace.

History has afforded few less likely prospects of international amity than the heretofore traditional relations between France and Germany. For generations theirs was a story of wars or preparations for wars, of territories conquered and regained, of distrust and enmity. It took the mutual destruction and chaos of the Second World War to bring to both sides a realization of the futility of further contention.

By gradual steps France and West Germany have since moved towards peace and co-operation. The age-old problem of Alsace-Lorraine was settled, the Saar question found an answer in joint coal and steel production arrangements. Diplomatic partnership was found within the NATO organization. The European common market provides a further unifying force in the economic field.

All these movements have now found expression in a joint statement by the leaders of the two countries, Premier Charles de Gaulle and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Hostility between their peoples, says the spokesmen, is finished "once and for all." From now on "Frenchmen and Germans are called to live in agreement and work side by side."

Their conclusion that constructive work in Europe is dependent on close co-operation between these two key nations is a true one, as true as that the chaos of Europe was largely due to the continuing enmity between them.

The enemies of yesteryear may be the allies of tomorrow. The opposite can also be true, but the present picture of these two "historic enemies" now working side by side for their common benefit is at once an example to others and a bright hope in a world where bright hopes have not been too prevalent in recent times.

Challenge on Mental Hospital

THE VICTORIA BRANCH OF the Canadian Mental Health Association has presented a direct challenge to Provincial Secretary Wesley Black and the Provincial Government.

The branch, deeply disappointed by the recent announcement that plans for a Vancouver Island mental hospital had been shelved, has asked the appropriate minister for a frank statement on the question.

This is the reaction to Mr. Black's explanation that: "We can't build a new hospital when it's impossible to find enough staff workers for Essondale as it is."

The mental health group is not favorably impressed by that statement. Nor is it by the explanation given to the Legislature last February by Mr. Black, who said the Provincial Secretary reported a widespread shortage of people specially trained for mental hospital work. He said that the Provincial Government was in no position to join an auction for their services at salaries that would disturb to an unacceptable degree the whole pattern of civil service pay schedules.

The president of the Victoria branch of the mental health association asserts that "This implies an unwillingness to offer wages which will attract qualified staff. If there are reasons, not made clear, why the government cannot afford to offer adequate salaries, then surely a frank explanation is due."

That is a point of view doubtless shared by a large number of Vancouver Island residents informed on mental health problems. They may justifiably question the pride with which the Provincial Government has pointed to huge expenditures in other fields—notably highway construction—when it apparently cannot afford funds to attract adequate staff to institutions caring for mental illness.

The Government can scarcely ignore the human suffering entailed in failure to provide a mental hospital on the Island and the added cost such a deficiency imposes on families of mentally ill patients.

As far as the shortage of specially trained personnel is concerned, Mr. Black might profitably look to the general hospitals and note the policy they follow.

—hence the nursing schools. Teachers are available to provide required instruction for mental hospital staffs. The establishment of a mental hospital at no great distance from Victoria could, moreover, eventually provide facilities for students in the general nursing schools to learn specialized treatment for mental patients—a course which a limited number only of Victoria student nurses can take now by going to Essondale.

In the broader field, construction of such an institution on the island would furnish an appreciable amount of work for people now unemployed. That is an ancillary benefit that would come from such an establishment.

Two News Items

MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA: A Negro was sentenced to death for stealing $1.95 from a white woman. The law specifies death for robbery in certain circumstances.

PARY, South Africa: A white woman was fined $140 for shooting a colored servant girl to death after she refused to do the housework. The judge noted that the servant had been "insolent."

The Baby-Sitter

FUGITIVES FROM INJUSTICE

By B. A. TOBIN

Whose Side Ya On?

THE bandit (female, blue-eyed, blonde, age five) shouts "Come on horse, giddyap. I'm goin' to find a Good Guy—and kill him." The desperado gallops off across the lawn and disappears around the end of the house on her happily evil mission. She is no dead-end kid, no product of the city's tenement jungle, but a cheery little youngster without a mean thought in her head.

Tobin

In choosing to be a Bad Guy rather than a Good Guy she is merely conforming to the contemporary trend.

This is a direct reversal of the approved arrangements in my time. In any game of Cops and Robbers, or Cowboys and Indians, the preferred roles were on the side of Good.

The parts of Robbers and of Indians were played with a certain amount of reluctance, by actors acknowledged to be of second-rate distinction. The best shots, fastest runners, strongest wrestlers and loudest shouters in the neighborhood invariably pre-empted the Good Guy roles.

During the First Great War, of course, there was never any hesitation about choice. It was imperative for every boy to own at least a portion of khaki uniform, the semblance of a wooden gun, and such helmets, cartridge cases, belts and holsters as he could gather together.

Dividing Line

These arms were always employed for the benefit of Our Side. It was almost impossible to recruit anybody at all for Their Side, and wartime battles were perforce fought against an unseen, invisible, indeed non-existent, foe.

Throughout all the play of those and later days the same sentiment prevailed. The Good Guys were the ones you should want to be; the Bad Guys were something to avoid when sides were being chosen.

But now all this seems to have changed, and I would like to know why. There are several plausible reasons, but it might be difficult to pick the most important. One is the advent of grey-toned ethics and grey-toned heroes and villains in place of the old black-and-white standards.

In my Cops and Robbers days a Good Guy was a Good Guy and a Bad Guy was just that. There was no shading or averaging, no compromise or meeting halfway.

It is true we accepted Robin Hood, who robbed from the rich and gave to the poor. But even this was slanted in his favor, since for robbery purposes the rich were depicted as Bad and the poor as Good, and hence, even though Robin was a hood, he was a Good Hood.

There was William Tell, too, who gained a name as a repudiator of established authority, but was still considered a hero.

These men, however, were far away from us both in time and place. They were nebulous, almost in the fairy tale class, and did not appear in our games as concrete entities.

Ours were the days before the psychologists got hold of criminals and made them into social cases; the days before the Bad Guy could prove on the psychiatrist's couch that he was merely a victim of circumstances, an escapee from Momism, or a pawn of Freudian fortune.

Not content with revealing the dormant Good Guy in every Bad Guy, the psychologists reversed the process and showed to our amazement that there is a little bit of Bad Guy in every Good Guy. The Hero is a hero, all right, but he is driven by Narcissism, or perhaps betrays evidences of compulsive exhibitionism, disruptive pre-natal influences, or even a slight disalignment of pro-social urges.

Hard to Tell

In other words the Good Guy and the Bad Guy are not as distinguishable as they once were. From the sociologist's standpoint they may even be brothers under the bandoleer, and I believe some of this thinking has penetrated to the six-gun and saddle set which today raises the dust in many a grade-school corral.

Another powerful factor in the change, I believe, is the influence of TV drama. The Bad Guy has been found equally as indispensable to the story as the Good Guy; each must be preserved to the bitter end if the hour is to be filled without too many commercials.

Thus the eight-year-old horseman, female, when set upon by her 10-year-old brother, shouts, "Wait! Wait! I'm a Bad Guy. You can't kill me till the end of the story!"

Being a modern Bad Guy thus ensures a sort of temporary permanence, and the old fear of our Cops and Robbers days—that as a Bad Guy you would be eliminated early in the game and left to lie on the boulevard while the Cops enjoyed themselves—has been dissipated.

Made His Mark

Not the least influence in this field has been Zorro. I have not yet met this gentleman face to face, but I have it on reliable authority that he is a Good Bad Guy, devoting his talents to assisting deserving citizens to outwit their evil Government.

It does little good to remark on occasion that such a preposterous unemployed employable, roistering over prison walls and making monkeys out of the authorities, would not last a moment in this country where the good old Mounties would soon have him under lock and key. Zorro rides on, dressed like a Bad Guy, doing ostensibly Bad Guy's deeds, but good, good, good inside.

No wonder it's hard to recruit a posse of respectable cowboys any more. Every toddler wants to be a kindly villain.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"HOW DO YOU LIKE OUR NEW CLUBHOUSE, MOM?"

From Our Files

Tithe

If a tithe it be, that $250,000,000 for needy countries of the Commonwealth, our government is to be commended for implementing a promise, made 2,000 years ago: "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse—and prove Me now, here-with, saith the Lord, if I will not open you the windows of Heaven, and pour you out a blessing that there will not be room to receive it." (Malachi, 3:10.)

S. A. WHITFIELD.

614 Strandlund Avenue.

Labor and Advice

There are times when thoughtful persons could wonder how credulous or glib the general public can become to swallow statements, hook, line and sinker.

For instance, a Montreal labor leader states that the governments, federal and provincial, should introduce a public works program to take care of unemployment in various areas.

That is in keeping with his address last April in Winnipeg to a Congress of Labor gathering, where he told the federal government, the labor situation required two features: less taxes and more pay.

It shows how ill qualified he is as a labor leader. For instance, here in B.C. we have 52 million dollars worth of construction contracts held up by strikes, some unions being out since last March, the plumbers, electricians, teamsters, etc., the rut we seem to be laboring in and unable to get out of, being this annual revision of labor contracts, all for the purpose of increasing the pay cheque, and or, increasing fringe benefits, more holidays with pay, shorter hours, etc., etc., "ad lib."

Could I suggest, that the leaders of labor unions, if they tried to overcome labor problems, could advise their rank and file to work, for if they wish to benefit from present day, favorable conditions they simply cannot acquire anything by being idle, "only debt."

Any reasonable man knows that here in Canada there is no need for a single man to be idle, but why put this "unemployment baby" at the doors of the governments for them to assume responsibility.

1170 Chapman Street.

H. WYER.

Vanished Fleet

Your paper carries the headline: "Job Campaign Urged for Shipyard Workers." Jobs to do what?

Some years ago there were 2,700 ships in the Canadian Merchant Marine. Today, with the sale of the Canadian National's fleet, the sole remaining residue of this one time great fleet is centered in the Great Lakes, which the several rapids on the St. Lawrence had rendered inviolate territory.

Now, with the opening of the new St. Lawrence Seaway vessels of foreign registry will swarm into the Great Lakes and wipe out the remnants of the Canadian mercantile service.

Great Britain is putting newly launched ships either into mothballs or selling them, whenever she can, because world shipping is at an all time low.

No ships, no cargoes, no cargoes no longshoremen, and so on and so forth.

Now, in the name of common sense who is going to build new ships in the face of these conditions.

"Situation worst since last war"; of course it is, and it will continue to get worse until Canadian workers waken up and realize that our shipping, and all industry, is dependent on foreign markets and the unions with their insane demands have priced us clean out of the world's trade.

The average worker, who has been lulled by his union leader's propaganda, entirely overlooks the fact that the buyers of our goods don't give one rap—about how many hours per week we work or what we are paid, they look only at the selling price of our products.

I am afraid it is too late to do anything about it now because the constant picking at the foundations of our price structure has so weakened the foundation that the whole edifice has now started to crumble in ruins about our ears.

George Home of the B.C. Federation of Labor, says that there is no clamor for compulsory arbitration.

Either George is deaf or he doesn't get around much.

The union leaders tell us that so many thousands of workers are facing a bleak winter with their unemployment insurance benefits exhausted.

The workers have had ten lush years of unprecedentedly high wages, the highest in history; and yet they are broke, and being broke, are still striking for still higher wages than those that have brought them into this dilemma.

We cannot exactly blame the rank and file worker; he has been the sucker for the propaganda of the U.S.-controlled union leaders and, until this sinks into his head and he does something about it, both he and his family will suffer.

COMMON SENSE.

Wages and Prices

It is interesting to note that in the statement of the 1957 annual report of St. Joseph's Hospital salaries and wages accounted for 71 cents of each dollar spent, food and everything else costing only 29 cents.

Who said that wages do not affect prices? That's what Labor Unions have been foolishly trying to maintain for years.

Now we know why the hospital has to get approximately $15 per day for a ward bed.

Buy It Round the Corner

I see by your paper that the city police are going to crack down on Victoria merchants selling unauthorized articles on Wednesday afternoon.

I see also by your paper that Saanich is literally following the open shop routine.

Have we here a situation ideally suited to provide retired policemen employment opportunities as shop-keepers of the north?

CUSTOMER'S ALWAYS WRONG.

Musical Capsule

A short time ago Mr. Tobin delighted us with a philosophical discussion of that nonsense song which a group somewhere placed in a time capsule to inform future generations of our culture.

Is it possible that a much earlier generation had the imagination to use for the same purpose another song with the impressive and prophetic words: "Tara-rara boom-dee-ay?"

"GRANDMA."

FROM TAINAN, FORMOSA By JOSEPH ALSOP

Artillery Bars the Door

THE best commentary on the President's great speech that this reporter can offer must begin with a pretty unimportant personal experience. At 2:30 a.m. Saturday, we set off for Quemoy, Keyes, Beech of The Chicago Daily News, Jim Bell of Time and a mixed bag of others motivated by the good old rule: "Better go and have a look." It was one of those wartime departures that make you feel your age—haste and horribly early rising at the outset; distribution of tin hats and other mild drama at the airport; and then an interminable, weary wait followed by a bumpy takeoff in pitch darkness, in a raddled old C-46 that looked like a plain, dumpy woman whom the years have dealt with unkindly.

All the same, we were cheerful at takeoff and throughout the long flight across the Formosa Strait. The word at Taipei, wrong as the word in all higher headquarters, was that the Communist gunners were letting the airstrip on the Quemoy beach pretty much alone.

So it was a sharp surprise when the lanky veteran Chinese captain came back from the cockpit, a few minutes before our landing time, to tell us we had been ordered to turn back.

All the same, we were cheerful at takeoff and throughout the long flight across the Formosa Strait. The word at Taipei, wrong as the word in all higher headquarters, was that the Communist gunners were letting the airstrip on the Quemoy beach pretty much alone.

So it was a sharp surprise when the lanky veteran Chinese captain came back from the cockpit, a few minutes before our landing time, to tell us we had been ordered to turn back.

Heavy Bombardment

All the Quemoy beaches, he said, had been under heavy fire for the last 24 hours. Our destined beach was a honey-comb of shell holes, and Quemoy ground control guessed that 7,000 rounds had landed there in the past hour.

We all felt the mixed disappointment and relief that is best summed up by the old story of the respectable, mid-nineteenth century Lady Jersey. Staying once in a remote district in North England, she found she had to drive 12 miles to the small country church. When the big carriage arrived, there was no service. So Lady Jersey ordered the footman to leave her calling card under the church door, and directed the carriage homeward with the remark:

"Well, children, at least we've done the civil thing."

Here at Tainan, the last-minute effort to beef up the Chinese Air Force has abruptly increased the American contingent from 100 to 500 men. Hence facilities are a bit strained. Yet the clear-eyed C-46 load was received with the customary hospitality of American soldiers in wartime.

Coffee, strong and hot and by the gallon, is a remarkable restorative, even when you are feeling empty and let down and all too conscious of no sleep, no shave and no accomplishment. After the coffee, came another interminable wait, in this case to hear whether we could try Quemoy again or must go back to Taipei. (The wait is still going on as these words are written, but the captain says the betting is 99 to 1 on Taipei, since the artillery barrage on the Quemoy beaches is apparently continuing.) But this wait has not been so weary, because the C-46 load is pretty well composed of veterans.

So here, in the idle talk of the men waiting on the dusty airstrip, we have had bloody Tarawa and bloody Iwo Jima—those place names so glory-gilded, that they all but dazzle to this day. We have had the Normandy beaches, and Bastogne, and the story of a brash American reporter who tried to make the exceptionally tough but dignified Chinese commander on Quemoy talk like Gen. MacArthur. (Chinese charged with high missions just do not say "nuts" under any circumstances.)

Battles Long Ago

We have had the first chancy months in Korea, and the brilliant landing at Inchon, and what came after. "By God, there was an army!" said one good judge, of the battle-hardened men who were not allowed to win in the end.

From an American pilot on training duty here, we have had the story of the superb success of the Chinese Nationalist pilot, fighting the Communist MIG-17s with their obsolescent P-86s with the tactics Chennault invented for P-40s against Zeros.

And we have had other tales, all of them stirring, all of them comforting, except for the unheroic and macabre story of American policy in China in wartime, contributed by this reporter.

On the surface, it has been a wasted day following an aborted mission. But has this day been really wasted?

Not altogether, is the answer. In the first place, the failure of the mission revealed the key problem out here—the blockade of Quemoy, which is not a simple naval blockade but a very rough artillery blockade.

Blockade Holds

The Chinese Nationalists, who are enormously out-gunned, cannot break this artillery blockade. If Secretary Dulles cannot secure a cease-fire by diplomacy, President Eisenhower will almost surely have to make a hard choice. He will either have to break this blockade with American power or accept failure in this final test of America's strength of will, which he has so nobly expressed.

And this day has not been wasted in another way, too. Often in the past, one has wanted to write the President, "Mr. President, how much you can do, if you will only use your powers and the power of your office!" But the talk on the airstrip has suggested another letter, "M. President, how much the country that you lead can do, if you will only summon up its powers!" (Copy't 1958, N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.)

Industrials, Oils Ahead Against Trend

Industrials and western oils pushed ahead today on the Toronto Stock Exchange but the remainder of the market was lagging in moderately active mid-afternoon trading.

Base metals showed little change from Tuesday's close and golds lost some ground. A few lightly-traded industrials gained in a range of more than three points. Senior base metals had a majority of issues fractionally lower. Coppers and uranians firmed.

Oils and selected issues did well in a mixed New York market. Trading was active. Among gains, gains ran to more than a point for Gulf and a point for Standard Oil (New Jersey).

AT TORONTO western oils had several key issues ahead. Among these were Bailey Selburn, up 40 cents to $9.15, Security, ahead 20 cents to $6.60, and Pacific Petroleum, up 10 cents to $1.90.

AT NEW YORK Aluminum Ltd., up 1/4, led gainers among Canadian stocks on the New York Exchange. Distillers Secagrams, Hudson Bay Mining and McIntyre Porcupine each gained 1/2 while International Nickel was up 1/2 and Walker Gooderham 1/4. Granby Mining lost 1/4 and Dome Mines 1/4.

Among Canadian stocks on the American Exchange, Shawinigan rose 1/2 while Preston East Dome, Fargo Oil, Jupiter Oils and Richwell each rose 1-1/2. Canadian Marconi and Brazilian Traction each gained 1/4 while Eureka and Scurry Rainbow Oil each lost 1-1/2.

AT MONTREAL prices followed a mixed pattern in active trading on the stock exchange today, with changes generally confined to fractions.

Crown Zellerbach led paper trading, up a point at 96. Consolidated was up 1/2 at 37 1/2. Price Brothers up 1/4 at 43. Bathurst "B" 1/2 at 26. Great Lakes was off 1/2 at 35 1/2 and Bathurst "A" down a point at 46.

Utilities were active. AT LONDON a generally cheerful atmosphere was apparent on the stock market today, virtually all sections recording gains.

Renewed strength of industrials was the main feature. Gold-edged securities were in demand.

Dollar stocks were higher. AT VANCOUVER the market was fairly active but trading saw little change in prices. Beaver Ledge Uranium sold 12,000 shares at 30, Premier Border sold 10,000 at 36. Imperial Oil traded 9,000 at 30. Provincial Investments sold 800 at $13.50, and TransCanada Pipe Line traded 235 shares at $35.50.

The Gowanda mining district of Northern Ontario was named from an Indian word meaning "porcupine home."

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices of trade but September soybeans attracted a good demand and held gains of 2 1/2 cents a bushel at times.

Commercial demand was limited during the quiet trading. Small export interest showed in barley, with business believed for the United Kingdom. Oats trade was domestic. Flax displayed hesitation as selling found support thin. A flurry of selling in rye was attributed to American sources.

Overnight export wheat loadings included: United Kingdom 460,000 bushels, West Germany 260,000, India 115,000, Nepal 35,000, Belgium 25,000 and Venezuela a small lot.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were down 1/4 cent from Tuesday.

'Take Tip From Industry' In Picking School Leaders

School authorities must take a tip from industry in recruiting personnel, a leading Canadian educator said here today. Industry selects its leaders early in the educational system, and teachers should be selected in the same manner, said Dr. K. F. Prueter, of Toronto.

Dr. Prueter is chief education officer of Etobicoke County, a suburb of Toronto, that has 24,000 children under 42 school principals.

"Industry is interested in executives, so education should act likewise," he said.

Some of the most "valuable" teachers have come from industry, he stated. They have a background of knowledge and understanding, and "a maturity—they bring something with them."

He said the "older" type teacher is welcome in the profession. Age of personnel has little bearing on ability to impart educational information.

"With the rapid expansion of our school system we can no longer wait for natural selection—we must recognize the 'natural' teacher early and provide training for him or her."

Dr. Prueter said he was "more interested" in teachers interested in the humanities as compared with the scientific outlook, but added "there must be a balance."

PROFESSIONAL He also said the school principal today is no longer the "wielder of the stick" but a community leader and a professional man in the strictest sense.

Age groups in schools up to 14, women teachers can give better leadership to students. Ridicule and sarcasm in the classroom is a thing of the past though paramount at one time.

Teaching can be a call for "later life" as the more one knows the easier it is to impart the information.

Dr. Prueter said education today is "teaching children, compared with teaching subject matter to children."

The snarly old-time teacher just jammed information into the pupil, "now we adjust learning."

20TH CENTURY 'MATH' URGED

Kids will like this! Present-day teaching of "math" is off-base—too complicated.

A. E. Evenson, associate director of curriculum of the Alberta education department, told the Canadian Education Association in panel discussion here that "basic reconstruction" of the mathematics program is called for.

It's outdated, he said, and is based on a formula used more than 300 years ago.

Ripple 'Checkup' All Set

Final echoes of last April's famed Ripple Rock explosion will be heard near Albert Head next Monday and Tuesday.

The giant underwater upheaval designed to remove the Seymour Narrows navigation method was seized upon by seismologists to add to their knowledge of the earth's crust, and of the velocity of earthquakes.

Starting at 8 a.m. Monday, a series of seismic explosions will be set off as a double-check on the data accumulated during the Ripple blast.

William Milne, seismologist at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Saanich, said the Albert Head tests are mainly to establish the velocity of earthquake shocks.

'SPEEDOMETER' An accurate "speedometer" for these shocks will aid in spotting the exact location of quakes, he said. Studies during and after the Ripple Rock blast indicates this velocity is 18,000 feet per second.

Father Shares Blame In Shooting of Son

'As Guilty' as Man Who Pulled Trigger

A bereaved father today shouldered half the blame for the death of his 14-year-old son, Timothy Wayne Heal, killed Saturday at East Sooke in the first hunting fatality of the year here.

The boy died instantly when shot in the head by his brother-in-law, William Fluskey, 858 Old Esquimalt Road, who mistook him for a deer.

"It's not only my son-in-law," W. Hugh Heal, 821 Vernon, said at an inquest into the death. "I'm as guilty as he is. I should have been right along with Timmy."

His voice wavered and he shook slightly as he accused himself, then went on.

"The boy was packing a gun pointed upward, and wearing a rain hat. I can see that he would look like a spike deer."

Asked by a jurymen if it had not been a mistake to go hunting wearing a dark hat, he said: "Yes, it was. It's my fault. I should have been with him."

He later said he had been wearing a red hat, and Const. D. A. Knight, RCMP, showed as evidence a bright red corduroy shirt the boy had been wearing.

ACCIDENTAL Verdict returned by the jury was of accidental death, although Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart had said earlier that he would accept such a verdict but "would not agree with it."

Alternative verdicts, he said, were of death through culpable neglect, or manslaughter.

Circumstances of the shooting were described by both Heal and Fluskey.

It had happened at about 2.45 p.m., when the lad set off through a patch of ferns four to six feet high. His father was watching his progress from a rock bluff, and Fluskey also was stalking through the ferns.

HEARD RUSTLE "I saw dad and Timmy on the rock," he said. "It was agreed I'd go through the patch, and we'd meet on the road. I remember looking to the right of the fern patch, and saw nothing. I heard a rustle and spun around to the left to see what looked like a spike and the top of a deer's head."

He had trouble speaking as he said "I saw it plain, so I aimed just below the horn, and fired."

He stopped talking, tears in his eyes, and identified his gun with only a nod.

"It is a lamentable thing that year after year these cases turn up," Dr. Hart said at the conclusion of the hearing. "I have been acquainted with these woods for years, and cannot remember a season when we did not have one. No matter how much publicity is given them, someone does something silly again the next year."

TOO YOUNG? "In this case it is questionable to me whether a boy of 14 should be in a hunting party with grown men, and no man should fire at something he does not see clearly."

This venture was the boy's first trip in the woods with a gun, his father said, although he had accompanied hunting parties on other occasions.

Scene of the fatality was near the CNR tracks and Gillespie Road, about one-quarter mile from Grouse Nest Lodge.

TRAFFIC FINES In city police court today: Gary B. Tucker, 1034 Oliver, $25; Harbison Singh, 3266 Whittier, $20; Donald G. Stewart, 125 Croft, $25; Peter Edward Doyle, 1010 Pandora, $25, all for speeding over 30.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK "I am an ex-politician," says Brooke Claxton, "I retired voluntarily—and in time."

An Art Gallery audience chuckled when he made the remark last night.

The national Liberal party doesn't find quite as much humor in it. He was regarded as their top organizer, a hard-driving, personable fellow whose flawless French was a great asset in Montreal, where he ran.

They miss him.

Now he has two jobs—president of Metropolitan Life, in which he makes money, and of Canada Council, in which he gives it away.

"Some fellows work five days a week and play golf the other two," he told me last night. "I guess I average about two days a week on the council."

Claxton styles himself "a reformed lawyer." But he is mighty proud of that insurance company. Year before last, their business jumped 92 per cent. In Quebec province, 27 per cent of the residents are Metropolitan clients.

"We've got a boy in Victoria who sold a million the first year," Claxton remarked. "Bill Abbott. Used to be a school teacher. He went down to the Beverly Hilton one year and gave a speech: 'How I Sold a Million the First Year.' I thought it was one of the best presentations on the program."

There is only one thing wrong with Claxton—he should have been born in the west, which he once described as "the land of wampum and whoopee."

He has the western trait of working hard, and getting a kick out of his job. Newspapermen have always had a hard time keeping up to him, particularly when he was Canada's defence minister. He could work for 18 hours, then pick up a baton and lead a military band. (In this respect he is not unlike that other Montrealer, Donald Gordon, who likes to relax by playing the accordion and dancing the Highland Fling.)

Claxton likes to look ahead. Now, in fact, he's looking exactly nine years ahead. He wants Canada to have a spectacular birthday party in 1967, when we celebrate our national centenary.

To primp for the birthday, Claxton feels each community should have these objectives:

1. Get our roads in top shape.

2. Clean out slums, create new parks.

3. Have all the schools and teachers we need.

4. Build auditoriums, galleries, concert halls.

5. Make 1967 "A Year of Jubilee, a giant series of major festivals."

Let's do it!

Saanich Wife Under Guard After Shooting

A housewife found standing in the kitchen of her Saanich home bleeding from a gunshot wound in the abdomen is under police guard at Jubilee Hospital today.

Saanich police are investigating the wounding of Mrs. Emmanuel Parratt, about 35, of 1843 Feltham, at about 5 p.m. Monday.

The woman's condition was reported to be "satisfactory" today, although Tuesday she was only "fairly good."

Police said Mr. Parratt found his wife standing in the kitchen when he came home Monday evening, and two shotguns were nearby.

One, a double-barrelled 12-gauge, was fitted with .32 calibre adapters for blanks used in dog training.

Police said Mrs. Parratt's wound was caused by a .32 calibre bullet.

Mrs. Parratt is the mother of 16-year-old son Edward Neil Parratt, who disappeared from home Aug. 10 and was not located until 16 days later in Bellingham. The boy is at home now.

Murder Suspect Flies to Oakalla To Await Hearing

Towboat man Leo Anthony Mantha, 31, was flown to Vancouver today to be taken to Oakalla jail while awaiting preliminary hearing Oct. 7 in the fatal knifing of a 23-year-old naval seaman Sept. 6.

Mantha is charged with the murder of Aaron "I. Jenkins, who died in RCN hospital of stab wounds received as he lay in his HMCS Naden barracks room.

The accused had been in the city jail since his arrest about eight hours after the knifing, and during the week has been given medical tests at hospital.

$5,000 Bail Set for Second Man Charged in Cheque Forgery Case

Second man to be charged in connection with a forged cheque-cashing spree at 18 Greater Victoria banks July 24 appeared at a special sitting of Saanich police court today.

Robert J. Wilson, about 30, of 1035 West 10th Ave., Vancouver, was remanded for election to the regular Saanich court sitting at 2 p.m. Thursday.

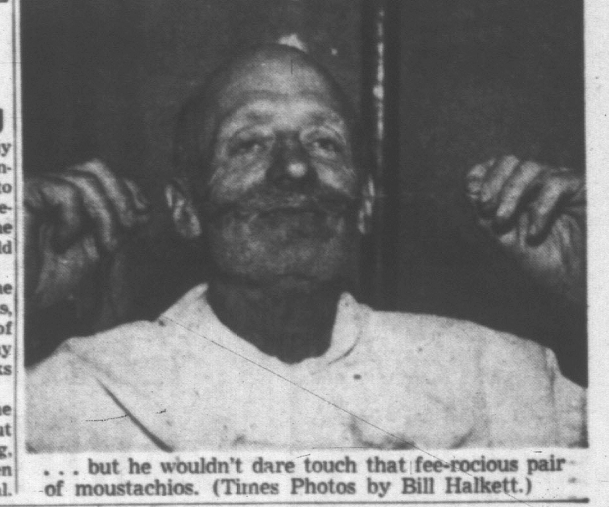

As in the case of William Black, 32, of Vancouver, who is committed for trial by judge and jury at the Fall Assizes, he is charged with attempting to deal with a forged document at the Saanich branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Police said Wilson was brought to Victoria Tuesday night after his arrest by Saanich and Vancouver detectives in Vancouver Monday.

AS B.C. ENDS ITS 100TH YEAR, Centennial decorations are coming down all over the place. Business establishments are clearing the way for upcoming Christmas baubles; and William Smith, who raised a king-size Centennial beard, is not one to be left behind. So barber Bud Neel snipped. . . .

... and snipped and snipped ...

... but he wouldn't dare touch that fee-rocious pair of moustachios. (Times Photos by Bill Halkett.)

The specific charge against Wilson is for a Government of Canada income tax refund cheque for $263.15 which a man tried to cash at the Saanich bank at 2.15 p.m., July 24.

At about the same time a flood of cheques totalling $4,763 was reported cashed at banks all over the city and surrounding municipalities during the 3½ hours previous.

Black was arrested a short time after an automobile chase from the bank on Quadra as he drove up the Malahat near Shawanigan Lake cutoff.

$7,500 BAIL Bail for Black has been set by Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan, of the Supreme Court, at $7,500, two property sureties, and his lawyer James Proudfoot said Black would be released from Oakalla jail today.

Mr. Proudfoot, also representing Wilson, requested bail for him from Magistrate H. C. Hall today, and it was set at $5,000, two property sureties.

Prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie told the court at Black's preliminary hearing there was evidence indicating a $500,000 forged cheque ring had been stopped before it got further than Victoria.

Q. Please be kind enough to tell me, how large is the Yukon? S.A.A. A. The Yukon is 207,076 square miles.

Anyone stating a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, Question and Answer will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

People who are aided to exist through the surplus food stall in the Market Building, are hungry.

Voluntary donations have been small, says Mrs. E. E. Harper, convenor.

Public response in donations a month ago was wonderful "but it has been slim since," she says.

Immediate aid is needed to stock the stall for Saturday. Garden surplus would be welcomed.

Calls are being received every day for help.

Persons wishing to donate may contact Mrs. Harper at 3-9874.

The most extensive and comprehensive report ever prepared on the development of the Greater Victoria area has been completed by the Capital Region Planning Board.

The report known as the "Master Plan for the Capital Region" is now being published and will be released within a few weeks.

It took three years to complete and takes in every phase of planning a development in the capital region.

Three technical experts, Brahm Wiesman, John Wright and Tony Parr, all planning engineers, assisted by hundreds of citizens, compiled the report.

Winners of the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club session held Tuesday when over 50 players took part were: Lil Tattersall, Les Stewart; Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Duprau; Hildegarde Rundquist, Walter Dancock; Jim Duprau, Eric Ware; Molly Collins, Bill McConnell; Stan Trickey, Bert Jorgensen; Muriel Ford, Marjorie Beale, and Dorothy McConnell, Fred Hallett.

Motorcyclist Reginald Schleske, 19, of 333 Kerr, was taken to Jubilee Hospital with a broken leg after his bike was in collision with a car at Queens and Douglas at 1.15 p.m. Tuesday.

Police said a panel delivery van driven by Terrance D. Murdoch, 1817 Haultain, stopped suddenly in front of Schleske.

A witness said the van stopped because another car ahead of it had stopped to allow a third vehicle to make a left turn at Queens.

A 3½ by five-inch card dangling from his rear-view mirror brought a charge of driving with an obstructed windshield for Sterling Allan Gustafson, 1011 Haultain, in city police court today.

He pleaded guilty and was fined $10, then $25 for driving without a licence, to which he also pleaded guilty.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Petty Irritations Can Affect Our Health and Appearance

We seldom stop to think how much fatigue is produced and what a large amount of energy is consumed by the small irritations of everyday life. These add up to an important total and have a devastating effect on our health and appearance.

These irritations may be so petty that we fail to realize how drastically they affect us. Maybe you are irritated by a squeaky door in your house, by the blaring of a neighbor's radio or television, by the constant yapping of a neighbor's dog, by constant interruptions when you are trying to complete a task, or life may become hectic because you never can find anything you need.

Perhaps a member or members of your family may have the diabolical habit of never putting anything back where it belongs after using it. There's usually one in every family. Your life may be a constant search for nail files, scissors, tape measure, comb, the telephone directory or car keys.

It really would give us a pick-up in energy if we could solve some of these petty annoyances. For instance, we could lock our cosmetics and grooming aids in a drawer, we could chain telephone directories in place, and we could take time to oil the squeaky door.

However, even when we do take such measures, we do not always win. For instance, it is almost impossible for me to keep pens and pencils in my office. Therefore, my husband bought me a desk set which was secured to the desk, the pen being chained to the base. What happened? Someone broke the chain and the pen has long since gone.

Often certain mannerisms or characteristics of those we must be in constant contact with are irritating. If this is your situation, it seems to me that there are only two courses open. One is to talk it over with the individual; the other is to change your own attitude toward it—just take it for granted and ignore it.

A happy outlook, an easy-going attitude, and the habit of looking for elements of humor in fretting situations will go a long way toward keeping our faces unlined and our energy at a high level.

If these small irritations take a terrific amount of energy, it is hard to imagine what real worries do to us.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Worry" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 64. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Choir Sings At Nuptials

Choir of St. Nicholas Ukrainian Church preceded Miss Shirley Elaine Conarroe up the aisle for her recent marriage to John Harry Yarmie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Yarmie of Empress Avenue. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Conarroe of Fairview Road.

Rev. S. Chehovskiy officiated at the evening ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white lace over net. The tiny jacket of lace had lily point sleeves. A bead and rhinestone tiara held her lace and net veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses and gardenias.

As matron of honor, Mrs. W. Varcoe wore a yellow lace and net gown. Her headdress was beaded and she carried yellow roses. Mrs. G. Kirker and Miss Elsie Conarroe were in similar dresses in blue and yellow respectively. They carried bouquets of roses. Sandra Fyke, flower girl, wore a pink nylon frock and carried a basket of pink carnations.

William Varcoe was best man and ushers were Steve Yarmie and Gerald Kirker.

Robert Watson proposed the bride to be at a reception in the Golden Slipper supper club. A three-tier cake surrounded with fall blooms centred the bridal table.

For a honeymoon to Portland, the bride donned a pale blue dress with matching coat. Her picture hat was in the same shade and her corsage was of pink rosebuds and white gardenias.

The newlyweds are now living in Victoria.

Yacht Club Dessert Party Features Millinery Show

The important thing about hats, according to local designer Rosalie, is that they should be made to go with the costume.

In a showing of custom-made millinery Tuesday evening at a dessert party at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, members of the yacht club auxiliary modeled hats made especially to be worn with their dresses.

Another feature of the show was a collection of suits and dresses made by Island Weavers, with hats to match by Rosalie.

Times fashion editor Nona Damaske was commentator for the show, and models were Leta Rowbotham, Helen Adams, Margaret Horne, Anne Harris, Barbara Burne and Dorothy Kirkpatrick.

Finale of the show was a bridal party with clothes from Hudson's Bay Co. modeled by Karen Robinson and Irene Burnett, with Douglas Wells as the groom.

Proceeds, amounting to approximately $150, will go towards redecorating the yacht club lounge.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Chill candles in the refrigerator for 24 hours before using. They will burn evenly and will not drip.

To crack a coconut easily, put it in a slow oven (325 degrees) for about 30 minutes or until it is warm. It will open with a slight blow.

Brighten dull aluminum utensils by filling the pans with water, adding sliced lemon and bringing the water to a boil. Add a bit of cream of tartar to remove a dark film.

Roses last longer if cut in the late afternoon, just as the petals start to unfold.

Asked what the stores would do about such items as combs, talcum powder, electric razors, Mr. Weicker said "They will proceed with caution."

A meeting of all druggists will be held either tonight or Thursday to discuss the matter.

OPINION DIVIDED

Elsewhere in the retail field, there was turmoil and divided opinion.

No solid wall of opposition has yet come from all affected groups. But individual operators hastily decried the police plan.

One service station operator likened Blackstock to England's "arrogant Cromwell," and said he planned to remain open Sunday "as we have done for years."

Saanich businessmen, meanwhile rubbed their hands gleefully in expectation of increased business. Under a new by-law Saanich businesses can set their own hours.

A Saanich food market announced it will remain open to 9 p.m. every night as soon as it receives official notification of the Saanich bylaw.

City druggist, Michael Grant, Grant's Pharmacy, 1064 Pandora, said he plans to stay open in defiance of the crackdown.

"It's ridiculous," he said. "We don't hold ourselves above the law. But we have been open for years to serve the public and will continue to do so."

Mr. Grant said he would contest any prosecution laid against him.

Spokesmen for the tourist bureau, automobile club and small confectioners also lashed out at the early and Sunday closing enforcement.

George Warren, speaking for the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and Victoria Automobile Club, said: "We are absolutely in favor of having stores open every day of the week except Sunday. Last year tourists spent at least $5,000,000—that's a low estimate—here and they don't like it when stores are closed."

Service stations are not affected by 1 p.m. Wednesday closing but face prosecution under the Lord's Day Act for opening Sundays.

'RIDICULOUS'

Mr. Warren and service station operator Vic Williams said it is "absolutely ridiculous" to deny the motoring public an opportunity to buy gas on Sundays.

"They may just as well legislate against the use of water, electricity and telephones on Sunday," said Mr. Williams.

Confectioner Ken Newbery, 1600 Bay, termed Wednesday 1 p.m. closing a "nuisance law—it's purpose is hard to figure out."

He predicted the public would be confused as the bylaw allows confectioners to sell some goods and not others.

"Many of my customers can't shop until after 6 p.m.," he said. Some confectioners close voluntarily on Sunday but "they're not in favor of being told to do it."

Sunday and after 6 p.m. business is "substantial" added Mr. Newbery.

He claimed a "pressure group" may be behind the crackdown.

"Independents have been getting a greater share of business in the last two years and the big stores don't like it."

Chief Constable Blackstock refused to say if extra men would be put on the enforcement detail.

Asked the minimum penalty for persons convicted of staying open, he said: "That's up to the magistrate."

One service station operator whose business is closed Sunday said the city prosecutor's department "must secure a fiat from the attorney general's department before Sunday closing violations can be brought to court."

ATOM SUB ON RECORD VOYAGE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The atom-powered submarine Seawolf apparently has eclipsed all undersea endurance records.

The Seawolf, second nuclear sub built by the U.S., left New London, Conn., Aug. 5 for extended undersea operations and the navy has made no announcement since on its progress.

That was 43 days ago. A high navy source said today it was a "good guess" the sub has been submerged the entire time.

There were indications the navy is shooting for a 60-day underwater record.

The previous record has been held by the Skate, which completed a run of 31 days five hours completely submerged last May.

major rail strike, asked for a 19-per-cent increase in freight rates plus a 25-cent a ton boost on coal and coke.

The boosts, if granted, would provide the two railways, the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific, with an additional $60,000,000 revenue. This would in turn meet a conciliation board report recommendation of a 14-cent an hour wage increase for the two railways' 130,000 non-operating employees.

The 15 unions involved have prepared a strike ballot pending settlement of the conciliation board recommendation.

Sources said that the board would push aside other business to open hearings of the application Oct. 6.

Both railway presidents, Donald Gordon of the CNR and N. R. Crump of the CPR, asked that the board give quick hearing to the application.

If both sides in the dispute stick to their guns, the board will be faced with the decision of whether to grant the increase or see a national rail strike similar to one in 1950.

The board granted the railways a 3.6 per cent increase in January, only to have their decision overruled by the federal cabinet in an unprecedented move.

China UN Seat Believed Doomed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United Nations turned its attention today to the Far East situation after a resounding Western victory in the opening minutes of the 13th General Assembly.

A move by India to have Communist China seated in the UN was a prime topic on the agenda of the assembly's steering committee scheduled to meet this afternoon.

In advance of the meeting it was generally conceded that the eighth attempt for UN recognition in the nine years since Communist forces took control of the China mainland would be no more successful than its predecessors.

This attitude was bolstered by the assembly's election Tuesday of Lebanon's Foreign Minister Charles Malik as assembly president for the coming weeks of debate.

Both the Arab and Soviet blocs were voted down sharply in their move to have Foreign Minister Mohammed Maghoub of the Sudan elected in Malik's place—a move interpreted as an attempt at condemnation in the UN for the American Middle East position.

PC Leader Doesn't Like Debate Rules

VANCOUVER (CP)—Deane Finlayson, British Columbia Conservative leader, has turned down an offer to debate the Social Credit government's financial policies with Premier Bennett because the premier's rules aren't acceptable.

Mr. Finlayson took up what he calls the premier's challenge to debate the issue Saturday. But Mr. Bennett said Tuesday the debate must be in the presence of only a team of financial experts and must be limited to a comparison of Ontario's Conservative government financing and that of the B.C. Social Credit government.

Mr. Finlayson said Tuesday night that putting up a panel of experts would be like a man on trial appointing his own jury.

Besides, public money is being spent and the public has a right to hear the debate, he said.

Fliers Escape Crash

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—An Air Force C-124 Globemaster carrying eight men crashed while landing at Tinker Air Force base today. The $1,700,000 plane exploded on impact, a base spokesman said, but none of the eight was killed.

Castro's Forces March

HAVANA (AP)—Rebel leader Fidel Castro's radio announced today his forces have started a westward march from eastern Oriente province to "liberate Cuba from the dictatorship" of President Fulgencio Batista.

New Comet Airliner At Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Britain's new Comet IV airliner arrived in Ottawa from England at 1.58 a.m. today after completing its third trans-Atlantic flight.

The plane crossed the ocean twice early in August as it made a return trip from England to New York's Idlewild Airport on a proving flight.

The aircraft, Britain's hope in the race to beat the United States for trans-Atlantic jet airliner passenger traffic, left Hatfield, near London, at 3.21 p.m. Tuesday with a load of salesmen.

The aircraft stopped several hours en route at Gander, Nfld.

TRAIN DRAGS CAR 300 FEET

ALBANY—Driver of a car which was pushed the length of a city block along the E & N Railway tracks by a freight train at 8.15 a.m. today is reported to be in deep state of shock but otherwise unharmed.

Frank Ball, Jr., of 904 Ian Avenue, was driving to work when his small car was hit by the train at Lathom railway crossing.

The auto was caught on the locomotive's cow-catcher, and carried down the track at least 300 feet before the train pulled to a screeching halt.

Illegal Votes Elected Hoffa Witness Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate rackets committee investigator testified today more than half of the votes that elected James R. Hoffa as president of the teamsters' international union were cast illegally.

Pierre Salinger said he could prove—by the union's own constitution—illegality of 56.2 per cent of the votes for Hoffa at an international convention in Miami last October.

Salinger's testimony was given only a few hours after the teamsters' executive board called for a convention next February in an admitted move to rid itself of court-named supervisors.

TWO RESCUED FROM WRECKED FISHBOAT

SEATTLE (AP)—The Coast Guard and commercial fishermen co-operated in rescuing two occupants of the 55-foot fishing boat Hydah of Friday Harbor, which grounded Tuesday night on Cattle Point, San Juan Island.

While flares were dropped from a Coast Guard plane, crewmen of the fishing boat Denny M. took off the Hydah's owner, C. C. Vandersluis of Friday Harbor, and another crewman.

The Hydah was refloated later and escorted to Friday Harbor for repairs.

Terrorists Fail to Blow Big Gas Works

PARIS (Reuters)—Terrorists early today failed in an attempt to blow up one of the largest gas works in Paris.

They cut through a wire fence around the guarded depot at Courneuve, placed their charges under a gas tank and escaped.

The charge exploded but firemen quickly brought the blaze under control.

Terrorists also set fire to papers in the town hall at Cluzes, southeastern France. Records and furniture were destroyed before firemen mastered the blaze.

In St-Aubin-sur-Mer, northern France, four terrorists escaped after setting fire to a barn where wheat was stored.

KAMLOOPS—One man was killed and one injured Tuesday in a head-on collision of two big trucks about seven miles south of Kamloops.

Names of the victim and injured man have not been released.

One truck was a large cattle transport truck from Princeton, and the second vehicle was a five-ton flat deck.
